

COUNTY BOARD PROTESTS PLAN OF VEPCO FOR POWER ROUTE

Backing up the County Planning Commission recommendation, the Princess Anne Board of Supervisors voted their objection to the Virginia Electric and Power Company's proposed 100,000 volt power line routing that is designed to accommodate the growing electric load in the area.

The company's proposed route was submitted to the planning group after a Circuit Court order back in August made it necessary that the company submit the proposed route. The order was obtained by the Board of Supervisors. J. L. Kelly, VEPCO attorney, said the legal question of this procedure was unusual since the law provides the power of "eminent domain" to public utilities and his understanding was this included the right to choose a power line route.

The commission and the power company had agreed on the route in Princess Anne County except for a small section on the Waterworks Road at Burton Road.

Kelly told the supervisors that the right-of-way cost for the company's proposal was $3,000, compared to $20,700 for the route recommended by the planning commission.

The VEPCO has been attempting to locate the line from its new plant at Olmington to a sub-station at Little Creek. Several smaller along the route. The company proposes to run the line parallel with the Military Highway through a tract of land owned by E. V. Williams and cross the highway near Diamond Springs to connect with a right-of-way it already has acquired.

A crossing of the highway where the line first passes it is proposed by the commission. Officials of the company agreed to this after the last conference, the commission claims.

J. E. Berry, VEPCO district manager, and George Tatem, chief engineer, both testified at the meeting to the importance of the prompt installation of the lines. They said it was necessary in order to meet a peak demand that will come in December.

It appeared that yesterday's arguments will obstruct the company's plan of constructing the power line before December.

There was some speculation that the power company may appeal the Circuit Court injunction to the State Supreme Court of Appeals for a legal ruling on the point of law whether or not the county commission can rule on the right-of-way of power companies' utility lines.

Attorney Edwin C. Kellam also appeared before the supervisors representing E. V. Williams whose property is on the VEP Company's proposed route.

C&P Seeks Right Over Long Creek

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia, Norfolk, Va., has requested an aerial telephone cable crossing over Long Creek, and over the canal which connects Broad Bay with Long Creek, Princess Anne County. The points of crossing would be just upstream from the highway bridges crossing these waterways on Secondary Route 615.

The prisoner who escaped the Princess Anne County jail last week end with "a reluctant bridegroom" was back in the hoosegow Tuesday night facing a jail-break charge.

The escaped prisoner is Thomas U. Roark, who accompanied Thomas E. Deagle, sheriff's prisoner, out of the county jail last Sunday just before the former was to be married.

County Sheriff C. Roger Malbon along with State Troopers Harold C. Guy and John Gubesch nabbed their man at a Norfolk address Tuesday after having received an early evening tip.

Roark was located in an automobile with Henry J. Bunn, of Norfolk County, at the time of his arrest. Bunn was charged with aiding and abetting the escape of both Roark and Deagle by smuggling a hacksaw blade into the jail.

Deagle was back in jail Sunday night several hours after his escape attempt. Although he was gone only a few hours he was too late to go through with his scheduled marriage to Lottie Lillian Kinley.

Roark told Sheriff Malbon that he was "just getting ready to turn himself in when he was arrested."

SEAHAWKS IN CAROLINA

The Virginia Beach Seahawks, victorious in their last outing against Eastern Shore's Central High School, journey to Spring Hope, North Carolina Friday night for a meeting with the strong Spring Hope eleven.

The Spring Hope game was scheduled to fill an open date in the local team's schedule. Spring Hope is located 20 miles west of Rocky Mount, N. C., between that city and Raleigh.

It is hoped that a large following will go to Spring Hope from Virginia Beach since it is the first time the local eleven has invaded the State of North Carolina. A good delegation from here will aid the local school in future scheduling of games. Sharing rides to Spring Hope would eliminate the use of too many automobiles and much time could be arranged through the local high school office. The telephone number is 366.

Virginia Legion Backs Assembly Memorial Plan

Department of Virginia American Legion Commander Dr. Thomas S. Ely has emphasized the Legion's position backing the plan set forth by the 1950 General Assembly for a State World War II Memorial to be erected in Richmond.

Ely's statement, in the nature of a reply to Republican gubernatorial Candidate Ted Dalton who has criticized the plan, indicated that the American Legion "regrets and deplores the injection of the War Memorial into any political campaign."

In rebuttal to Dalton's suggestion that a hospital would be a more suitable memorial than the one presently authorized, Commander Ely stated, "The million dollars authorized for the War Memorial would not build a hospital worthy of being a State War Memorial."

PRINCESS ANNE HEALTH CENTER GETS APPROVAL - COST $72,800

The Princess Anne County Board of Supervisors Monday approved a $72,800 Health Center at a cost of $32,760 to the county, the remainder being supplied by State and Federal funds.

At the same meeting, the Board endorsed the proposal to expand the Norfolk Division, College of William and Mary.

The proposed health center would be located at the Princess Anne Courthouse and would be designed to house seven offices for health department officials, a clinic with two consultation rooms, a dental clinic, and a waiting room.

The building was designed by architect Bernard Spiegel so that additions may be added to the structure in the future.

Dr. William Y. Garrett, county health officer, appeared before the supervisors and requested the (Continued on page 3)

At Wednesday's session of the jury several witnesses were heard including the two men who escaped, Thomas U. Roark and Thomas E. Deagle. In addition to the prisoners the jury heard several deputies of the jail.

The court has instructed the jury to hear as much evidence as is necessary and to determine the cause of jailbreaks in the county jail.

The special call of the grand jury was made by Circuit Court Judge Floyd E. Kellam, of the Princess Anne Circuit Court.

The driver was pinned under the steering wheel. The rescue squad first sent a two-man team to the accident scene. One squad member took care of the man thrown clear of the wreckage. The other unit in the display: (Continued on page 2)

When the truck arrived, crewmen cut the car's steering shaft in order to remove the wheel from the victim's stomach. He was given first aid and rushed to the hospital. The other "victim" was treated for a broken leg and shock.

The "accident" was supposed to have happened at night. The squad lighted the scene with floodlights powered by portable generators.

trover as to who should occupy the comparatively small number of beds it would provide. Furthermore, it would commit the State to recurring maintenance appropriations running up into hundreds of thousands of dollars each biennium.

Ely went on to emphasize that the shrine-type of inspirational memorial was definitely decided upon by the General Assembly nearly four years ago and that substantial changes in the plan at so late a date by the next General Assembly might set a precedent which would result in Virginia's having no memorial at all.

"The War Memorial Commission-composed of Senators, Delegates, and members—has already expanded or obligated a total of nearly $80,000 doing what the law directed it to do. All of this would be wasted and lost if some other type of Memorial should now be substituted," Commander Ely concluded.

YOUR GARDEN GUIDE

The bench on the cool side of the terrace or beneath the wide spreading tree still looks inviting. In the air there is that certain something that Hawthorne called "the Septemberish feeling." Streams move sluggishly and so do we. Perhaps this is the time when a gardener may relax and rest. Not, however, if he is going to get the borders ready for bulb planting.

To insure beauty in the spring from your bulb planting in the fall, be sure and have the soil in your borders loose and crumbly. Avoid soils that crust and cake over after a rain. Soil must be properly conditioned or the bulbs will waste their strength in trying to force their way to the surface. Then there isn't enough energy left to put forth full flowers with long stems. Buy quality bulbs preferably in the top size. Confine each planting to a single size of bulb. Try to set all bulbs at exactly the same depth and apply plant food uniformly.

It is wise to use sawdust that has weathered at least a year for this is the best organic matter. It makes a wonderful mulch for borders. However, it does not contain much plant food, but it is very good for keeping the soil loose and in summer keeps down grass in bulb borders.

Most every garden is rich in the autumn in evergreen and tinted leaves. It is such a perfect time to use them for arrangements. Magnolia leaves combined with their cone-like fruit; they are reddish when ripe; arrange nicely in a copper or iron stone pitcher.

Summer's Ending
Autumn's voice chimes close and clear
Against a nature lover's ear:
Indian-pipes blow faint and low—
Leaves rustle in the golden glow
Of early sunsets . . . shortening days—
Through an amber, purple haze
Of asters, goldenrod, and thistles—
As a winning redbird whistles;
Sumac bushes, deep-dyed red,
Bespeak the frosty days ahead;
Nature's voices join in blending Warning notes of summer's ending.

Opportunities For Young Men In Scouting

Young men, 14 to 17 years of age, now have an opportunity to join either Sea Scouting, Air Scouting or Explorer Scouting at Virginia Beach. The Virginia Beach Junior Chamber of Commerce has reorganized their Sea Explorer Ship No. 63 and the American Legion at Virginia Beach will continue to sponsor Air Squadron No. 61. Now the Moose Lodge at Virginia Beach has agreed to sponsor an Explorer Post.

All three programs will include outdoor, social, service and vocational programs. Every young man in Virginia Beach, Oceana and London Bridge 14 years of age or over is welcome to join whether he has been a scout before or not.

All three Explorer units will meet on Thursday night, Oct. 1st, at Virginia Beach Community Center to accept new members. If you want to join the Sea Scouts, Air Scouts or Land Explorers, come out on Thursday night at 8:00 p.m. to the Community Center in Virginia Beach.

Singing Star Bing Crosby is appearing in a movie of a dramatic tale of faith and romance in the City of Paris. The vehicle is titled "Little Boy Lost" and will be shown for four days at the Beach Theatre starting next Wednesday.

Red Cross Asks Observance Fire Prevention Week

With the realization that on the average of once every two months, Princess Anne Chapter, American Red Cross, goes to the assistance of a family whose house is wholly or partially destroyed by fire, A.R.C. officials are hereby urging all county residents to cooperate with other organizations in Fire Prevention Week slated this year October 5-11.

Mrs. Stuart Mallory, executive secretary, points out that the Red Cross provides for the immediate needs of the burned-out family which must be supplied with food and lodging.

In the 31 year period ending June 30, 1951, fires throughout the nation, including forest fires, accounted for 1,887 out of the Cross disaster relief operations, grand total of 4,786 National Red nearly 40 percent.

Fires are preventable disasters and many are man caused. Since disaster prevention is one important phase of the Red Cross disaster services responsibility, Harold S. Kellam, chapter chairman, urges all residents to participate in all fire department programs. Other ways to assist in combating the threats of fire are:

1. Learn fire safety in first aid and accident prevention courses being conducted by the Red Cross, Tel. 938.
2. Participate in the Junior Chamber of Commerce clean-up campaign.
3. Check fire hazards in the home.
4. Cooperate with the Chapter disaster committee and maintain a close working relationship with the municipal committee fire safety.

DAR Chapter to Hold Card Party At Legion Club

The Princess Anne County Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, completed plans for a benefit card party at a meeting held last Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Mills Bell. Funds raised from the card party, to be held Oct. 8 at the American Legion at 8 p.m., will be used to furnish the Boys Dormitory of the Blue Ridge School.

Mrs. Irene Withers is chairman of the card party. Her co-chairman are Mrs. D. T. Mallon and Mrs. Anne Stewart.

Mrs. R. B. Tynes, Regent, presided at the meeting and gave a report on the District Meeting held at the Pine Tree Inn on Sept. 24th.

Miss Ruth Ford gave a talk on "What It Means to be a Daughter of the American Revolution." She said, "It means in its deepest sense a self-dedication to home, to country, and to God. The Daughters of the American Revolution are heirs of those patriots who gave us our ideals of home, who founded our country, who had supreme faith in God, and took that faith with them in their daily lives. It is the service to which the Daughters of the American Revolution are dedicated."

Requested the Highway Department to make a drainage survey of the area between New Dam Road and Old Dam Neck Road because of the flooding of this area after recent heavy storms.

Local Club is Represented at Trade Conference

Mrs. Rose Mergler, Education and Vocations Chairman, and Miss Lillian Ashby, Health and Safety Chairman, are representing the Princess Anne Business and Professional Women's Club at the World Trade Conference being held today and tomorrow at the John Marshall Hotel in Richmond. They are attending the Coffee Breakfast, which opens the two-day session and the session this afternoon, at which time they will hear an all woman panel of prominent business women discuss "Fortress for '54—Turning Points Ahead."

According to Mrs. Stricker, club president, and Miss Louise Luxford, International Relations Chairman, who were unable to attend, due to pressing school matters, the National Federation of Business and Professional Women has made world trade an important issue in its International Relations Program, based on the facts that American business has become world business; our prosperity for freedom depends on good business at home and abroad; and the better it is in the world, the better it is in your town.

When Robert H. Manges, Virginia Beach electrical contracting and repairing man, donates his next pint of blood to the Civilian Club sponsored Bloodmobile visit Oct. 16, he will be credited with one-half gallon or four pints of blood. Composed to the records of many other local blood donors, this number of donations is not outstanding until the entire story is known. It all began in 1939 in Bloomington, N. C., where Bob Manges in response to an emergency call gave his first pint of blood. From that time on he frequently donated blood and during his six years with the Coast Guard Service as a Chief Commissary steward he never missed an opportunity of "tolling up his sleeve." He figures he has given more than 30 pints. However, the National Blood Program was not functioning as it is today and no records were maintained. Thus when Manges gave blood with the Virginia Beach Fire Department regulars and volunteers to give that blood conscious organization a 100 percent record, he started with a new donor card.

Manges, who resides at 1805 Pacific Avenue with Mrs. Manges, began his electrical business here about five years ago. His brother, Clyde H. Manges, who makes his home at 505 High Point Avenue, also is employed in the business. Clyde, likewise, is a volunteer fireman and an active donor at the blood bank.

The Manges brothers are among those citizens who recognize the need of blood as a critical national resource vital to the country's well being security. They encourage all physically able persons to heed the urgent plea for blood and to sign up for blood donations at the Community House, October 18.

If a fire breaks out in Santiago, Chile, the owner or manager of the building is usually arrested and must prove, if he can, that the fire was of accidental origin.

Louisa County Fox Hunt Set for Late in Month

Nearly everyone at some convivial time has burst into a chorus of "John Peel" with his fox and his hounds in the morning. The annual field trials of the Virginia Fox Hunters Association, to be held in Louisa County, near Charlottesville, will bring to life that lively ballad sung for generations.

Preparations for this annual, traditional chase, to be held the last week in October, have been in progress for some time, according to the Virginia Conservation Commission.

The east will be in the old Bibb's Store neighborhood, as pretty a place to run foxes as can be imagined. There is an abundance of foxes and no dogs will run in the area until the late October event. The foxes are mostly red foxes, but there will be an occasional grey for variety.

In the meantime the ardent Louisa County foxhunters are out from two to three nights a week warming up their prize hounds in hope of coping some of the coveted honors that go with the chase.

With the countryside of historic Louisa County as rolling and varied as almost any in the Piedmont of Virginia, the hounds will be something to watch and something to keep up to for the judges, who will be traditionally mounted on horseback, following every last hound as it drives old Reynard to the ground or holes him up.

Regardless of the outcome, everyone of the contestants and spectators is sure to have a wonderful time at the annual meeting and field trials of the Virginia Fox Hunters Association.

Supplemented by gorgeous fall color and crisp air, this is a first-rate opportunity for visitors to observe a sport traditionally dear to the hearts of Virginia sportsmen.

NOTE: CAR CAN'T STOP ON DIME!

Even a cautious motorist can't stop his car on the proverbial dime. Our Governor's Highway Safety Committee asks pedestrians to remember this and to remember it particularly now that the afternoons are getting shorter. The darker it is, the more difficulty the driver has in seeing a pedestrian and the less time he has to stop.

College Training Program Set by Naval Reserve

The Navy has announced that the eighth nation-wide competitive examination for its college training program, the Naval Reserve Officers' Training Corps, has been scheduled for December 12, 1953. The Navy emphasized that this date is final and examinations would not be given at any other time regardless of circumstances.

Successful candidates will participate in four years of college training with government assistance and will be commissioned as officers of the Navy or Marine Corps upon graduation.

Applications for examinations are available to high school seniors or graduates within the age requirements. The applications may be obtained at high schools, colleges, and Navy Recruiting Stations throughout the country. Completed applications must reach the Educational Testing Service in Princeton, N. J. by November 21, 1953.

The program is open to male citizens of the United States between the ages 17 and 21, and quotas have been assigned to each state and territory on the basis of its high school population.

No Need For Panic Buying of Hay, Farmer Told

Don't get panicky about buying hay, the Virginia Department of Agriculture advised farmers yesterday. The national crop is normal, and there will be enough to go around.

Prices will be relatively high, but there is no need to grab the first load that comes along. Farmers may find they could have bought better hay at the same price.

There is some hay available in the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia and ample supplies in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan and New York, according to the Department's grain and hay division.

However, prices delivered in Virginia will be about the same regardless of origin because of variations in local farm prices and differences in transportation rates.

Virginia farmers should be able to get number 2 timothy-clover mixtures or number 2 first cutting alfalfa for $41 to $48.

For milking herds, a top dairy hay like good number 2 leafy alfalfa will cost about $56 to $58 a ton, delivered in Virginia.

Hay prices have been fairly steady for the past few weeks, but farmers would do well to get their orders in for early winter needs, the Department said.

At the same time, the hay men related that high hay prices last fall had dropped more than 30 percent by February and March of 1953 as farmers got through the winter with less hay.

Whenever they order, farmers can protect themselves as to quality by specifying the U. S. grade of hay they want, the Department said. Farmers should ask that an official grade certificate accompany the load, or if this is not possible, order subject to inspection by Federal-State graders on arrival.

This cuts down the possibility that the farmer may be shipped low grade, spoiled or moldy hay, and enables him to pay only for what he gets.

Farmers can cut down hay costs by substituting a grain ration for some of their hay, especially in counties eligible for low-cost government grain, the Department said.

For wintering a 1,000 beef steer or brood cow not nursing a calf, VPI says that 250 pounds of grain ration and 1,000 pounds of hay may be substituted for the usual ton of hay needed.

In its tests, VPI used two parts protein oil meal and one part ground ear corn for the grain ration. Salt and minerals may also be needed.

For dairymen with milking herds, hay substitutes should be figured according to the formula that two pounds of grain equals three pounds of hay, according to Extension Service recommendations.

A survey of 5,100,000 farms and their transportation problems show that about two-thirds of the farm families have automobiles and drive an average of six miles to their shopping center. These 5,400,000 families own 4,200,000 cars.

Extra reinforcements where stress and strain are greatest, retain the shape and fit a long, long time.

NOTE TO GODFREY

Arthur Godfrey, the popular man of television and radio, who is a gentleman farmer near Leesburg, Virginia, seems to be confused on the State of Virginia. Godfrey is always telling his audiences how beautiful it is in Old Virginia and how peaceful and restful it is on his farm at Leesburg. The publicity he gives the State is priceless, but his fumbling the other night on a salute to Norfolk's Station WJAR when he couldn't remember the name of Virginia Beach stands out to us as Godfrey's number one miff.

True, he had no script but the way Godfrey rambles he hardly ever uses a script, not even for his commercials. It was strange indeed, and probably a little embarrassing to Godfrey, himself, when he referred to that beach down there in Virginia and then he groped to find the first name of that beach when it was his beloved Virginia all the time. It must have been the Redhead's most embarrassing moment.

To better acquaint Godfrey on Virginia Beach, we might remind him that it is Virginia's only oceanic resort and it is rather well known by its full name—Virginia Beach. Godfrey is a wonderful entertainer and a great booster for the State of Virginia, but when he is saluting a neighbor of ours in Tidewater Virginia we want him to remember that the name of the famous seashore resort is VIRGINIA BEACH.

We forgive you, Arthur, this time but don't let it happen again.

THE COMMUNITY CHEST

Plans are being readied across this great nation of ours for the annual Community Chest drive and each community must be ready, willing and able to make the whole effort successful.

This year the nation's combined chest drives are seeking a goal of $280,000,000 which is quite a sum. President Eisenhower has made a nationwide appeal in behalf of the drive. We must be ready to do our part.

The Virginia Beach-Princess Anne Community Chest Drive starts October 19 and will continue through October 30. Officials and workers have been busy for the past several weeks in formulating plans for the drive which is a tremendous undertaking on the part of a few of our citizens. There is much work to be done. The same workers also in the campaign which means that they are doing double duty. Those who are not called on to canvass and perform the many duties necessary to the drive should certainly be willing to contribute.

The area is a difficult one to canvass due to the large area to be covered. The local chest is always faced with the inevitable answer, "My husband gave in Norfolk." There are many problems faced by the local chest campaign. It takes real teamwork to make the drive successful. Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County has never failed in this effort and we feel certain that our citizens will be ready when called on later this month.

DALE CARNEGIE

AUTHOR OF "HOW TO STOP WORRYING AND START LIVING"

As a boy of fourteen Charles H. Brantley, Huntsville, Alabama, once made preparations for the annual trip to the boy scout camp. Thirty boys from his home town were making the trip, and they were to meet at a designated place and there board a chartered bus for the trip to camp.

Between Charles' home and the bus were several houses where he had to pass carrying his sack filled with supplies. Since it was Sunday he did not want to be seen carrying that sack, he was afraid of what people might say about him. Very soon a fellow Boy Scout came by and he agreed to carry Charles' sack in addition to his own for five cents.

Such little incidents as that occurred many times in the years that followed, and Charles soon found that his fears were getting the best of him and he was worrying about almost everything. After graduating from high school he enrolled in college twice, only to give some excuse for not attending when the day arrived.

In 1945 he entered the army and was sent to a camp a thousand miles from home. Practically all the men in camp were many miles from home and most of them had worries. Since it was next to impossible to avoid being part of a group at all times, Charles made up his mind that he would make the best of everything. Instead of telling everybody about his own problems, he listened to the other fellow since he was willing to listen, nearly all the men eventually came to him with their stories.

His reason for telling this to you is to suggest that you do all you can in any situation, then forget it, for he applied this advice to his own problems and found that it worked.

No longer does he worry about what people think of him, for he is firmly convinced that most people are too busy worrying about themselves to take the time to give him a thought, and if he has done the best he can, worrying about what people might think of him certainly won't make them think any differently.

SONNY HALSTEAD.

By RONNIE KEY

The Virginia Beach Seahawks topped their first victory of the 1953 season last Friday night from the Central Bulldogs of Eastern Shore by a lopsided score of 55-0.

From the opening whistle the Seahawks took command of the situation, and managed to keep the Bulldogs from even resembling a contest for the entire game. The Bulldogs failed to gain enough yardage to cross the midfield stripe until late in the fourth period when they managed to get to the V. B. 40 yard line as the game ended.

Scoring Punch
The Seahawks in the first half seemingly scored at will, pushing across 42 of their 55 points in the first half. In the second half Coach Isaac's cleared his bench and still managed to outplay their weak opposition using mainly his reserve strength.

The Seahawks touchdowns came as follows: Halstead made his first marker by running 55 yards for the T.D. Leudke on a sneak play makes the conversion. In the same quarter Halstead scores again with McCall making good the conversion on a running play. Still in the same quarter Jim Meads playing at halfback went 25 yards for another tally. Bob Leudke ran over the extra point. In the second period being set up by a blocked punt by Brian Bittman, Jim Meads again scored and added the conversion for the Seahawks.

JIM MEADS

was Jim Meads, Sonny Halstead and Freshman quarterback Barnes. Meads racked up 4 touchdowns, Halstead 3, and Barnes 1.

On defense it was newcomer Bob Coleman who made it rough sliding for the Bulldogs teamed with reliable Bobby Derring aided by Brian Zatraine, these boys kept the Bulldogs at the minus column on yards gained for the entire game.

Spring Hope, N. C.
Tomorrow night the Seahawks will travel to Spring Hope, N. C., where they will take on the Class A North Carolina team some 175 miles from here.

Coach Isaac's stated that his boys needed this game to prep for next week's tough one against Franklin also to be played away. The Seahawks' next home game will be Oct. 10 against Kempsville. Coach Isaac hopes to have his squad at full strength by then and will be out to defeat their traditional rivals.

Sample Farm Census to be Taken in State

The U. S. Bureau of the Census will conduct a sample Survey of Agriculture in Virginia next month, according to Director Robert W. Burgess of the Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce.

The survey will obtain information regarding the number of farms, use of land, the acreage and production of crops, the number of livestock, and facilities and equipment, expenditures and farm labor. The survey will cover all large farms and a sample of the other farms.

The survey will provide up-to-date information on Virginia's culture and show the major agricultural changes that have taken place since the 1950 Census. The new facts on Virginia agriculture, collected in the survey, will be compiled and published by the Bureau of the Census in Washington.

A similar survey will be taken in Utah. In addition to providing up-to-date statistics for Virginia and Utah, these two surveys will provide a test of the methods for collecting the information that is under consideration for the 1954 Census of Agriculture. Virginia was selected as a testing ground because its agricultural economy is representative of eastern states.

All of the features of the basic Census law will be complied with in taking the Virginia survey. This means that all information about individuals and their farming operations is kept in strict confidence and only statistical totals will be published. Information obtained in the census cannot be used for taxation, investigation or regulation.

Meredith A. Bass of the Census Bureau's Regional Office at Atlanta, Georgia, will act as Supervisor of the Virginia survey, with headquarters in Room 505, 900 Lombardy Street, Richmond, Virginia. Mr. Bass will be assisted by nine crew leaders who will work out of Danville, Falls Church, Franklin, Gate City, Richmond, Roanoke, Staunton, Tappahannock and Wytheville, according to present plans. The nine crew leaders will go to Washington on October 5 for a week's training at Census Bureau headquarters.

Enumeration training will be conducted at the Crew Leader duty stations on October 25, 27 and 28. Enumeration in the sample survey will begin on October 29. The survey will be completed by November 13.

Virginia's 100 counties have been grouped into nine districts for the survey. These are: District 1—Accomac, Brunswick, Greenlee, Isle of Wight, Lunenburg, Mecklenburg, Nanamond, Norfolk, Northampton, Princess Anne, Southampton, Surry and Sussex; District 2—Caroline, Elizabeth City, Essex, James City, King George, King and Queen, King William, Lancaster, Mathews, Middlesex, New Kent, Northumberland, Richmond, Warwick, Westmoreland and York; District 3—Amelia, Buckingham, Charles City, Chesterfield, Dinwiddie, Fluvanna, Goochland, Hanover, Henrico, Louisa, Prince Edward, Prince George, Nottaway and Powhatan; District 4—Arlington, Augusta, Bath, Greene, Highland, Madison, Nelson, Rockbridge and Rockingham; District 5—Appomattox, Campbell, Charlotte, Halifax and Pittsylvania; District 7—Bedford, Batsford, Craig, Floyd, Franklin, Henry, Montgomery, Patrick and Roanoke; District 8—Blanco, Carroll, Giles, Grayson, Pulaski, Smith, Tazewell and

New Fishing Sites Popular

Fishing was very popular during the summer at New Philpott Reservoir, 2500-acre lake in Patrick County, which was completely filled only last spring. Bob Martin, Assistant Chief of the Fish Division, Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries, reports that there were about 13,000 fishing trips made at the reservoir during June and July and in that period about 35,000 fish were caught, including largemouth and smallmouth bass, redeye, bluegill, and crappie.

Plans have been made to drain Douthat Lake in Douthat State Park, Alleghany County. The Department of Conservation and Development project is for the purpose of repairing a gate, but the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries will take advantage of the draining to study the fish population, to remove rough fish, and to gain valuable information for managing waters in the section, according to Bob Martin, Assistant Chief of the Fish Division.

When the fish are transferred temporarily to nearby ponds, the opportunity will be taken to remove rough fish, mainly suckers, and to re-align the fish population in general so there will be better fishing.

Preparations are being made to hold the State Big Game Trophy Contest to determine the best, white-tail deer and the best black bear trophies killed during the

AL HOUGHTON 'S RE-ELECTED TO HEAD GOLFERS

Meeting of the Cavalier Club, members of the Middle-Atlantic Professional Golfers Association re-elected Al Houghton, Landover, Md., professional as its president for the new year.

The group also re-elected John Plattner, of the Green Spring Valley Country Club of Garrison, Md., as secretary-treasurer.

Reserve Credits May be Earned At Surgeon Meet

Reserve credit points may be earned by Medical Service reserve officers on inactive duty for attendance at the daily sessions of the forthcoming 60th annual meeting of the Association of Military Surgeons, the Department of Defense has announced. This authorization covers eligible physicians, dentists, veterinarians, nurses, women's medical specialists, and Medical Service corps Officers of the U.S. Army, Navy, and Air Force Reserves.

Rea Admiral Winslow McK. Craig (MC) USNR, President of the Association, will open the meeting at 9 p.m., Monday, November 9, 1953, in the Presidential Ballroom of the Statler Hotel, Washington, D. C., by introducing the senior officers of the various Federal medical and health agencies. The scientific portion of the program will follow and continue through Wednesday, November 11.

Point credits will be awarded to eligible reserve officers on the basis of one point for each day of attendance, provided sessions attended total more than two hours. Each day of the meeting will be considered a session.

Reserve officers will be required to register for each day's session by presenting themselves to representatives of their respective services at the registration desk. Properly authenticated reports of attendance will be rendered to all Army Headquarters, Naval Districts and the Naval Reserve Officers Performance Recording Unit, and numbered Air Force Headquarters to assure creditation.

The meeting will be devoted to subjects having direct military application and will provide an excellent opportunity for Reserve officers to earn Reserve credit points while being brought up-to-date on the latest developments of military medicine.

There will be two regional contests. The one for big game trophies killed west of the Blue Ridge, sponsored by the Harrisonburg-Rockingham Chapter of the Isaac Walton League, will be held at Harrisonburg October 24. The Peninsula Sportsmen's Association will sponsor the eastern contest to be held at Newport News November 7, and the statewide contest, sponsored by the Virginia Game Commission, will also be decided there on November 7.

Shortages may secure further information from George B. Johnson, 60 Hopkins St., Hilton Village, or Peter B. Hanlon, U. S. Forest Service, Harrisonburg.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES

By JOHN O. HART, County Farm Agent

The week of October 4-10 has been proclaimed National Fire Prevention Week by President Eisenhower. Farm fires have caused the loss of over $133,000,000 worth of farm property and the death of 3,000 farm people during the past year. This loss of man power, livestock, farm products, buildings and equipment is staggering. More over, approximately 95% of these fires were the result of carelessness and neglect.

It is nice to observe Fire Prevention during one week of the year here in Princess Anne, but it is more important that we be conscious of what fire can do on our farms during all the 52 weeks. Carelessness and negligence cause most of our fires. They only start when someone helps to set the stage for them. Savings of a live-time-even lives—are lost every year in farm fires kindled by discarded matches. Fire cannot be completely eliminated even during National Fire Prevention Week, but many can be prevented if you are careful and not careless. Preventing fires cost much less than fighting them.

Place fire prevention first on your list of chores.

Remove debris of all description. Examine your habits.

Value sound advice on fire prevention and protection.

Evaluate carelessness and neglect. Notify local fire authorities as to location of buildings, water facilities, and roads on your premises.

Teach everyone the dangers of fire—Destruction and Death.

Furnish time and effort to organize and maintain fire-fighting protection in your community. Instruct young and old to be alert at all times.

Remember what to look for on your inspections for prevention of fires.

Explain what to do in case of fire.

Save lives and property through fire prevention and protection.

Poisonous insecticides have always been a hazard on our farms of the important advantages of and in our homes. They are even more so now with the increased use of these chemicals. If you should be unfortunate enough to swallow, inhale and spill one of these poisons on your skin, you should immediately call your Doctor. In most cases prompt treatment is vital.

In the case of one of these poisonous dust materials that have been inhaled, get the patient out in the open air immediately, and give artificial respiration if needed. If the poison has been spilled (Continued on Page Eight)

MORE VIGOROUS EDUCATION IN SAFETY URGED

"Suddenly" entering the street from between parked cars caused one out of every four deaths or injuries last year to school-age children," John B. Dey, Vice-President Tidewater Auto Ass'n. said today in emphasizing the need for more vigorous safety educational activities aimed at preventing this type of accidents.

"In 1952, 1,100 school children 5 to 14 were killed as pedestrians in traffic accidents," Mr. Dey said. "Some 26 percent were killed or injured while coming from between parked cars. Another 27 percent were killed or injured playing in roadways, which may have included playing around parked cars."

The rule, Keep From Between Parked Cars, is the theme this month of the AAA kit of safety educational materials being presented to teachers here in elementary and junior high schools by the Automobile Club.

Mr. Dey pointed out that a car going at a speed as low as 20 miles an hour cannot be brought to a stop on a dry pavement with-

Fall Vehicle Inspection Gets Underway Today

Highway Dept. Lets 13 Contracts

Contracts totaling $3,901,024 have been awarded by the State Highway Commission for 13 road projects, four residential offices, two house-molding jobs and seven resurfacing schedules. Bids on the projects were received September 17.

The only job rejected was a $47,778 proposal for modification of operating equipment on the James River bridge at Newport News. Previous bids also were rejected as too high.

Six of the projects will extend or begin divided construction on arterial routes.

The six-lane roadway on Hampton Boulevard will be extended from the Belt Line crossing near the Army Base to the Naval operating Base. Financed principally by Federal government access road funds, the project will cost $700,298, including engineering charges and work to be done by the N. & P. and N. & W. Railroads. The City of Norfolk and State Highway Department will participate in the construction costs.

With the opening of the fall motor vehicle inspection period set for October 1, Captain W. L. Groth, Safety Engineer for the State Police and Deputy Administrator of the Governor's Highway Safety Committee, sounded a word of warning and advice to Virginia's one million car owners.

"Since the state's traffic volumes have increased about 15 percent in the past 10 years," he said, "it is more imperative than ever that all of us have the advantage of an automobile in tip-top mechanical condition. Heavier traffic not only means we must be prepared to stop more quickly but that we should have all visual aids such as lights and windshield wipers as nearly perfect as possible."

He pointed out that one out of five vehicles inspected in Virginia requires some adjustment or part replacement but that accident involvement of defective vehicles here remains well under the national average. "It is well to remember also," he continued, "that driving a defective vehicle can bring a charge of reckless driving."

Passenger cars and motorcycles will be inspected October 1 through November 15 and after a two week recess, trucks and buses will be inspected during the entire month of December.

"Trucks" include any vehicle with a "T" series license. Captain Groth was definite in saying there can be no extensions of the deadlines and urged owners to present their vehicles to the stations of their choice as early as possible to avoid the inevitable last-minute rush. "The program last spring was greatly facilitated by public co-operation in this matter," he said, "which eased the burden on both owners and station operators in that the work load was not so heavy at the end of the period. This assured better inspections and fewer drivers were deprived of the legal use of their cars when inspections could not be performed before the deadline."

Small Town Editor Tells Joys And Woes in New Post Article

The pleasures and problems of a "Small-Town Newspaper Editor" are examined in the current issue of The Saturday Evening Post in a story about Lynn Shelton, editor of the Halifax Gazette, South Boston, Virginia.

Richard Thruelsen, in his latest article in the magazine's "Men at Work" series, finds that there has been a great change in country journalism so that a big-city newspaperman who continues to look upon rural editorship as a peaceful retreat is underestimating the demands of the job.

Thruelsen's report on Shelton explains that modern communication and transportation, national merchandising and diversification of industry are fast making neighbors of Small Town and Metropolis.

"This country-wide homogenizing of tastes, standards and opportunities has not only flattened the rural citizen's horizons, it has also revitalized his interest in the local scene," Thruelsen points out.

"This renewed pride of place and the growth of small-town advertising have combined to offer country journalism new challenges and opportunities and provided the weekly editor with a job that is as demanding, in its way, as that of his professional brother on the city daily."

The marriage of Miss Mary Catlin Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Fitzhugh Lee, to John Winslow Cromwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Starr Widson Cromwell, took place Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the garden of "Bay Spring Farm," the home of the bridegroom's parents. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Robert P. Davis, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, before an altar in front of a picture window banked with ferns and white chrysanthemums. The wedding music was played by Hadden's string orchestra.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a wedding gown of white antique satin, fitted bodice and off the shoulder neckline, outlined with rose point lace and long fitted sleeves. The full skirt formed a long train. Her veil of old Spanish lace was arranged from a cap of lace with trim of lace. She carried a bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis.

Mrs. Dudley De Bode Cooke, of Virginia Beach, was matron of honor and the bridesmaids were Mrs. Robert Gibson Thurman, Mrs. Russell Bennett Chase and Mrs. Ruth Wood, Jr., all of the Beach, and Mrs. Alexander Mitchell, Jr., of Washington. All the attendants wore ballerina length gowns of Parisian blue velvet, made with off-the-shoulder scalloped necklines, fitted bodice and long sleeves. They wore matching scalloped trimmed velvet hats and carried cascades bouquet of golden roses and bronze chrysanthemums.

Starr W. Cromwell was best man for his son and the groomsmen were Roger R. Rinehart, Jr. of Charlottesville, O. Braxton Valentine, Jr. and Henry Lee Valentine, both of Richmond, Dr. Ben Parker, of Smithfield, and William C. Haycox and Robert H. Beasley, both of Virginia Beach. Mrs. Lee, mother of the bride, wore a dress of gray crepe with lace bodice black velvet hat and corsage of lavender orchids. Mrs. Cromwell, mother of the bridegroom, wore a dress of blue mouseline de sole over tulle, trimmed with beads, matching hat and a corsage of yellow orchids.

After the ceremony a reception was given in the garden. Later Mr. and Mrs. Cromwell left for a wedding trip to Nassau and upon their return they will reside at "Bay Spring Farm," London Bridge. The bride traveled in a charcoal wool jersey dress with putty colored tweed coat, charcoal cloche hat, black accessories and a corsage of white orchids.

The Paper Plate Association celebrates "Save a WIFE Week" (that is from dishwashing)—October 1st to 10th.

THE SAVE A WIFE WEEK and all through the house. Not a creature is stirring except the male spouse. He's fretting and griping while washing the dishes.

After serving his wife a dinner delicious.

With wonderful work-sparing SAVE A WIFE gear.

To eliminate dishwashing which everyone hates.

Now husband is happy and wears a big grin.

For paper plates mean a constant vacation.

So all guys and gals take a tip from this tale:

Let the paper plate practice in your home prevail.

Keep them on hand so that husband and wife can be sure of a long and undishwashing life.

Did you know that during 1952 millions of paper plates came whipping off high-powered precision machines, just 1,845 years after the first paper plates were made? I didn't, and I had no idea paper plates were born that long ago.

Paper plates were actually manufactured for the first time in this country in 1903 in three small factories. One in Waterville, Maine, one in Marion, Indiana and one in New York City. The Waterville, Maine plates were made to solve the bakers' problem of how to display and package America's favorite dish PIE. Up to this time pies had been tinned which proved an awful expense to bakers. These plates were made by pouring wood pulp into molds, with the right molds for runners of today's molded plates which are the thick rigid plates.

The New York and Marion, Indiana plates were pressed plates and were made to solve another problem. A worker in a New York Company manufactured card

"THREE-GIRLS FROM ROME"—Madame Nicole Fontana, of one of the leading couture establishments of Rome, has been in this country the past month presenting her Fall and Winter collection to New York audiences. She will travel to major stores in our bigger cities, throughout America, bringing her exciting new fashions to the eager attention of American women who are becoming more and more fashion-conscious. She has three charming Italian girls with her—Elsa, Luisa and Iris and she bills her going-on as Fontana's Collection with "Three Girls From Rome." How wise Fontana is, to bring Italian models to show off, with the right models for Italian fashions. When these girls were interviewed recently, in their suite at the Hotel Plaza, they were wearing the soon-to-be-popular-here tapered pants and bright shirts that are already so popular in Italy, typical of Italian sportswear. With scant make-up and no nailpolish, they looked like our college girls. Luisa and Iris have the new "Italian" haircuts while Elsa wears her brown hair pulled straight back with a bun. You may recall their appearances on Dave Garroway's television program, "I've Got A Secret" and that Luisa's secret was that she speaks no English! They all agree that the American clothes are "so pretty and young" and that the knees are not a girl's most attractive asset. Therefore, they are quite sure there will be no shorter skirts in Italy! The cities these three will visit, with Nicole Fontana, will include Philadelphia, Washington, Cleveland, Boston, Atlanta, New Orleans, Chicago, Dallas, San Francisco and Los Angeles. Incidentally, those ten New York make up the eleven top fashion cities of the United States.

MINK. A GIRL'S BEST FRIEND—giving the diamond merchants a run for their publicity, the mink fur boys have now come up with a little fashion via mink earrings and bracelets to match. Simply huge hoop earrings of mink, they are, too! The girls holding these jewelry gadgets claim "mink is a girl's best friend!" And, in case you are wondering about the hoop earring craze, it's going to last right on into winter. There is something daring and say in wearing those hoops. Sort of brings out the eyes in the female of the species, shall we say. The hoops have hopped into the real jewelry field, too, with real gold and silver and real pearl hoop earrings that are of magnificent design. So, if you haven't tried a pair of large hoops yet, do so by all odds, have a great story of

Gregory Peck in 'Roman Holiday'

A delightfully wonderful story, a superbly rounded cast and one of the finest producer-directors in Hollywood combined to make the most charming and romantic comedy "Roman Holiday" one of the most eagerly awaited entertainment parcels in some time. Starring Gregory Peck and Audrey Hepburn, "Roman Holiday" was produced and directed by William Wyler and it opens Sunday and Monday, October 4th and 5th at the Virginia Beach Drive-In Theatre.

Filmed in its entirety in Rome, Italy, the story is a completely charming and frolicsome tale about a modern-day princess who, rebelling against her royal obligations while on a goodwill tour, decides to go out on a fling incognito. The light, prancing comedy stems from her wacky adventures with an American newspaperman who, seeking an exclusive story, pretends not to know of her royal identity.

Audrey Hepburn, as the princess who goes on the spree, was drafted from the Broadway stage where she scored a tremendous hit in last year's comedy sensation "Gigi." From all advance reports, this youthful actress has made the transition from stage to screen with flying colors and in no time at all will become the talk of the nation. Sceldom in the history of motion pictures has a new performer brought about such unanimous advance raves.

Playing opposite Miss Hepburn as the newspaperman is Gregory Peck and, needless to say, he is in top form. Eddie Albert is featured in "Roman Holiday" as a carefree cameraman who joins Audrey and Peck on their hilarious escapades; and he, too, reportedly distinguishes himself in the acting department.

"Roman Holiday" marks the first comedy that William Wyler has made in almost twenty years and it is apparent that this master of celluloid has not lost his touch. Previous successes have cheered and cried. It is that kind of a film. Many of the situations throughout are rich in humor, highly comical, but its other moments are warmly appealing and frequently tug at one's heart strings.

Long History of Service Behind Savings and Loan

ORGANIZED IN 1935, MANY OF ORIGINAL OFFICERS STILL ACTIVE IN DIRECTION OF LOCAL INSTITUTION

The Virginia Beach Federal Savings and Loan Association was established in 1935. Its organization meeting was held in the office of W. H. Terry and Son in the Woodhouse Building on August 12th. At that meeting the following were appointed to represent the shareholders until the annual meeting which followed in January: F. W. Ackles, Edward M. Hardy, F. E. Kellam, W. C. Maher, Roy Smith, W. H. Terry, Jr., and C. T. Whitehead. It is difficult for younger people to realize the conditions which prevailed at that time. Franklin D. Roosevelt had just recently been inaugurated as president of the United States and one of the first acts of his administration was to declare a national bank moratorium. This was followed by the establishment of the Home Owners Loan Corporation and the Act of Congress in June 1933 which provided for the Federal Savings and Loan System. Other important legislative action of the time was provision for the insurance of bank deposits and accounts in Savings and Loan Associations. Originally they were insured up to $5,000 but this was subsequently changed to $10,000. But the provision which led to the Virginia Beach Federal was one which authorized the Home Owners Loan Corporation to subscribe to shares in newly formed associations in the proportion of $3.00 for each $1.00 subscribed by local interests. The minimum of local capital acceptable for a charter was $2,500 and this amount added to $7,500 subscribed by the H.L.C. launched a new business enterprise for Virginia Beach. Today its assets exceed a million and a half dollars.

Virginia Beach Federal Schedules Formal Opening of New Modern Building on Friday

The formal opening of the new Virginia Beach Federal Savings and Loan Association building at 210 Twenty-fifth Street, Virginia Beach, will take place next Friday evening at 8:00 p.m. according to an announcement by Roy Smith, president of the local institution.

The entire building will be open to public inspection and refreshments will be served. Invitations to the affair have been extended to officials of banks and savings and loan associations in the Norfolk area, to officials of the Federal Home Loan Bank and the Virginia Building, Savings and Loan League. Officers and Directors of the Virginia Beach Federal will be on hand to greet the guests.

The Association's new home is considered by many to be one of the most attractive and tastefully decorated buildings at Virginia Beach. Certainly it is a substantial addition to the many fine buildings recently constructed which have contributed so much to the growth and progress of the community.

Designed by Bernard Spigel and constructed by Conrad Brothers of Norfolk at a cost of approximately $100,000.00, the new structure was begun in November, 1934. At that time the officials of the Association hoped to have it ready for the beginning of the season. However, delays in getting the necessary steel and other material extended the completion date by several months.

The new building is located on a corner lot at 25th Street and Pacific Avenue. It is two stories in height and the exterior is of gray brick. Architectural detail and contrast are secured by the use of stone window trim, white tile and the warm tones of its stone columns on each side of the entrance. The cornices are soft yellow porcelain covered metal. While in general the design may be called modern, it is by no means extreme in conception.

Most of the first floor is occupied by the Association's banking room, its directors room and a fireproof record room. The color motif is a soft gray, relieved by the chartreuse ceiling and d. veries. This scheme is continued in the furnishings which are varying tones of the two principal colors. The floors are of light green tiled terrazzo.

The directors room, which is considered by many the most attractive room in the building, paneled in mahogany with furnishings to match. The set tones are carried out in the carpet and ceiling. The building is air-conditioned.

A portion of the first floor, leased by the real estate and insurance firm of Smith, Gustafson & Terry, Inc. On the upper floor are three suites of offices all occupied by prominent local attorneys. They are P. W. Ackiss, Roy Smith, R. S. Kight, Jr., and A. G. Walton.

Parents Should be More Concerned Over Accident Prevention, Says Commissioner

"Accidents kill and cripple more of our children than all the infectious diseases of childhood put together," Dr. Mack I. Shanholts, state health commissioner, said today.

"If parents understood the accident problem and were as concerned about it as they are about polio and other contagious diseases, the toll of childhood death and disability could be reduced drastically," he added.

In the preschool age group, 1 to 4 there were 128 accidental deaths reported to the State Health Department's Bureau of Vital Statistics in 1952. Of this number 50 deaths were due to burns, and 30 to motor vehicles. Drownings and suffocation from food and foreign bodies accounted for 9 deaths each, while 8 children in this age group died from poisonings. Falls and firearms claimed 3 victims each. Two children were electrocuted and 12 deaths in this group were not classified.

Accidents have been consistently the leading cause of death among school age children for over 20 years, Dr. Shanholts stated. Last year in Virginia, 128 accidental deaths were recorded for this group of 5 to 14 year-olds. Motor vehicles ranked as the leading cause of accidental death, claiming 60 victims. Drownings followed second with 28. Other causes were burns—19, transport deaths other than motor vehicles—4, firearms—4, falls—4, death due to injury by machinery—4, and poisoning—1. Eleven deaths in this age group were not classified.

One half of all deaths last year in the age group 15-24 were due to accidents. There were 320 deaths by accident in this age group last year. Motor vehicle accidents accounted for 211 deaths in this group, while drownings was the second largest killer in this group, claiming 26 lives. Transportation deaths other than motor vehicles accounted for 17 deaths. Other killers were burns—10, falls—10, firearms—9, machinery—2, poisonings—6, and 18 deaths were unclassified.

"Accident prevention means setting up and maintaining precautionary measures," Dr. Shanholts said. "The measures that could reduce accidents are known to family physicians, health officers, teachers and safety experts. All these people are ready and anxious to help. But they can do little until parents are well enough informed to see that the needed precautions are set up and continuously maintained in the home, school, and other places where children are exposed to accidents," Dr. Shanholts concluded.

Red Cross Plans For Christmas

Preparations for making the Christmas season merry for hospitalized service men went into high gear last week when the Tidewater Council of American Red Cross Community Services to Camps and Hospitals met in Norfolk. Each of the five chapters comprising the council assigned a portion of the programs that will provide the men with Christmas packages, decorations and holiday refreshments. Chapters participating are Portsmouth, Smithfield, Suffolk, Norfolk and Princess Anne County. Representing this chapter were Mrs. David B. Hill, chairman of Junior Red Cross which collects and makes many favors and gifts for the servicemen, and Mrs. Stuart Mallory, executive secretary.

Mrs. Mallory also represented Princess Anne Chapter at the Tidewater Area council meeting on the blood program held Tuesday at Newport News.

It was revealed that the visit of the bloodmobile Thursday to Little Creek had produced 120 pints while Friday's collection was 197 pints. The next visit of the Clivian sponsored bloodmobile to Virginia Beach is set for Oct. 16.

Ten Experienced Men Guide Federal's Continued Progress

Policies of the Virginia Beach Federal Savings and Loan Association are guided by a board of ten directors, four of whom are also officers. They include the following:

Roy Smith, president, is a life-time resident of Princess Anne County. He has practiced law in the county for many years and was formerly Mayor of Virginia Beach. At present he occupies the position of City Attorney. He was also a director of the old Princess Anne and Norfolk Building and Loan Association.

Judge F. E. Kellam, vice-president, long prominently identified with county affairs, began his career with the practice of law at Princess Anne Courthouse. He was appointed by Governor Tuck to the position of Judge of the 26th Judicial Circuit in 1946 to fill the unexpired term of Judge B. D. White, deceased. He is chairman of the Board of the Bank of Virginia Beach.

GI Loan Applications on Increase

GI home loan applications received by the Veterans Administration during the month ending August 25, 1953, topped the 31,000 mark, an increase of 8,800 over the previous month, VA announced.

absorb the poison and soothe the irritated membranes of the stomach.

According to the Virginia Rural Safety Council, 30 people were killed last year in our State due to poisoning by one of our popular insecticides. If you are using a considerable amount of these poisonous chemicals on your farm, you should take extreme care in handling them; and most important be sure that they are stored where your children cannot get into them.

Be sure your hogs are protected from Cholera before you put them in the field this fall. This disease plays no favorites! As a result of extensive testing at the Holland Experiment Station, the new type rabbit origin vaccine now is being recommended for Cholera control on healthy, graded pigs. Tests show that this single-treatment type vaccine will sufficiently protect your hogs for about 18 months. Your breeding stock should be revaccinated annually.

Protect your hogs this fall before it is too late. Once cholera gets into your herd, there is very little that you can do except to bury what remains of the herd. One of the important advantages of using this single treatment is that it cannot produce cholera. When you vaccinate your hogs using the virus you are containing your farm with the germ that actually produces this disease. We hope that the continued use of one of these new type vaccines may some day illuminate our most costly hog disease. If you have not already protected your herd you should take some action immediately.

If you built or bought your home in 1943, its value is about double today. And if your insurance is based on 1943 values, the protection it provides won't meet 1953 requirements.

Ask us to check your insurance. Our expert counsel will cost nothing extra, but it may be worth hundreds of dollars to you.

GRAND JURY INQUIRING INTO RECENT JAILBREAK

Princess Anne County and the State of Virginia finally closed its cases against Ruffin Junior Selby on murder, rape and robbery charges through Commonwealth's Attorney Paul W. Acheson on Monday. Selby had been acquitted by jury last Thursday on the charges.

The 26-year-old negro had been accused of killing Chief Quartermaster Dean L. Kirkdorfer, raping Mrs. Carmela Cravetti, and robbing both victims on a lonely Princess Anne County road on the night of June 6.

Closing of the Selby case did not relieve the grand jury of other duties. It is busy now hearing witnesses in the recent escape of two prisoners from the Princess Anne County Jail.

In addition the jury returned bills in 13 indictments each against James R. Bullock and Ramon C. Medlock in connection with the theft of building materials valued at between $5000 and $4000 during a period beginning August, 1952.

Set for trial in October are cases against Roark; Jack Wilbur Rice, attempted robbery; Donald Victor Powell, attempted robbery; Robert G. Bellows, robbery; (2) Jimmy G. Plummer, grand larceny; Leona E. Smith, attempted assault; Alvin D. Sperry, attempted malicious assault; Wilton Bryant, malicious assault (3); Harold D. Gearhart, seduction; Neal E. Gray, manslaughter; Dennis G. Carson, rape; Dennis Woodhouse, breaking and entering; C. E. Blum, grand larceny, and W. E. Hughes, grand larceny.

Farm Census Starts on 26th

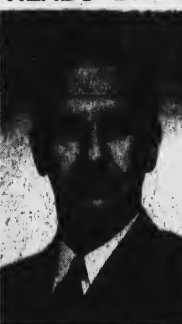

William H. Robinson, Washington, D. C., has been named as a crew leader for the Battle of Agriculture which will be conducted in Virginia late in October. It was announced today by Supervisor Meredith A. Bass of the Census Bureau's Sample Survey Office at Richmond.

Mr. Robinson will supervise the activities of 14 enumerators working in the counties of Princess Anne-Norfolk, Nansemond, Isle of Wight-Sussex, Southampton, Gloucester, Brunswick, Lunenburg, Mecklenburg (2), Accomack-Norfolk.

On October 8, Mr. Robinson goes to the Census Bureau in Washington to receive a week's special training to prepare him for his duties as crew leader.

Enumeration in the Sample Survey of Agriculture will begin on October 26 and is expected to be completed by November 13.

VEPCO Files for Rate Change; First in 30 Years

The Virginia Electric and Power Company has filed application with the State Corporation Commission of Virginia, requesting approval of a necessary but relatively minor increase in certain of its electric rates and approval of the systemwide unification and simplification of its rate schedules. It was announced in a statement by R. J. Throckmorton, eastern division vice-president. The total amount of the increase sought in this application would have amounted to about $4,800,000 gross had the new rates been in effect for the entire twelve months ended June 30, 1953. The portion of the increase applicable to customers in Virginia is about $4,500,000. The proposed increase in the aggregate is slightly more than 6 percent of the total electric revenue of the company which for the year ended June 30 was $76,900,000. After 52 percent Federal income taxes and gross receipts taxes, paid to the states and to municipalities, this will amount to an increase in net earnings to the company of about $2,300,000 annually.

"This is the first time in more than 30 years that the company has requested an increase in electric rates, despite the fact that in recent years the cost of fuel, labor, materials and taxes have been rising constantly and at a rapid rate. For instance, coal, which constitutes nearly half of the company's electric operating expenses, has because of increase in cost of the mine plus increase in freight rates, costs about $9.00 a ton delivered, whereas in the 30's and early 40's the average cost was around $4.00 a ton. The increase in taxes is common knowledge and I believe needs little comment, except to say that VEPCO's taxes in 1952 amounted to nearly $14,000,000, or 18 cents out of every dollar collected for electric and gas service. Wages and salaries have increased on the average also to more than two and one-half times the level of 1940. Weighted average of all

Servicemen Due To Buy City Tags

A special ruling regarding city automobile licenses has been issued and is called to the attention of the public by Virginia Beach Police Chief Reeve E. Johnson. The ruling follows:

"Members of the Services of the United States should purchase city automobile licenses the same as any other citizen. If a State license has been purchased and they reside in the City or Town, they are liable for city or town automobile tags."

The Virginia Beach police department has issued an appeal to those affected to cooperate and secure their tags at City Hall to eliminate any necessity of a court summons.

TIPPING THE CHAPEAU

The Gilmore Lee Tibbotts have been on a vacation. During the absence an observer for the Council of Garden Clubs took a little trip out to their home located on a rolling picturesque site, slightly distant from, and yet with a beautiful view of the lovely, Lynnhaven Bay. Their home and grounds in Bay Colony have been selected as the beauty spot of the week. The quiet caretakers, during their absence, have had nothing to do except to enjoy the beauty of the fall blooming ageratum, geraniums, michaelmas daisies and red pyracantha blooming in profusion, and by no means leaving out the beauty of their hobby, the Greenhouse, with every thing imaginable (including orchids). Mrs. Tibbotts is president of the Council of Garden Clubs. WHAT AN EXAMPLE SHE HAS SET! And by no means can her efficient husband be left out of the picture since it is a well known fact that he does his share towards maintaining the grounds and has a decided interest in the greenhouse. Mrs. Tibbotts has worked to no end on the Atlantic Avenue project. . . . and it can be truly said that "SHE PRACTICES WHAT SHE PREACHES."

SMITH, ETHERIDGE, HEAD CHEST DRIVE; CONFIDENT GOAL WILL BE ACHIEVED

KICK-OFF LUNCHEON MONDAY FINDS WORKERS MOST ENTHUSIASTIC AT PROSPECTS OF SUCCESSFUL DRIVE

Workers in the 1953 Virginia Beach-Princess Anne County Community Chest drive which opens October 19 will meet for a final briefing on canvassing areas at the Cavalier Hotel next Monday night, it was announced Wednesday by B. M. Stanton, the drive's general chairman. The goal for this year's drive for funds is $22,000.

A kickoff luncheon held last Monday at the Cavalier Hotel found some forty enthusiastic backers of the community chest in attendance. The group heard a report from E. W. Smith, secretary-treasurer, who reported the fund requests of the various participating agencies.

The amount to be raised this year is the largest in the history of the local chest, but officials are confident of going over the goal set. A spokesman for the community chest stated that he had never seen the interest or enthusiasm that exists among the chest group this year.

Grand Jury to Report Today On Jail Break

Hear Commission Which Made Investigation

The special grand jury investigating the recent jailbreak from the Princess Anne County Jail will report its findings to the court today at 1:00 a.m. It was announced Tuesday.

The group wound up its hearing Wednesday afternoon and has been hearing witnesses for the past several days.

Two prisoners escaped from the jail two weeks ago during a working session. Both prisoners gained freedom by jumping through an unguarded window of the jail.

The prisoners were apprehended two days after their escape but the court ordered a special session of the grand jury to determine the cause of the escape and to determine if any negligence was in evidence.

Among those who testified Tuesday during a full day of hearings were W. E. Brent, State Inspector of Jails; S. Paul Brown, chairman of the County Board of Supervisors; Kenneth Whitehurst, another supervisor; and J. Melvin Goad, clerk of the Princess Anne Trial Justice Court.

The last three named formed a commission set up by County

Chief Johnson Warns Pedestrians Of Dangers on Roadways at Night

"Night must fall, but mustn't forget Virginia Beach pedestrians fall with it!"

That question was asked today by Chief Reeve E. Johnson as he discussed that importance of Night Traffic Hazards program currently sponsored by Virginia Beach Police and the Governor's Highway Safety Committee.

Chief Johnson said that from October through March, one-third of all pedestrians deaths occur between 5 and 8 p.m., hours that are usually dark or dark during these months. He blamed a combination of darkness and carelessness.

"Unfortunately, we can't change the laws of nature," Johnson said. "Darkness is here to stay. But we can do something as far as human nature is concerned. Many pedestrians meet their deaths in night traffic because of their own thoughtless walking habits."

He warned pedestrians that it is difficult for motorists to see them at night and urged them to observe the following safe walking rules:

1. Always walk on the sidewalk. If you must walk on roads that have no sidewalks, walk on the left shoulder of the road facing traffic. Wear light colored clothing or carry a flashlight or a piece of white or reflectorized material.
2. Always assume that the driver can't see you. Never cross a street or highway unless you are absolutely certain you have ample time to reach the other side in complete safety.
3. "Obey all traffic laws."

4-H CLUB ACTIVITIES

Best 4-H Club Meeting of Month
This is the first of a series of articles to appear each month highlighting the best 4-H club meeting of the month. After the club meetings, an article will appear explaining the best 4-H club meeting of the month. The name of the club will not be mentioned and the 4-H club members can decide by the article if it was their meeting, and other clubs may get ideas as to how to have a better meeting.

The 4-H club that had the best meeting for the month of September has really started with a bang. In preparation for their regular monthly meeting they held a special meeting to discuss different phases of the program that they went to emphasize, also a nominating committee was appointed to select a slate of officers to be put in office during the regular September 4-H club meeting.

At the regular club meeting the boys and girls project groups subdivided into two separate sections where the members talking boys projects received training in record book completion, training those members with Baby Beef Projects that have just started, preparation for Achievement Night and regular instruction in other phases of project work such as corn, soybeans, small grain, livestock enterprises and so on.

In the girls project group they discussed with Mrs. Deal, the Home Demonstration Agent, their general plans for the year. They also put a great deal of emphasis on the possibilities of getting local leaders in individual committees as project leaders. After about 30 minutes of project instruction, all members congregated into a general session where business was conducted. Much emphasis was put on planning for Achievement Night, methods of raising money for the carrying out of 4-H activities and officers were elected for the coming year.

During the program, scripture was read followed by the Lord's Prayer and songs were sung by a few girls from the club. The 4-H club meeting of the month was adjourned with salute to the American flag, the 4-H club jledge and the 4-H motto.

National Fire Prevention Week

The week of October 4th to the 10th has been dedicated as National Fire Prevention Week by President Eisenhower. The 4-H clubs of Princess Anne County will be taking an active part in this National Week as well as 4-H clubs all over the State of Virginia. The 4-H Clubs can do a great deal in the prevention of fires if they will work with all of the folks in this County in correcting fire hazards, stopping careless deeds, and remembering to recognize fire hazards.

Many of our homes and farms have had fires during the past years and most of these fires have been caused by carelessness. Let us remember that fires feed by your careless deeds and let's be on an extra campaign through the 4-H clubs in this county to prevent fires not only for this week, but for all the weeks throughout the year. 4-H club members should learn to recognize and remove the following fire hazards:

broken and damaged lightning rods, defective and poorly constructed chimneys, defective stoves and furnaces, improve storage and use of gasoline, kerosene and other flammable liquids and explosives, spontaneous ignition of hay, unsafe wiring, overloaded electrical circuits, worn cords and defective electrical appliances. Burning outdoors on dry and windy days is also one of our greatest fire hazards.

4-H club members should learn to recognize these hazards and correct them immediately. They can cause the loss of valuable property and even the life of some person that you love very dearly.

4-H Club Welcomes Tourist

The 4-H club members of Princess Anne County have again started to work on their project that was started last year. This project will soon be nearing completion. Saturday, September 26th the 4-H club members erected a 4-H club sign at the entrance to Princess Anne County, Virginia Beach Blvd. that welcomes tourist and people trading in this area to our County. Helping with the erection of this sign was Jimmy Bright of Back Bay, Tommy Acas of Back Bay, and Bradford Jones of Creeds and Deeds, Dungeness, of Princess Anne. With these club members was Mrs. Mark Bright, one of the local leaders for the Creeds Junior 4-H club. Assisting the club members were the members of the County Extension Service in the County.

This sign was put on the property of Mrs. Mary P. Isenhardt. The 4-H clubs of Princess Anne County are very grateful to Mrs. Isenhardt, for giving us the space on which to put this sign. The sign is a thank her for her splendid interest and cooperation in working with 4-H club boys and girls.

This is the second sign to be erected in the County. The first was erected last year on the Millary Highway and the second on the Blvd. In the very near future four more will be put on roads that enter the County. The money for the cost of these signs was raised by the eight 4-H clubs in the County. They have worked very hard in raising this money in order that they may put a sign at points entering the County that welcome people coming into the County.

VEPCO Has Best Annual Report Among Southern Utilities

In the final ratings of the independent board of judges in the thirteenth survey of 5,000 annual reports, conducted by "Financial World" Virginia Electric and Power Company was judged as having the best annual report of southern utility industry for the fourth consecutive year. The bronze "Oscar of Industry" trophy will be presented to J. G. Holtschaw, president of the company, at the Annual Awards Banquet in the Grand Ballroom of the Hotel Statler, New York, on October 26, 1953.

In this industrial classification Arkansas Power & Light was runner-up for top honors, while Alabama Power Company placed third.

The jury making the final selections is headed by Dr. Pierre R. Breley, editor of "The Analysts Journal," and he was assisted by Samuel B. Jones, president of "The National Federation of Financial Analysts Societies"; Elmer C. Walser, financial editor of the "United Press"; Richard C. Loe, assistant research director of the "American Institute of Accounts"; Denny Griswold, publisher of "Public Relations News"; and Hollis Holland, authority on design and calligraphy. The initial screening of the qualified reports beef steers as a part of their 4-H club activities. These steers are bought in the fall from farmers in this County and other Counties and then raise them through the year and put them in the 4-H Show and Sale in Portsmouth in the spring. A step further with the 4-H club Baby Beef Project is to enter a steer at the Atlantic Rural.

These steers that enter the Atlantic Rural are usually not shown at the Portsmouth show because of the ruling that the steer must be sold after it has been shown. Billy preferred to enter his steer at the Exposition and won second place. Billy completed in the Angus Senior Yearling Show against 100 other steers from all sections of Virginia. He in Princess Anne should be very proud that a steer from this County did so well, when competing against steers from all over the State. He should be commended for his fine work that he has done with his steer. At the Fair, Billy showed excellent shotmanship in handling his steer, and his steer, as was shown by his ribbon, was one of the two best steers in the class. He was only beaten by the Grand Champion of the West Virginia State Fair.

We hope that next year we will have more boys to carry calves to the Atlantic Rural Exposition and enter them into the 4-H club shows.

4-H Gardens Scored

On September 22nd and 23rd, Mr. L. C. Beamer, Associate Extension Horticulturist from VPI was here in the County to score 4-H club gardens in the Sears Roebuck Contest. The winners of this contest in the County will be announced at the Achievement Night Program which ends the 4-H club year. These gardens were scored on the general appearance, the vegetables grown, the selection of different vegetables, the arrangement of vegetables in their garden according to maturity dates, the cultivation practices, fertilization, pest control, and the proper keeping records. These gardens were scored in the spring by Mr. Beamer and also again this fall to get the fall garden score. There will be 8 cash prizes for those with the highest scores.

BRIDGE LOCATION APPROVAL ASKED

The Virginia Department of Highways has requested Army Department approval of location and plans of a highway drawbridge to replace the existing bridge across the Albemarle and Chesapeake Canal on Secondary

The new bridge, to be similar in design to the existing bridge, will provide a horizontal clearance of 80 feet normal to the channel and a vertical clearance under the drawspan of 4 feet above the normal water level of the canal. The total length of the bridge will be 235 feet, consisting of a 40-foot approach span and a 195-foot drawspan. If there are objections from the standpoint of navigation, they will be received in the office of I. R. Wank, Lt. New, Longer Plymouth Goes on Display in Showrooms on 15th

Plymouth will display its 1954 line of automobiles in dealer showrooms throughout the nation Thursday, October 15, President John F. Mansfield announced today.

The new models have optional power steering and three choices in power drives.

They are longer than last year's models. New body lines, a new front end design, new interiors, new advanced design seat cushions and engine improvement are among the 64 advancements in styling and engineering design.

"We are confident that people will like the new beauty of our 1954 cars," Mansfield said. "We are absolutely certain that they are the most durable, best riding, best performing and roomiest cars that Plymouth has ever built."

Plymouth is using the link type of power steering. The hydraulic "muscle" is in the steering linkage. Plymouth officials say it is the most effective, compact and serviceable installation produced for cars in the low price field. It reduces steering effort up to 80 per cent, permits fingertip control in tight parking situations and promotes safe driving through lessening of driver fatigue and absorption of road shock.

In its 1954 line, Plymouth offers three options in power drives. Hy-Drive, a no-shift unit made up of a combination of torque converter and three-speed transmission, was introduced during the 1953 model year. It will be in volume production for 1954 models. The two other options are Synchro-Silent three-speed transmission and Synchro-Silent with Overdrive, which provides a fourth forward speed for cruising.

Mansfield said more than half the Plymouths now being produced have either Hy-Drive or Overdrive.

The new Plymouth line is made up of 11 body types in three series. The Belvedere series consists of a sport coupe of "hardtop" design, a four-door sedan, convertible and Suburban steel-bodied station wagon type car. All beautifully color-styled in two-tone combinations.

In the Savoy series are a four-door sedan, club coupe and two-door sedan. In the lowest priced class series are a four-door sedan, two-door sedan, business coupe and Suburban.

All models have completely new interiors. Other changes include an increase of 3 5/8 inches in overall length, a new front end styling treatment, new chrome side moldings and modifications in virtually all exterior design features.

Interiors are designed with emphasis on color harmony and modern decor. Seat and back cushions and door side panels are upholstered in new types of fabrics which are exceptionally resistant to wear.

Plymouth is introducing a new type of seat cushions with Dual Flex springs. They are made up of a combination of coil springs and jacks springs which, working in combination, provides a softer cushioning action in normal riding situations and resistance to "bottoming" when the car hits a bump.

To extend top engine performance over a long period of time, Plymouth is using new silicon chromium alloy intake valves in 1954 models. Exhaust valve inserts have been retained to maintain high compression engine performance in years of service.

Other mechanical improvements include a higher capacity oil pump, new improved clutch, and improved electric windshield wipers.

'54 Plymouth Belvedere Sport Coupe

The six-passenger Belvedere sport coupe typifies the new styling of 1954 Plymouth cars. It is longer than the previous model and has a completely restyled interior. All 1954 Plymouths are available with power steering and with Hy-Drive, a no-shift combination.

With the GIRL SCOUTS

The regular monthly meeting of Girl Scouts for Princess Anne County was resumed on Friday, October 2nd, at the apartment of Mrs. Lyman Clarke, corner of Atlantic and 55th Streets. Mrs. Clarke, the District Chairman, presided and the Neighborhood Chairmen gave their reports.

Mrs. E. C. Mansfield, Chairman of Day Camp Committee, gave a most interesting report on the activities of Camp Linkhorn, which was held from July 6th through July 30th. Under the able direction of Mrs. Lewis Smith, and her assistant, Mrs. Pearl Batchelor, over 100 Scouts and Brownies enjoyed four weeks of outdoor fun, crafts and skills.

Mrs. Henry Hedley served as Staff Trainer and General Consultant, and Mrs. J. D. Gregory was the Camp Nurse. Mrs. Mansfield also made an interesting announcement that next summer, a new camp site would be available in the State Park. Ten acres of wooded areas and sand dunes, between 78th and 80th Streets, had been selected by the new Camp Site Development Committee.

This new site would be a most welcome and advantageous asset to the Girl Scouts of this County, as well as for other Area Scouts.

Miss Jean Baldwin, Scout Director for Princess Anne County, announced she would conduct a Basic Leadership course for six Thursdays, beginning October 8th, at the Parish House of Galilee Episcopal Church. She urged all newcomers and those interested in Scout work, please contact her for further details.

Miss Baldwin also gave an interesting account of her two weeks at Camp Edith Macy, National Girl Scout Training Camp, in Westchester County, N. Y.

The Girl Scout National Convention for 1953 will be held in Cincinnati, October 18th through Oct. 21st. Ten thousand interested workers are expected to attend and hear many prominent speakers. Among those on the program are Lady Baden-Powell, of England, and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt.

Eight reservations have been made from Tidewater Area, and the official delegates from Princess Anne County will be Mrs. Lyman Clarke and Mrs. E. C. Mansfield.

The Scouts of this District will lend a helping hand during the Community Chest Drive, October 20th through 31st.

During this week, the girl scouts will collect clothing to replenish the Welfare Bank, a worthy organization sponsored by the Junior Woman's Club.

The United States Bible Society, Inc. with National Headquarters, Inc. in the old Italian Embassy, 1400 New Hampshire Avenue, Washington, D. C., has launched one of its most worthy crusades in the long and bitter struggle against the menace of communism.

Its program is to place Bibles and/or New Testaments into the hands of the families behind "The Iron Curtain" in their own native languages. . . . This great program, well planned in advance, has created quite a stir among the communist element over in Europe, as well as in the United Nations in New York City, for there has been quite a demand for these Bibles and New Testaments by those oppressed people in those countries, according to Press Release by the United States Bible Society to the newspapers of the country. . . .

This program has had the highest praise and indorsement of American businessmen. Religious and political leaders, as the ONE way to reach the hearts of these people enslaved behind the "Iron Curtain" for as the United States Bible Society points out in their press dispatches to the country, communism is not only anti-GOD, but is likewise anti-Christian, and therefore un-American and anti-American, as well as placing him in economic and political slavery, for it takes away from the human family, the GOD given and ENDOWED right to think, reducing all mankind to the level of the wild animals of the jungle and forest. . . .

The United States Bible Society is calling upon every American Christian to take an active part in this great crusade to help free the Opposed Peoples of the old world through the word of GOD and the truths contained in the BIBLE and the New Testament.

Operation 'Springboard' to Engage Atlantic Fleet in '54

Atlantic Fleet Headquarters announced today that combatant ships of the Fleet will participate in annual training in the Caribbean area during five months this winter. Nearly 100 warships, more than 250 aircraft and 35,000 naval personnel are expected to take part in the operation, "Springboard '54" between November, 1953 and April, 1954.

The operation will be similar to the "Springboard" training conducted in the same waters last winter. It is designed to provide effective, uninterrupted basic training for individual ships and units, and their personnel, in an area of favorable climatic conditions. Long periods of continued fair weather, not available elsewhere in the North Atlantic during the winter months, are normal to the Caribbean area and will allow units much more time for vital basic training than would otherwise be possible.

"Springboard '54" will not be a fleet exercise in the usual sense of the term—with large task forces engaged in war games—but will consist of a series of numerous individual ship and unit training exercises from Key West to Trinidad. Different ships will participate at different times for varying periods of time. Among those scheduled to take part are the battleships Missouri, Iowa, and New Jersey, and six cruisers.

It is anticipated that a liberal policy of liberty and shore leave will be employed, allowing personnel to visit many Caribbean ports. Ports to which visits will be requested

Seahawk Backfield Goes On Rampage; Win 43-7

TOP 'HAWK' SCORER LOST FOR SEASON

BOBBY DERRING

ISAACS CONFRONTED WITH NUMEROUS INJURIES

By BONNIE KEY

Coaches Fred Isaacs and Jim Cooke, like most Virginia Beach fans who last Friday night saw the Seahawks win over Spring Hope, were well pleased with their 43-7 triumph over the spirited but outplayed Tarheels from Spring Hope, N. C.

In amassing their total of 43 points the Seahawks entire backfield of regulars managed to cross over the double lines displaying their potential as one of the strongest backfields in the area. Eddie Mott, end, who had shown very little this season up until last Friday night, suddenly came to life. Mott played a great all around game and walked off with the high scoring honors for the night with two touchdowns in the first period, one a recovered fumble and the other on a 25 yard pass from Bobby Leudke. Other scores were as follows:

In the second quarter both McCall and Leudke scored from inside the twenty. In the third quarter Sanderlin, on a twenty yard gallop added six more points to the cause. Longest run of the night were turned in by the Seahawk "express" Jim Meads and always dangerous Sonny Halstead who scampered for 35 and 45 yards respectively, both were good for T.D.'s.

Leudke made good the single conversion in the fourth quarter to end the scoring for the Seahawks.

Spring Hope's lone score came in the fourth period after a 15 yard penalty against the Seahawks put them in scoring position. Neal Bass scored the touchdown on a 10 yard run. Turner made the extra point for Spring

Hope.

More Injuries
The Seahawks victory was not attained debt free however, for in return for their success they will lose two mainstays in the forward wall. Both Bobby Derring and Bob Coleman will be out for the entire season due to injuries.

Derring an injured knee, acquired before the Spring Hope game and Coleman suffered a fractured arm against Spring Hope. Derring a virtual shoo-in for all conference honors, has turned in a sterling performance in every game thus far, and his absence will cause a glaring weakness in future contests for the Seahawk. Being a senior, Derring has probably played his last prep-school ball game. Although should he recuperate fully Derring can be a welcome addition to any college football roster by next fall.

Coach Isaacs reports numerous other Seahawks still are not at full strength due to previous injuries.

Fowell, Standing, McCall and Tarrall each are hampered by minor ailments sufficient to keep them from being in top shape.

Seahawks vs. Franklin
Tomorrow night the high-scoring Virginia Beach footballers will travel to Franklin, Va. to renew their rivalry with the high school in the distant city. If the Seahawks can continue their winning ways against Franklin, who last week played to a scoreless deadlock with Deep Creek, the following week's game against Kempville will be a natural and no doubt will attract a banner crowd from this area to the new stadium. Franklin should not, although, be taken lightly, a glance at the records can verify this. They will be out there to win and should give the Seahawks a hard night, win or lose.

Being within reasonable driving distance, a large group of Seahawk supporters are expected to be on hand for the opening kickoff scheduled for 8:00 p.m. at Franklin High School.

More Hunters Enjoying Sport In Old Dominion

There can be little doubt that Virginia's hunters are enjoying their sport more and more. Certain it is that the number of persons who go afield is increasing greatly. Your Commission feels a deep responsibility in doing everything possible to maintain supplies of game on which this wholesome recreation depends.

Increase in the numbers of hunters are attested by the fact that there were 24 percent more people holding hunting licenses last year (the fiscal year ending June 30, 1953) than in the year previous. License holders to hunt in Virginia last year were, in round figures, 406,000, as contrasted with 328,000 the year before. Numbers of hunters have almost doubled since 1947.

Virginia's State government is deeply interested in doing everything possible to raise the standard of citizenship, and this Commission feels that it has a particularly important part to play in this endeavor. The recreation of hunting is becoming more and more vital to the people of Virginia. Certain it is that there will be need for aggressive and intelligent game management if the game resources are to be kept up to high state of abundance for the future years.

Fortunately, virtually all species of game are at high levels at this time despite the onslaughts of the hunters in recent years. Some species are showing definite signs of improvement. The Commission is doing its best to see that only the hunt annual surplus is taken by the guns each season, and is engaging in many activities which tend to produce heavier annual crops of game.

The agency is fully departmentalized, with able personnel in every department, with the intent of conducting game management with as high a level of efficiency as can possibly be maintained. Game management in Virginia is a highly important business and is being conducted as such. It is becoming more and more important and intricate as the numbers of hunters increase.

A most encouraging development is the changed attitude of the sportsmen who are being cooperative from one end of the State to the other. There is a fine spirit of helpfulness among sportsmen and their organizations, who realize that the Commission cannot hope to do everything that needs to be done without their help. A great many hunters are frank to admit that they are enjoying the various forms of hunting more than they ever did before. They know that they cannot hope to bring home the great bags of game which were available to a few in years gone by, but they are enjoying roaming the fields and the companionship of their friends. Almost every form of hunting in Virginia is putting a greater premium upon expert marksmanship.

BIGGEST PUBLIC SERVICE TAXPAYER FORKS OVER—Virginia Treasurer Jesse W. Dumas, second from left, receives a tax check for $2,547,508.29 from Nelson and Thomas, a large corporation. It was the largest such payment made to the state by any public service corporation. It represented the 1953 gross receipts and a rolling stock assessment and was due on September 30.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES

By JOHN O. HART, County Farm Agent

"Why Doesn't the South Produce Milk Cheaper? This is the title of one of the most challenging articles on Dairy Management that has been written in one of our Farm Magazines in the past year. What are we doing here in Princess Anne to increase our profits by increasing milk production? One of the important steps that has been made in the last three years is the introduction of our Artificial Breeding Association. By grouping a large number of farmers together in this type of Association we can afford to buy the best proven bulls available in the County. You as an individual cannot afford to pay more than from 300 to 400 dollars for a bull. However, by joining together you can afford to have the services of the highest priced bull available. Here in Princess Anne County we have two men doing our Artificial Insemination work. Johnny Coglandro has been so overworked during this last year that he has had to ask Alice Brown to assist him with this program. The semen that these men are using comes from bulls in the Ashville North Carolina Unit one day and from the Indiana Breeding unit the next. According to the records artificial insemination started in Virginia, 316 artificial-sired heifers have completed their milking records. These heifers averaged 9,279 pounds of milk and 395 pounds of butterfat. They had to produce more than 3 gallons of milk each day to make this record. The increased production from these heifers has meant an additional $20.00 in income over that of the original cows. Many of our dairymen find that calves from artificial inseminated cows are larger, stronger, and healthier than calves produced from their own bulls. One of the questions that many of our farmers ask is whether or not cows will settle as well when bred artificially. During the past year over 40,000 cows were inseminated here in Virginia by experienced technicians. More than 60 percent of these settled on the first service. Many of our dairymen in the State have not had a bull of their own for over ten years. This is an indication of how well the Artificial Insemination Program is working throughout the State. The artificial insemination work being done here in this County is not the whole answer to our problem of cheaper milk production. It does, however, present the opportunity to all our small dairymen of using the best producing bulls in the country at a small cost. If you have any questions concerning our Artificial Insemination Association I hope that you will contact either our two technicians or myself.

Attention Soybean Growers!

Put in One Buck and Take Out 1,333. The total amount of money spent by the Government and all of the states on soybean research is probably well under $5 million. A part of the money—say $3 million—has been spent on variety improvement.

Yes, we all know the Government wastes a lot of our hard-earned tax money. And, by George, it does! But what about this $3 million on soybean variety improvement?

Twelve improved varieties have been released for the various growing areas. Yields are already up 8-7 bushels and oil up over 1 lb. per bushel. When all of these 12 varieties are planted where they are superior, yields will be up 8-10 bushels and oil up 1 1/2 to 3 lbs. per bushel. With 10-cent oil and only the support price per bushel these new varieties return $400 million each year, on an all time investment of $3 million. That is 133 for 1 from now on, but wait!

YOU'RE ONLY AS SAFE AS YOUR CAR!

"Your life is only as safe as your car," says our Governor's Highway Safety Committee. Please take yours to the inspection station of your choice NOW and avoid the last-minute rush. Every year people are denied the legal use of their cars simply because they wait until the stations are too jammed to take care of them.

Dogs Enjoy But Fleeting Fame

Fame is fleeting in the greyhound racing business. Who recalls Russ Park, Grand Leader Black Ruben or Build Up, names of Derby winners at the Cavalier Kennel Club in years past? Even the reputation of the great Fort Apache, star of five years ago, has dimmed considerably so that when he is mentioned it often produces a blank look on the faces of today's fans.

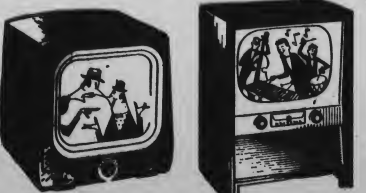

Right now everybody is talking about Classic Night, Headless, Ring Seal, Top Victory, Randa Rance and Y-Vona, outstanding favorites in the 1953 Currituck Derby tournament. The winner of the big stake, October 5, will have his or her name on the tongues of thousands for perhaps a week or two, and then it will be forgotten. By the time next summer's meeting rolls around nobody will recall who the Derby.

This week, however, racing enthusiasts are tense with the excitement of the coming championship contest. With two final rounds of the qualifying tournament to be run Friday, October 2, and Monday, October 5, all the talk is about Randa Rance, Y-Vona, Classic Night and the other popular choices. Nobody mentions Build Up, last year's winner, or Black Ruben, the 1951 Derby champ.

Perhaps the reason the fame of greyhound champions fades so rapidly is because the races themselves are so fast, and the lifetime of a racing dog seldom extends beyond three years. Puppies develop in a few months from raw, gangling youngsters to Grade 1 stars, and as quickly disappear from the scene. Thus far during the Cavalier meeting something over 300 dogs have made a brief appearance, either in schooling or official races, and then disappeared. It's a fast, thrilling sport, with the procession of dogs ever changing.

THOMAS BROWN TAKES CRUISE

Thomas N. Brown, son of Navy Comdr. (ret.) and Mrs. Nicholas A. Brown of 8305 Atlantic Ave., Virginia Beach, Va., is examining the instruments in the cockpit of a Grumman Panther jet on the hanger deck of the Valley Forge.

The Midshipmen took part in the aviation phase of the U. S. Navy Academy's summer indoctrination program aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Valley Forge. During the three-week cruise, the midshipmen observed all phases of the ship's operation, from the flight deck to the engine rooms, and made a carrier familiarization flight in a Grumman "Avenger" torpedo bomber. The 27,000-ton ship, first carrier to complete four Korean combat tours, spent four days in Halifax, Nova Scotia, and returned to Norfolk, Va., Sept. 4.

Mediterranean Cruise Plans Call For Alluring Spring Adventure

Hampton Roads will get another boost as an ocean cruise port on March 27, when a luxury passenger liner will sail from Norfolk bound for a 42-day tour of the western Mediterranean.

Plans for the spring cruise were revealed by M. W. Nordlinger, president of the Virginia Cruise Corporation, a non-profit civic organization formed to stimulate passenger traffic and world trade. Nordlinger announced that the Holland-America Line's luxury flagship, the huge Nieuw Amsterdam, will pick up passengers at Norfolk before crossing the Atlantic for visits to eleven alluring ports in Greece, Morocco and western Europe.

The Nieuw Amsterdam now is the largest passenger ship cruising the Mediterranean.

Nordlinger said, "Our annual Virginia cruises to South America and the West Indies have proved successful. The Mediterranean cruise in March will give hundreds of vacationers and travelers from the southeast and midwest an opportunity to cruise to Europe without first having to spend several days traveling to get to the ship's port of embarkation."

The Virginia Cruise President emphasized that the Nieuw Amsterdam spring cruise will be in addition to the liner Maasdam's January 23 sailing for Latin America. He said, "We are pleased to have two of the excellent Holland-America ships departing from Norfolk within a few weeks of each other—the first to South America and the second to the Mediterranean. These sailings will do much to promote and stimulate interest in passenger travel throughout this area of the country."

Included among eleven ports of call scheduled for the March 27 cruise are Las Palmas, the island of Malta, Athens, Palermo, Naples, Villefranche, Casablanca, Lisbon and Rotterdam. American tourists rank several of these spots among the most beautiful in the world.

The Nieuw Amsterdam has done much to broaden horizons and chop down borders during the postwar travel boom. The tremendous liner (nearly 37,000 tons), which made the 1951 Virginia Cruise to South America, is a product of the world-renowned Dutch shipyard workers. The big vessel not only has opened new vistas for American tourists but, since ocean travel is an important Dutch "export," it has been an important factor in the Dutch economy.

All public rooms aboard the "floating hotel" are air conditioned. The Nieuw Amsterdam boasts the breathtaking Grand Hall, spacious dining rooms, two motion picture theatres, numerous swimming pools, a solarium, Turkish bath, sports deck and a long line-up of entertainment activities and special services.

Nordlinger reported that several reservations already had been booked. He said that the Virginia Cruise Corporation cooperates with local travel agents throughout the United States, who can supply cruise information and book passages.

The cruise group is the joint endeavor of the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce, the Norfolk Port Authority and the 21st Street Business Area Association of Norfolk.

400,000 home fires a year, 1,100 a day and 39 Americans die in fires DAILY. Why?

First, cigarettes and matches. Use Ash-trays! Don't smoke in bed! Don't use a recently lighted match in a waste basket.

Second, keep things clean! Don't leave trash around. Keep your stove clean and free from grease. Use cooking soda if grease gets on fire.

Third, store things carefully gasoline, oily rags, paint, etc., should be stored in air tight containers out of the house if possible.

Fourth, Buy and use electrical equipment carefully. Choose electrical devices bearing the Underwriters' Laboratories tag. Place television, refrigerator where heat from them will not collect. Don't overlook electric circuits. Never touch an electrical appliance while you're in both water or touching a water faucet.

In case of fire do two things! Get everybody out and call the fire department. If you live some miles from the nearest fire station, be sure that you have the following on hand:

(1) fire extinguisher in working order—inspect them and know how to use them.
(2) a water supply—a well or pond accessible from the road.
(3) Ladders to get people from upstairs rooms if stairway is blocked.

Medical Science Far Advanced From That of Scant 50 Years Ago

Some 50 years ago, the general medical conception was that the nervous system was the only coordinating mechanism in the body. At that time the functions of the various organs were explained in terms of their connections with the nerves.

Today we know that there is another coordinating system in the body, one which depends on the blood rather than the nerves to carry its messengers through the body. This system is made up of hormones, chemicals that are formed in a specific organ, course through the body in the blood stream, and induce other organs to act in certain ways.

These hormones play an important part in making you the individual you are, in regulating your growth, your emotions—in short, your well-being.

The hormone-producing organs (there are five of them—the pituitary, the thyroid, the pancreas, the adrenals, and the male and female gonads) operate in a delicate balance. If one overproduces or falls short of its requirements, there is a corresponding change in bodily functions, a change which may range from merely an embarrassing one, like too much hair to mar the female complexion, to a dangerous one, like diabetes (when the pancreas falls down on the job of releasing the hormone insulin, which disposes of excess sugar). The job of medical science in these cases is clear. It must provide more of the hormone in short supply or counter the action of the oversupplied hormone. Substitution is just one facet of

Tree Seedlings Available From Portsmouth Office

The Portsmouth office of the Virginia Forest Service has started receiving applications for tree seedlings that are available to landowners in the counties. A recent inventory of the two tree nurseries showed that approximately 13 million tree seedlings will be ready for winter and spring planting. These trees are sold to landowners at below cost for the purpose of reforesting idle or worn out land, windbreaks, and soil erosion. No applications will be approved for less than 500 trees or for landscaping or ornamental purposes.

During the 1952-53 planting season approximately one half million loblolly pine seedlings were sold and planted in Accomack, Northampton, Princess Anne, Norfolk, Nansemond and Isle of Wight Counties. The number of requests received for these seedlings already indicate a busy winter and spring planting season. If the trees are to be grown for future forest products, which is the main objective of the State-wide planting program, it is recommended that the trees be planted 6 1/2 feet apart in rows 6 1/2 feet distant. This spacing will permit planting 1000 trees to the acre. For areas up to 8 acres, planting by hand is recommended. However, for areas over eight acres, a mechanical tree planter is available on application to the local Forest Service office for a nominal fee.

Those interested in planting seedlings can secure application blanks from the Virginia Forest Service office in Cradock or from the County Agent or Soil Conservation offices. Also a trained forester will make an examination of any proposed planting site and submit a report to the landowner of his recommendation. There is no charge for this service.

hormones, for example, are sometimes given to women, to counter certain conditions which cannot be treated merely by restoring balance of female hormones. A male hormone drug, Neodrol, was used recently in such a manner, to treat cancer of the breast, and brought improvement of symptoms in 87 percent of the cases tested.

The most famous of the hormones, cortisone, is produced by the adrenals, but can be made both synthetically and by fermentation chemistry. Today it is one of medicine's most important weapons in the treatment of arthritis.

This new law provides for restoration on original or successor registers, for priority in certification, and for probational appointment of any veteran:

- (1) Who served in the Armed Forces after June 30, 1950, and is discharged under honorable conditions;
- (2) Whose name appeared on a Civil Service register after June 30, 1950;
- (3) During whose service in the Armed Forces subsequent to June 30, 1950, another eligible standing lower on such register received a probational appointment;
- (4) Who is qualified to perform the duties of the position for which the register on which he is to be placed is established;
- (5) Who applies for restoration within 90 days after (A) termination of active duty, (B) termination of hospitalization continuing for a period of not more than one year after termination of active duty, or (C) July 16, 1953, which ever is later.

Eligible restored and appointed are given seniority and pay benefits based on earliest date a lower ranking eligible was probationally appointed.

The office of the Regional Director 4th U. S. Civil Service Region particularly pointed out those veterans discharged prior to July 16, 1953, who are eligible for these benefits, must apply on or before October 14, 1953.

Why buy fertilizer?

Even though it adds up to a lot of money, you buy it because it pays off in bigger, better crops. That's the way it is on a farm—it's what you get for your money, not what it costs. Your telephone really gives you a lot for your money. It saves time and trouble. Saves trips and travel. Keeps you in touch with markets. Keeps your family in touch with friends. The money you pay for telephone service certainly goes a long way and does a lot of things!

What's the secret?

There's something that goes into good telephone party-line service that the telephone company doesn't furnish. It comes from the user themselves—and the good, old-fashioned name for it is courtesy. To be courteous on the party line means being considerate of others. You simply space out your calls, keep them reasonably brief, and be careful to hang up properly when you've finished. Simple and easy to do—but such things add up to better service for everyone!

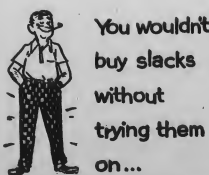

October is a good month to—

Olive beef cows a chance to pick up weight on grass before cold weather... Boost the fall pig crop with a pig starter containing antibiotics... Replant perennial flower borders... Clean up the garden and add refuse to compost pile... Store surplus root crops and cabbage... Plant some walnuts for your children to enjoy... Seed small grains... Pick corn... Cull out the "star" borders from the dairy herd... Feed top-quality hay and silage liberally for high milk production... Store out-of-season clothing... Use apples every day for eating and cooking; can or freeze them for winter meals.

$300,000—the return $400 million. So, you put in 1 buck and take out 133. Where but in research can money be invested with such returns?

Virginia's annual Natural Resources Conservation Week has been set for October 11-17.

The dates were designated by Governor John S. Battle, who issued the following statement:

"It seems appropriate that Virginians of all walks of life should pause annually to take stock of the natural resources that have contributed so much to make ours a great State. In order that we may start ourselves to the importance of protecting and wisely using these resources, I urge all Virginians to join with the National Conservation of Soil Conservation Districts in the third observance of National Resources Conservation Week, October 11-17.

"Since the passage of the Virginia Soil Conservation Districts Act by the 1936 session of the General Assembly, landowners of 96 to 98 agricultural counties of the State have organized 27 Soil Conservation Districts to combat soil erosion and promote a program of wise use of our farmlands and forests.

"This action on the part of Virginia landowners clearly indicates the purpose of this group to unite their efforts to protect the soil and water, forest and wildlife resources on which the present and future welfare of all of us depends. This organized action has accounted for the development of complete soil and water conservation plans for more than 30,000 of the 180,000 farms of Virginia. In addition, thousands of farms have adopted one or more conservation practices as the result of the influence of Soil Conservation Districts.

"Not only has much progress been made in applying conservation, but perhaps of equal significance has been the growing recognition by Virginians of the importance of these resources to the welfare of all the people. This recognition is not only borne out by the assistance provided Soil Conservation Districts by the trained personnel of agricultural agencies, but by the scores of other organizations and thousands of individuals who have so willingly given their time to the conservation movement.

"We should take pride in the accomplishments to date, for these are accomplishments most worthy of recognition. But in so doing, let us not be complacent or lose sight of the importance of the tremendous conservation job that lies ahead.

"I appeal to the citizens of the Commonwealth to pause during National Resources Conservation Week (October 11-17) and take stock of where we are with the conservation job. Then with added determination and zeal for doing the job, I urge you to re-

The MIXING BOWL IT'S FUN TO COOK

Summer, a mostly a memory now—or is it? I expect you'll remember for a long time those hot days and how we struggled to keep cool when we were preparing food for our families.

The children are back in school and part of the planning of foods for them falls upon the school lunchroom manager. Certainly one of the great assets added to schools in recent years is the lunchroom. Students enjoy having appetizing, nourishing hot noon meals. It takes skillful planning and preparation behind the scenes to make it possible to offer health, giving lunches. A protein-rich main dish, a vitamin filled vegetable, hot breads or nourishing sandwiches—easy to eat fruits and cookies and generous amounts of cold milk or hot soup all go hand-in-hand to full-fill anticipation of eager appetites.

After a busy morning—that "Ring of the Bell" that calls the children to lunch is a welcomed sound. And you can be sure there'll be a mad rush in the direction of the lunchroom.

Really we should be proud of our lunchroom managers, for the big responsibility of planning school lunches falls upon their shoulders. They play a vital part in the school day of our youngsters. The Durum Wheat Noodles suggest many economical, nutritious and flavorful foods for these lunches. All of us appreciate a variety of foods—the children especially. Macaroni, spaghetti and noodles—all work wonders combined with beef, ham and chicken for new attractive dishes to please the hungry children and grown folks too.

Here's a Cheeseburger noodle loaf both in family size and for a big size recipe.

By ALISEE
Mrs. Richard Nixon has just been chosen the "Outstanding Homemaker Of The Year" by the Home Fashion League of America and isn't it fitting that this title should go to a charming young wife, mother, homemaker and ex-school marm who has learned the secret of not taking one's self too seriously and being ever gracious, interested and enjoying her good life? Mrs. Nixon's merry attitude about her home, with her children and when her vice-president hubby returns to their Spring Valley home after a rugged day, stands her in good stead for continuing to be one of the most attractive merry matrons of the Capital's present era.

It was because of the qualities she has shown as a clever and original homemaker that she was given the silver homemaker award. Her selection of decor in the Nixon's Spring Valley home was a thing of beauty and a thing of lines. She is clever with her needle and it is a well known fact that Fat Nixon makes many of her own clothes and those of her small daughters, too. She is an excellent cook and has some very special recipes of her own which she likes to share with her friends. Shortly after the vice-president was elected, several curious ladies dropped by the Nixon home to pay their more curious respects. They found the "veep's" pretty wife busy with her making-supper chores in the kitchen. They were invited right out to that room, too, because Mrs. Nixon could not leave the dinner in the oven for a chance of burning-it-a-crip and delaying her husband's evening meal. So, truly, this folkie bit and similar other stories as well as Mrs. Nixon's fine abilities already noted entitle her to that pleasant title of "Outstanding Homemaker Of The Year." And now President Eisenhower has decided that he would send Pat along with Richard Nixon, on their three months trip to Asia, since he wanted the leaders of other nations to find out for themselves what a representative American couple is like.

No one in Tidewater can wear a tiny black, shiny pillbox chapel like Mrs. Fred Haycox. . . . Mrs. George McLean's favorite possession is a lovely portrait of her daughter, Jean in her first pink taffeta party dress, age thirteen, and looking so vivacious and real-like that you'd think she'd be doing down the frame over the mahogany in the McLean drawing room. Brings back flow very much photographs and portraits can mean to parents when their tots grow up. . . . Mrs. E. Guy Robertson, just back from a long

This addition gives firmness and body so that they're easier to cut and drape which is a boon to our designers. Mottled flannels, velvety duvetyn, satiny or surface-sculptured broadcloths are high polished with a silken gloss that's making fashion history in coats, suits, dresses and ensembles.

SILK MAGIC—The bulky look to coats with their large, rounded collars, deep-cuffed or stand-away pockets, low sweeping back belts, barrel, box-fitted or tulip shapes are accomplished first with black, hairy, heavy tweed and fuzzy, corded ottomans made rippling soft by the magical position of silk that miraculously eliminates the weightiness of "too much fabric." Percentages of silk to wool range from two, five and eight percent for coats to eighteen and twenty for glass-smooth suitings. Lighter dressweights increase the proportion of silk to wool to forty, fifty and slightly over fifty percent.

nylon only, silk blended lingerie, fashioned with lace yokes, bibs and collars apex high fashion with moulded Empire bodiced nighties. Little girl charm is a feature of a silk and nylon "sleeping dress" ribbon threaded through the waist, above, shoulder, or neckline, and often teamed to matching petticoat or negligee, sleeveless or bracelet length. Delicately tinted in frosty pink or blue, silk with nylon sightwear is almost as light and flowing as pure silk, making it easy to pack, camp and ethereal to wear in route since travel wrinkles fall out after hanging.

IT'S THE LITTLE THINGS—so many attractive little furnishings are being shown on the counters these days. For instance, Fashion says, "mink collars," and so does every woman if she has an eye for elegance and economy for a Peter Pan ranch mink collar for around eight dollars can give a "flirt" to an old dress-still-good-for-wearing or can be the one elegant touch on a new housewife job. . . . The new wool jersey latch caps are proving to be popular young turbans with their look in back for good fit. These are easy to copy and when unbooked spread out flat. One large brass hook and eye is the only decoration! . . . Pristine white fluffs of argora scattered with star-struck jewels are the newest Italian imports and are called "angel caps." They are hand-shaped on a curve to cling close to the head and guarantee that angel look on first wearing! . . . What with Tom Brigrance winning one of the Coty annual fashion awards for his great fashioning in sportswear fashions, especially his lounging pants, the famous nightclub singer Kay Thompson's narrowed-down trousers that she wears, and have been copied for her feminine fans to wear, are bound to be popular again. They fit so many figures so fabulously. If you have not seen these taper pants, make it a point to do so pronto! . . . The larist necklace, worked in a rope of gold colored metal, to be worn with dangling earrings of the same design and link bracelet are imported and have a chain reaction of brilliant costume news! . . .

lapped-lace beginnings to new dresses, new effects are introduced in some of the finer, dressier footwear this Fall. Leather with a look so like, it just seems to flow from a deep-valled toe point to the slender faceted heel of the slipper brings out the last word, surely, on points. The pointed toe is back and even your toe."

This scene from the hit comedy "Mister Scoutmaster" shows Clifton Webb awarding Cub Scout George "Foghorn" Winslow with a medal for superior bravery in front of 250 other Boy Scouts. Winslow was the main member of the Cub pack, and he went into the wilderness after the disappearance of Clifton Webb's Scoutmaster. The Twentieth Century-Fox production also stars Edmund Gehrard, as a horridly old miser, and Frances Dee as the miser's wife of Southern belle Webb. 4-H CLUB ACTIVITIES

The best club meeting of the month changed hands from September and goes to another club. However, all of the clubs improved over last month and many of the clubs had programs that did not have them before. The club that had the best meeting in October opened their meeting with Bible reading and prayer led by one of the 4-H club members. After prayer the club song leader led in singing the "Star Spangled Banner." Following the opening ceremony the 4-H creed was read by one of the girls in the club. During the program the school sponsor gave a report on the findings of the committee that was set up to nominate a boy and a girl from their club that would compete against a boy and a girl from each club in the County for the H. W. Ozlin Trophy to be awarded at the Achievement Night Program.

The committee on Good Will announced that they would like to bring to the attention of the entire club that they would like to see their club carry on the practice of presenting Good Will boxes to local hospitals to be given to needy people at Christmas time.

The committee on Social Activities did not have a report but asked for recommendations from the floor and the following activities were recommended to the committee to make final plans for their carrying out. Swimming party at Y.M.C.A., a hay-ride, a scavenger hunt, a square and round dance, a theater party, and a dinner party.

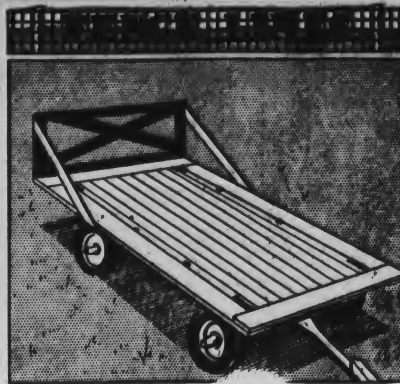

Following the discussion on Social Activities a report was given by one of the members that spent the week at the Atlantic Rural Exposition explaining the Fair as a whole and especially emphasizing the 4-H Beef Show that was held on Wednesday, September 30th. The general session was closed with the 4-H pledge and motto.

After the program the group broke up into five different project discussion groups. The boys project group that takes livestock and field crop projects, the boys' cooking group, two girls cooking groups, and one girls clothing group. These discussion groups were led by the County Extension Agents, school sponsors, and outside leaders.

Some other activities over the County that were very good were had by other 4-H clubs. One club served at a P. T. A. dinner, they also had a skating party after a P. T. A. meeting at which they sold refreshments and cleared $21.00 for their club.

This may be something that other clubs may work on in order that they may have some means of recreation. It may be possible for some of the clubs to have some type of recreational activities at the same time the school is having P. T. A. meetings or other meetings that parents are involved. These activities should, of course, be cleared through your respective school principal before attempting such activities at school. Other activities that were quite interesting at the club meetings were comical songs sung by a quartet and also the playing of musical instruments by girls in two clubs. Some of the clubs have a great deal of talent and they should be encouraged to use this talent as often as possible. It does a great deal in bringing up the entertainment part of the meeting.

H. W. OZLIN TROPHY
Mr. H. W. Ozlin, retired County Agent of Princess Anne County, will award on Achievement Night a trophy to the most outstanding boy and girl from the Senior Clubs in Princess Anne County and to the most outstanding boy and girl from the Junior Clubs in the County. These trophies will rotate from year to year and the club members will hold this trophy for one year only. Clubs have already started to nominate the boy and girl that will compete against the other nominees from the County.

"4-H CLUBS ATTEND FAIR RURAL YOUTH DAY"

Thirty-five 4-H club boys and girls went to the Atlantic Rural Exposition Tuesday, September 29th for the Rural Youth Day Program. The 4-H club folks were chaperoned by County Agent, John O. Hart and local leaders of the respective 4-H clubs in the County. The 4-Hers took an active part in the livestock and farm crops exhibits and it must be said that they enjoyed very much the rides and shows on the midway. This trip sponsored by the 4-H club is an Annual affair and finishes up the Fair season for 1953.

Last week it was mentioned that Billy Oliver, a 4-H'er from Kempsville Senior Club, won second place with his Baby Beef Steer at the Livestock Show. I would also like to mention that Sylvia Anne Miller from the Kempsville Senior Club won first and second place with her Brown Leghorns Poultry Exhibits. Buddy Redfern also won a first place ribbon with his Rhode Island Red Exhibition and Harlan Wood was in the winning bracket with his New Hampshire Reds. In the Garden Exhibit, Doris Humphries won first place with her garden box with Walter Humphries winning second place with his garden box. Walter also won second place in the root box exhibit and fifth place with Irish potatoes. Robert Langhorne won fifth place with his garden box exhibit.

These 4-Hers have put on ex-

Studebaker Keeps Mechanics Up-to-Minute in Unique School

The old adage "You can't teach an old dog new tricks" is being disproved practically every day in South Beach, Ind., where The Studebaker Corporation maintains a year-round service school for automobile mechanics and service managers.

Instructors say that veteran automobile men are learning new "tricks" every day as older methods of servicing cars and trucks are discarded in favor of newer ones which do the job more efficiently and at less cost to the car owner.

Pouring into the school each year from all over the U. S. and from many foreign countries are hundreds of mechanics and service men. Their objective is the same: to learn the newest and most advanced methods of servicing Studebaker cars and trucks.

Study groups are kept numerically small so that individual attention may be given each student by the instructor. An average group has from eight to ten students. Several such groups, each studying a different phase of automobile maintenance under an experienced instructor, are usually in session at the same time.

The "students" whose ages range from the late teens to the 60's, are sent to the school by Studebaker dealers so that their service departments will be thoroughly familiar with the latest maintenance aids and operations. Some of the students enroll in the school every year, others at

Hermitage Will Continue Rollcall

Word has gone out to all local church leaders of the Guild to urge every woman to unite in the effort to secure new and renewal memberships.

The special project is to furnish the new dining hall and kitchen at Hermitage, the Methodist Home in Richmond, Virginia. The dining hall will provide space for over two hundred and will be equipped to take care of future needs. It is estimated that the complete furnishings for the kitchen and dining hall will cost

Fisheries Laboratory Conducts Standard-Setting Experiments

The General Assembly of Virginia at its 1952 session requested that "The Commission of Fisheries and the Virginia Fisheries Laboratory shall conduct experiments to determine the proper size of mesh in fixed fishing devices. In making such determination the Commission and Laboratory shall balance the interest of conservation and a suitable catch."

Not until the summer of 1953 were funds available to permit the employment of a qualified scientist and to purchase the equipment necessary for this work. Dr. George K. Reid, Jr., started his investigations at the Virginia Fisheries Laboratory at Gloucester Point. His preliminary experiments were concerned with determining what sizes of fishes could escape a two-inch mesh net and to observe the behavior of various fishes before certain barriers.

Many visitors to the Laboratory during the summer months were curious to know what Dr. Reid was doing with the fish and nets in the large concrete tank. The procedure, generally, was to measure each individual fish of the group to be tested, then place them in the concrete tank which was lined with a retaining net of two-inch mesh. After allowing time for adjustment, the movements of the fish were noted and timed. Other species frequently attempted to flutter through the mesh on first encountering it. Croakers also showed intense respect for the various barriers used in the experiment. When a barrier made of twine hanging at six-inch intervals from a horizontal rope was placed across the center of the tank, croakers failed to pass it unless they were disturbed. When so frightened the fish darted frantically through the barrier and then slowed down to their usual swimming speed. Even when the suspended twine was spaced at ten-inch intervals, the

Dr. Reid found that croakers, unless disturbed, failed to show any great effort towards escaping the two-inch mesh net retaining them. approximately $24,000.00. A "key woman" is responsible for the Hermitage Guild work in each local church. One thousand of them will be presenting the service rendered by the Home to the women of the Virginia Conference. At present there are sixty men and women receiving care at the Home according to a statement from the Reverend Bernard S. Via, administrator. He says requests come in every day indicating something of the critical need for care in the Home on the part of deserving men and women who have reached the sunset years.

Special interest marks this effort on the part of the Hermitage Guild since the dining hall and kitchen furnishings are given as a memorial to Mrs. George H. Parker, who organized and became first president of the Guild five years ago.

Radar Picket Sub Returns to Base

USS Pompon, radar picket submarine 367, arrived in her newly designated home port of Norfolk Sunday morning at 9 o'clock, fresh from two weeks underway training off Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

She has been assigned to Submarine Division 63 in Submarine Squadron Six, under Captain J. S. McCain, Jr., USN, at the Convoy Escort Piers of the Norfolk Naval Base. Submarine Division 63 is commanded by Commander D. G. Baer, USN.

Built early in World War Two, Pompon was of the Gato-Gallo classes of 1940-42, of which 29 were war losses, more than 11 have become guppies and three were expended at Bikini's atomic tests.

Originally a 1,525-ton fleet type submarine 311 feet long, she sank three Japanese ships between July 25, 1953 and August 12, 1944, and was subsequently assigned to search and rescue work in Pacific waters.

Decommissioned in 1946 at Mare Island, Calif., five years later, Pompon was towed through the Panama Canal to the Philadelphia Naval Shipyard. Her guns were removed, a snorkel added, a thirty-foot section was inserted midships, and she was converted to one of the newly conceived radar picket submarines. As such, she is designed to cruise deep in enemy waters and, partially submerged when necessary, give early warning of imminent attacks by enemy naval and air forces. She will also be on the lookout for downed aviators.

USS Pompon was recommissioned June 15 at Philadelphia and touched Norfolk briefly prior to departing for New London, Conn., and thence Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

Lieutenant Commander John B. Randolph, USN, native of Altus, Arkansas, commands the Pompon. Before assuming command, he had been executive officer of another Norfolk-based radar picket submarine, USS Requin.

Pompon's executive officer is Lieutenant Anthony J. Divito, Pittsburgh native, who came to his present assignment from Vil-

Heavy Duty Kit Proves Popular

Chrysler's heavy duty kit, introduced last summer for special use by law enforcement agencies and other groups requiring cars with maximum performance plus safety, has proven so successful that Chrysler is increasing production of this equipment, reports E. M. Braden, general sales manager, Chrysler Division, Chrysler Corporation.

"The heavy duty kit was first released last summer on 1953 Chrysler New Yorker club coupes and due to the Fire Power V-8 engine's high power potential required comparatively few changes in installation," Braden said. "In addition, for the performance delivered, the kit was relatively inexpensive and as law enforcement groups put it into service the demand increased rapidly."

The heavy duty kit consists of dual carburetors and manifold, a dual exhaust system and mechanical valve lifters and coupled with fully-automatic PowerFlite transmission, produces speeds sufficient to permit law enforcement officers an adequate margin for criminal pursuit. Chrysler's wide range of rear axle ratios—from 3.07 to 4.89—provides maximum performance for all terrain.

In order to provide an extra margin of safety for powerful cars at high speeds, the New Yorker club coupes, equipped with the heavy duty kit, have Chrysler's powerful disc brakes as optional equipment. These brakes, which were introduced as optional equipment on New Yorker models in 1951 and which have been standard equipment on Crown Imperials since that time, are the safest, most powerful brakes offered on any American passenger car.

Cattle Disease Appears Ebbing

Vesicular stomatitis, the virus disease that has been blighting the mouths of Virginia cattle, apparently is closing up shop for the winter, the State Department of Agriculture announces.

Only a few scattered new cases have been reported during the past week, all in the Lynchburg and Northern Virginia areas where the outbreaks were first reported.

State and Federal veterinarians said the disease is following its typical pattern, a run of new cases in the fall, dropping off as winter approaches.

About all beef or dairy farmers can do if an outbreak occurs is call in a local veterinarian to treat the symptoms and help hasten recovery.

Vesicular stomatitis is not new to Virginia, but this is the first time since the drought of 1930 that it has been serious enough to take precautionary diagnostic measures.

Dr. John B. Healy, Assistant Veterinarian in Charge for Virginia of the U. S. Bureau of Animal Industry, has set up animal inoculation tests in the infected areas.

Test results showed the disease to be vesicular stomatitis and not its dreaded first cousin, Foot-and-Mouth disease.

The State has already had a severe outbreak of vesicular stomatitis in hogs, and what veterinary authorities strictly don't want is the third member of the vesicular trio, Foot-and-Mouth.

The vesicular stomatitis is caused by a specific virus. It produces blisters, or vesicles, around the mouth of cattle. Mycotic stomatitis produces no blisters.

Vesicular stomatitis is not a serious disease problem to regular veterinarians. It will mean loss of flesh or milk production for a period, but cattle will recover without crippling or permanent production losses.

Cattle, horses and hogs all get vesicular stomatitis, but humans are immune. Recovered animals are permanently immune to a second loss.

Veterinarians don't know where the virus of vesicular stomatitis comes from, but they do know it spreads rapidly from animal to animal and from farm to farm, even jumping to a new area without warning at times.

To prevent spread of the disease would require elaborate and expensive quarantines more troublesome than the disease, according to the State Department.

At the same time, Department veterinarians are not standing idly by. An animal inoculation diagnosis has been made in each outbreak area, and a close watch is being kept on any new outbreaks.

If the disease continues to fol-

New Plymouth
On Display at Local Showroom

The new Plymouth for 1954 will go on display here today, when the United States today, Wm. O. Thompson, President of Coates Motor Co., Inc. announced today.

The new models have optional power steering and three choices of power drives.

The new Plymouth may be seen here at Coates Motor Co., Inc., 21st and Pacific Ave.

"We are confident that people will like the new beauty of our 1954 cars," says President John P. MacFarland of Plymouth. "We are absolutely certain that they are the most durable, best riding, best performing and roomiest cars that Plymouth has ever built."

Plymouth is using the link type of power steering. The hydraulic "muscle" is in the steering linkage. Plymouth officials say it is the most effective, compact and serviceable installation produced for cars in the low price field. It reduces steering effort up to 50 per cent, operates fingertip control in tight parking situations and promotes safe driving through lessening of driver fatigue and absorption of road shock.

In the 1954 line, Plymouth offers three options in power drives: Hy-Drive, a no-shift unit made up of a combination of torque converter and three-speed transmission, was introduced during the 1953 model year. It will be in mass production for 1954 models. The two other options are Synchro-Silent three-speed transmission and Synchro-Silent with Overdrive, which provides a fourth forward speed for cruising. Mansfield said more than half the Plymouths being produced will have either Hy-Drive or Overdrive.

The new Plymouth line is made up of 11 body types in three series. Aristocrat of the line are the Belvedere and the coupe of the "hardtop" design, a four-door sedan, convertible and suburban steel-bodied station wagon type car, all beautifully color-coded in two-tone combinations. In the Savoy series are a four-door sedan, club coupe and two-door sedan. In the lowest priced Plaza series are a four-door sedan, two-door sedan, business coupe and Suburban.

All models have completely new interiors. Other changes include an increase of 3 1/2 inches in overall length, a new front end styling treatment, new chrome side moldings and modifications in virtually all exterior design features.

Interiors are designed with emphasis on color harmony and modern decor. Seat and back cushions and door side panels are upholstered in new types of fabric which are exceptionally resistant to wear.

Plymouth is introducing a new type of seat cushions with Dual Flex springs. They are made up of a combination of coil springs and jack springs which, working in combination, provide a softer cushioning action in normal riding situations and resistance to "bottoming" when the car hits a bump.

To extend top engine performance over a long period of time, Plymouth is using new silicon chromium alloy intake valves in 1954 models. Exhaust valve inserts have been retained to maintain high compression engine performance in years of service. Other mechanical improvements include a higher capacity oil pump, new improved clutch, and improved electric windshield wipers.

INSPIRED SEAHAWKS TAKE ON KEMPSVILLE FRIDAY

HALSTEAD SCORES FOUR TOUCHDOWNS TO PACE WINNERS

A wild scoring football game staged last Friday night saw the Virginia Beach team coming off on the big end of a 45-6 score with the Franklin High School "Bruisers."

Captain Isaac's "Bronc Buster" displayed an amazing array of talent sufficient to take the third successive game by decisive margins. The Seahawks dropped their first two tilts both conference games, and since then have been hard to cope with. A jugging act with the Seahawk line-up, by head mentor Fred Isaac and line coach Jim Cooke has made a great difference in the team's offense. Franklin last Friday night met the most aggressive Beach team to take the field this year.

How It Happened
Halstead took the opening kickoff for V. B. on the 27 yard line and returned to the 45. The next three plays saw the Beach eleven draw a five yard penalty and lose the ball to the Broncos on a fumble by Jim Meads. Franklin turned at the ball netted 2 yards by Whitley, an incomplete pass and a try for no gain.

Before Franklin again felt the pinball the score was 6-0 the touchdown being made by Terry McCall from 10 yards out after a long series of ground gaining plays. After a kickoff an incomplete pass and a fumble, Virginia Beach again had the ball. Two plays later the score stood 12-0 after Halstead stepped off 8 yards for the marker. Leudke through center made it 12-0 to end the scoring in the first quarter.

A kickoff, a 15 yard loss and a blocked punt later the Seahawk again were at the helm. Leudke for 3 yards, an incomplete pass, Meads picks up 3 yards and then a handoff to Halstead brought the crowd to their feet as he ran through the entire Franklin team for 30 yards and a T.D. The attempted conversion by McCall was no good. The score 19-0.

Franklin on their next series of plays picked up 3 of their 8 first downs of the night and seemed like a clinch to score until Bobby Leudke slipped through the defense to nail Mickey Grey for an 11 yard loss and after two line passes the ball went over to the Beach who ran out the half.

V. B. kicked off to Franklin in the third quarter and after marching about 18 yards, picking up a 1st down, the Seahawks held and took possession on their 43 double reverse saw McCall pick up 27 yards. A complete pass from Leudke good for 21 yards.

McCall through center for 5 yards and the touchdown. Leudke on a sneak fails to make the extra point. The score 25-0.

Scarborough's kick was returned 10 yards by fields. Two tries at the line and an attempted pass result in a 7 yard loss.

Fields punt is returned 23 yards by Sanderlin. V. B. picks up 2 first downs to end the quarter. 8 plays later in the final quarter Sanderlin scores from 8 yards out. Leudke adds the conversion to make it 32-0.

Fields takes the kick for Franklin and returns 15 yards, lose 2 roughs kick is good, 39-0.

Franklin only score came on a sustained drive of 57 yards with Whitley going over from the 5 yard line. Conversion is no good. The score 39-0. The very next play, a kickoff from Franklin taken by Halstead potted the Seahawks a touchdown and the longest run of the night.

yards on 3 plays kick on fourth down.

The Seahawks on the march again, move the ball 56 yards for another T.D. with Halstead carrying the last 25 yards. Scarborough went 80 yards for the score aided by some very good blocking by his teammates. The conversion was no good, so ending the scoring, and a few plays later the ball game.

Seahawk Standouts
On offense for the "Hawks" it was "Slippery" Sonny Halstead who played his best game of the season to date. Halstead seemingly ran down-hill all evening to rack up 24 points and an average gain of 10 yards per try from scrimmage. Close behind was full-back Terry McCall who scored two touchdowns and average 8 yards per try from scrimmage. Sanderlin scored one T.D. and average 6.5 from scrimmage.

On defense it was Bobby Leudke who made some beautiful and timely tackles, together with an almost perfect night as a ball handler. Davis, Standing and Scarborough in the line helped saddle the Franklin Bronco's with good blocking and tackling.

Va. Beach vs Kempville
Tomorrow night marks the game of the year for the Va. Beach Seahawks and the Kempville aggregation. Coach Zisk in his second year at Kempville will bring a strong and determined team to Va. Beach to play in what could well be called the Championship of Princess Anne County.

Hoping to rebound from last week's bitter defeat suffered at the hands of Suffolk 27-7, the Kempville team will not be easily turned back.

A season record of 3 conference wins against one loss, and is in third place behind Churchland and Suffolk.

Isaac's Seahawks in 3 conference games have absorbed 2 losses while winning one, to tie with Great Bridge, Matthew Whaley and Franklin for 5th place in conference standings.

It is interesting to note that Kempville squeezed out a 7-6 win over Franklin early in the season, while the Seahawks had their best night, statistically, of the year against the same team at a later date. Also of interest is the fact that Kempville will be meeting the highest scoring team in the conference in all games played.

The Seahawks have earned 149 points against 38 for the opposition. Kempville in all games played has scored 52 points against 48 for the opposition. Another highlight is the fact that George Sanderlin who last year, was a mainstay for Kempville well this year meet his old school in the green and white of Virginia Beach and is expected to make a good showing for the Seahawks.

Zisk had several minor injuries after the Suffolk game, among them was John Caddy, Davis and Mitchell. All are expected to be ready by tomorrow night, however.

Coach Isaac and Zisk would not commit themselves as to their opinion on the outcome of tomorrow night's contest, but each coaches face reflected the expression of a Las Vegas Card shark fingering a marked deck of cards. Both express their hopes of a good clean game with no injuries for either team, win, lose or draw.

Each team is keyed for this game and feeling runs high with the members of both squads, which is the makings of a good football game. Kickoff time is slated for 8:00 o'clock at Memorial Stadium. A capacity crowd is expected so, come early.

Travel Directors Touring Virginia

Walter N. Chinn, Jr., President of the Virginia Travel Council, announced that travel directors from 6 states and the District of Columbia are now touring Virginia (October 12 through October 17), under the joint auspices of the Council and the Virginia Conservation Commission.

AAA counselors from Ohio, Michigan, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Pennsylvania and Washington, D. C. will visit points of scenic, historic and natural interest in Alexandria, Warrenton, Shenandoah National Park, Front Royal, Luray, New Market, Harrisonburg, Staunton, Lexington, Natural Bridge, Blue Ridge Parkway, Charlottesville, Richmond, Williamsburg, Yorktown, Newport News, Virginia Beach, and Fredericksburg.

The 35 counselors make up the twelfth group of its kind brought to Virginia by the Council in an effort to educate those who direct travel throughout the nation on places to see in Virginia, thereby stimulating travel to the Old Dominion.

Representatives of travel interests in each area to be visited will be host to the group and meet with them in an effort to "sell" their community or attraction as a travel destination. Over 65 points of interest have been included in the itinerary covering the seven day tour of Virginia.

OCEAN BOWL TO PIT TRADITIONAL RIVALS NOV. 13; BIG EVENT PLANNED

PARADE TO PRECEDE GAME

On October 9, 1953 a committee met at Oceana High School to complete arrangements for the scheduled Ocean Bowl Game to be played November 13 at Oceana stadium. Mr. Elmer Meeks, Mrs. Leonard Hatchew, Mrs. Milton Ferrell, Mrs. Edith Kenyon, Mr. Edwin Charles, Mr. Bill Bowman, Mrs. Mary Barnes, Mr. M. P. Strickler, and Mr. J. Warren Littleton named the committees that will be in charge of the game to be played by Kempville and Oceana High Schools. The rivalry that has long existed between these two schools is expected to help create a thrilling game.

Preceding the game there will be a parade composed of the Oceana-Kempville bands and various floats from the two schools. Miss Edith Kenyon and Mrs. Milton Ferrell are in charge of the parade. Pre-game festivities will begin at 7 p.m. Mr. Elmer K. Meeks and Mr. Clyde Whitehead are in charge of the Flag Committee and Mr. Edwin Charles and Mr. James Jackson are in charge of decorations which will be done by the individual schools. Mr. Clyde Whitehead is in charge of all tickets.

An Ocean Bowl Queen and her court, consisting of one representative from each class will be chosen from Oceana High School. The Kempville High football squad will choose a Team Queen and her court. The court will consist of one representative from all high school grades.

Before the game tickets may be obtained for students at $7.50, adults at $1.50 and reserved seats at $2.00. There will be no reserved seats or student tickets at the gate. There will be 100 reserved seats for each school.

Mrs. Louise Lee of Kempville and Miss Ruth Gorman of Oceana will be in charge of chrysanthemum corsages. They may be ordered before the game and will be sold during the game.

Both schools are planning Homecoming dances following the game. Mrs. Louise Lee is in charge of the Kempville Homecoming Dance.

In charge of the usher committee is Mr. Bill Bowman; the correspondence committee is composed of Mrs. Milton Ferrell, Mrs. Sally Williams and Miss Rebecca Bohannon. Mr. Edwin Charles is in charge of program ads.

The Ocean Bowl this year is going to be a big affair. The population of Princess Anne County is solidly behind it. Kempville and Oceana plan to make this a game to be remembered.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES

By JOHN O. HART, County Farm Agent

Due to favorable weather conditions our soybean crop here in Princess Anne will be ready for harvest in many fields during the next two weeks. The 55 farmers enrolled this year in the Princess Anne County Soybean Growers Club are looking forward to a large increase in their soybean yields for the current year. During March and April of this year the Soybean Committee, a part of the County Board of Agriculture, set up the rules and regulations for their second Soybean Growers Contest.

A definite goal of production was not set by the committee, but we are hoping to increase our county production of soybeans to 40 bushels per acre within a very few years. Through the work of this Growers Club, of all of the crops that we grow here in Princess Anne we probably know the least about this, our second most important crop. Through this Growers Club our Soybean Committee hopes to encourage the use of the most up-to-date practices. At the time that our 55 members enrolled in this Program a soil sample was taken from each field, and on the basis of these sample reports recommendations were made for the necessary lime, fertilizer and seed variety. Each member has also agreed to keep a careful account of their seed, fertilizer and lime. The expenses of planting cover crops, cultivation and harvesting will also be figured in. Official yields per acre will be determined from their weight after the beans taken to the market. Each member was encouraged to enter a field large enough so that the beans harvested could make up at least a truckload. Many of the fields have already been measured and the size of others will be determined from aviation maps of the farms. The 1953 Soybean Growers Club got off to a wonderful start with a Steak Dinner at the Pine Tree Inn on April 2nd. This meal was donated with the well wishes of Davis Brothers Grain Company. Mr. M. F. Lacy, Extension Agronomist of the VPI Extension Service was the principle speaker at this meeting. Other Companies that have shown an interest to our Growers Club by donating prizes are George Telf and Sons, P. S. Royster Gunno Company and D. W. Warren Company all of Norfolk. The Princess Anne Ruritan Club is planning to supply another Steak Dinner to wind up the club activities later in this winter.

Our Soybean Committee is made of J. O. Hart, J. E. Dudley, John J. Miller and Earl Tebault. These men join with me in wishing our growers a great deal of success during this harvest season. We will be satisfied with a 35 bushel average. Show us our goal is not too high.

COMING TO BEACH

Favorites of Clark Gable and Ava Gardner are in for a treat next week when the pair will co-star in the movie, "Mogambo" at the Beach Theatre. The film will be shown for four days starting next Wednesday.

Spooks Dangerous, Johnson Says--Traffic Spooks, That is

"Halloween is just around the corner, and the traffic robbers will get if you don't watch out!" This isn't an idle threat from the kindergarten set, it's a deadly serious warning from, of all people, Chief Reeves J. Johnson. "Sure, I believe in goblins," Chief Johnson said today as he discussed the dangers that lurk in Virginia Beach streets on Halloween. "But don't get me wrong. I'm not talking about the spooks that bring scared screams from the youngsters. The robbers I fear, are the traffic goblins who victimize unwary kids as they go about their 'haunting' on Halloween."

The Chief spoke in support of the Night Traffic Hazards program which the Virginia Beach Police and the Governor's Highway Safety Committee are conducting during October.

Chief Johnson pointed out that youngsters are likely to let rules go by the board in the excitement of scaring and being scared on Halloween. He said many of the child fatalities and injuries that occur on this holiday are caused by youngsters dashing out into the street often dressed in dark costumes and wearing masks.

"Masks prevent the children from seeing clearly," Johnson said, "and dark costumes prevent the motorists from seeing them. It would help a lot if parents would try to get the kids to take off the masks when they go outdoors. Parents should also see that the youngsters wear only light colored costumes or outfits trimmed with white or reflectorized material."

"The best way to keep the kids safe," Johnson said, "is to keep them off the streets. I know this isn't easy, but if parents plan home or community parties, it can be done."

Chief Johnson urged parents to band together to see that sufficient parties and gatherings are provided in their communities to keep youngsters entertained. If this is done, he said, there will be little inducement for them to go roaming the streets. He also reminded motorists to keep a constant look-out for children and to be especially careful when driving in residential areas.

Need for New TB Facilities Urgent, Pinckney Declares

"The need for additional treatment facilities for tuberculosis patients in Virginia is urgent," Thomas Pinckney of Richmond, President of the Virginia Tuberculosis Association recently, following a joint legislative meeting of the Virginia Tuberculosis Association and the Virginia Conference of Tuberculosis Workers.

"The aim of our association and the State Board of Health at the 1954 session of the General Assembly is to obtain appropriations sufficient to provide 800 new hospital beds, including badly needed surgical facilities, during the next four years," he said. "If we are to cope successfully with the estimated 10,000 active cases of tuberculosis in Virginia, we must have these basic facilities," he continued.

Mr. Pinckney said further: "The legislative requests being made at the coming session of the General Assembly do not by any means represent total needs. Our recommendations are based on the findings of the Study of Tuberculosis which was made in 1952, and which recommended 1,410 additional tuberculosis beds for the State. Chief emphasis is being given to providing beds for Negro patients to obtain a 400 bed sanatorium for white and Negro patients in the lower Tidewater area, and to provide surgical facilities for tuberculosis patients."

Another legislative objective outlined by Mr. Pinckney calls for the establishment of 18 regional chest clinics at strategic locations throughout the State. The clinics would provide services to patients prior to their hospitalization, and would also follow the progress of patients after they are released from the sanatorium.

The Study of Tuberculosis in Virginia was conducted in 1952 by a staff of nationally recognized public health authorities which was assembled by the American Public Health Association. It was sponsored and financed by the Virginia Tuberculosis Association, its affiliated local associations, and the Virginia State Department of Health.

Here it is October 15th and very special too, it starts off another exciting week for good eating. It's National Macaroni Week! So between October 15th and 24th be sure you celebrate this occasion with some tasty dishes for your family.

The origin of macaroni is hidden in many legends. Those who seek information in myth and legend find many references to this ancient food.

In Italy, for example, such community seemed to have a favorite way of preparing macaroni. Romans prepared theirs in strips. In Bologna, flat ribbons were preferred. In Sicily they twisted sections of dough on knitting needles to form dried spirals.

Today as always, everyone seems to have a favorite form of macaroni—enjoyed for its bland flavor, its economy and the countless delicious ways it can be served. Macaroni foods continually grow in popularity. So with good reason you can tempt your family with new dishes from the durum wheat during National Macaroni Week, October 15-24. Introduce them to anyone of a dozen—plan to fit your menu and budget.

Main dishes are just a beginning. Soups, salads and desserts can be made from these products every bit as satisfactorily.

In honor of National Macaroni Week, you may find a delectable new dish fit for company or family. Salmon Macaroni Bisque tastes especially good on these crisp fall evenings. This soup is hearty enough that only a salad and dessert are necessary to complete this supper. From the test kitchen of the Durham Wheat Products Division comes a tempting spaghetti and cheese recipe and here it is.

Cool fall weather gives "new" inspiration to those who like to experiment with old-time favorites and change them to suit the tastes of your family and the food budget. Try this variation of a simple main dish that will send the diners back for more of this tempting Spaghetti and Cheese Casserole.

REALLY MILLIONS

By ALLEN
Misses Eisenhower, Pat Nixon, the Duchess of Windsor, Mrs. Chase and many other well-known merry matrons are partial to wearing pearls. Whether with silk, satin, fur or tweed, pearls are smart for the matron around the neck and lend the soft touches to her face and hair-line. Now that pearls are serving as important color accents to the fall 1953 costumes, and the costume pearls may be purchased in pastel shades, it's a nice fashion for merry matrons to keep in mind. Mrs. Eisenhower is especially partial to pearls, a single strand with simple earrings to match. The Duchess of Windsor often estimated she was "not the pearl type," yet her baroque pearl three-row necklace of perfectly matched oysters, baroque pearls, valued at $25,000, are her favorites with her tweed and wool suits. At any rate, whether you can afford the real sure-nuff pearls or the synthetic pearls, their luster and softness are definitely "musts" for a merry matron's accessory collection. They DO so much for one!

Winifred Nixon Greene, one of Virginia's really fine artists, is a Beach resident who has proved her indomitable courage in a most amazing fashion the past few years. We are all so proud of her, too, because of the way she did not let a falling-illness deter her from expressing her great artistic talent. Now, Winifred paints—as her friends declare—more beautifully and with more softness, loveliness, than ever before her illness and with only using her one hand, her left hand! Some of her flower paintings, especially of the Virginia camellias, are unbelievably lovely. This wonderful woman lives with Miss A. Laura Archibald, another fine artist, at 408 15th Street, extended, and it would be so nice for more artists, matrons of the Beach to visit Winifred Nixon Greene and see her paintings and encourage her to keep painting more and more of these beautiful pictures for all of us to enjoy. My hat's off to Mrs. Greene. It has taken an iron determination to begin such a great art all over again and under such often discouraging and trying circumstances!

Mrs. George A. Aldrich, wearing coffee-brown wool jersey dress with softly manipulated shoulder lines, brown accessories and the perfect pink hat untrammelled it was and oh so saucy! It was easily the happiest, merriest matron attending the Virginia Federation of Woman's Clubs' Sixth District meeting at the Cavalier Club last week. A glimpse of her happy smile and merry eyes just perk you up when you feel as if you are carrying the world on your shoulders. A merry eye-winkle and a happy smile makes the owner feel good and others who see her a million times happier.

In this steaming casserole. It's rich with both plant and animal protein from the spaghetti and cheese. Milk adds extra nourishment, too.

Accompany these individual casseroles of Spaghetti and Cheese with crisp salads or relishes and buttered toast sticks. As a final touch to the meal serve hot spicy apple sauce with peanut butter cookies. This is a meal you'll want to repeat often for those busy days.

Spaghetti and Cheese Casserole
4 ounces elbow spaghetti
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 tablespoons enriched flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups milk
1 cup shredded American cheese
1/4 cup chopped green pepper
Pimiento strips

Cook spaghetti in boiling salted water until tender (about 6 minutes). Drain and rinse. While spaghetti is cooking, melt butter or margarine in saucepan. Stir in flour and salt. Add milk and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add cheese and stir until well melted. Fold in spaghetti and green pepper. Pour into 1 1/2 quart casserole or 4 individual casseroles and bake in moderate oven (350 degree F.) about 30 minutes. Garnish with pimiento strips. Makes 4 servings.

If water is quiet when ducks come over, flip a pebble of two near your decoys to make rings as a feeding duck would make; or tie a string from the anchor cord to the blind and jerk it sharply.—Sports Afeld.

STRAIGHT From the SHOULDER . . . Fashion, That Is!

(Turn in to Radio Station WAVY—1250 on your dial for latest fashion news, interesting news about people, places, stuff and things by Alice Brewer White each day, Monday through Saturday, 9:00-9:30 a.m., NBC—New Tidewater, Sept. 19.)

When Tom Brigrance—Born in Waco, Texas, bachelor Tom Brigrance is of French-English descent, is known in the fashion world as Brigrance and has just been the highest honor the fashion world can pay by receiving the eleventh annual Coty's American Fashion Critics' Award for design. This award's symbol of fashion is a bronze trophy called "Wardrobe" designed by the noted American sculptor, Malvina Hoffman. The top winner and two other Special Award winners were designated by a jury of more than seventy fashion editors of fashion magazines, syndicates, and metropolitan newspapers. Brigrance was cited for the influence of his designs on the American scene's versatility, and his flair for cut, shape and color. He creates not only sportswear but coats, suits, dresses and at-home wear of coats and suits, the American spirit in line and cut which is the essence of his creed. He has the unique distinction of being the sole designer for two separate large New York fashion firms: Frank Gallant, Inc., makes of coats and suits, and Sportswear, Inc., manufacturers of sportswear and at-home costumes.

TEXTILES' 3-D NEWS—News in the textile field is strictly three-dimensional. Newest Paris fabrics are the ones that "come out at you" such as scalloped surface ottomans, satins or silks that give an extraordinary impression of thickness and relief. Brocade patterns are no longer flatly woven into the material but they "stand out" like designers in plaster's what won't they think of next? The movies really started something, didn't they? What with a full page photo of Sophie Tucker in the latest copy of Vogue titled "3-D Mamma On A Golden Jubilee!"

SEASON'S SOFTER STYLING IS FASHION-RIGHT — Women across the nation are finding a pleasant surprise this season. Fall's softy-tailored fashions and extremely smart this Fall with the incoming flood of beautiful new wool fashions which are softly styled and include important trends, silhouettes and details.

That fits the need of every woman. The new flat-front dresses have swept-to-the-back fullness for the woman who looks best in the slim lines but needs flat and wrinkle to feel and look her feminine best. Fabric manipulation at shoulder lines, and soft figure-flattering detail in the bodice are to be a hit with those women with figure problems and those without. Gentler styling in suits is a boon, too, especially to the mature or larger woman. Molded lines and graceful touches appear even on the most "streamlined" tailored suits this season. These are easy-to-wear details becoming and attractive to almost every type.

THE NUMBER ONE SPOT: PEARLS—A glance at the news photos of women of all ages appearing daily in our newspapers and magazines throughout the country has convinced fashion men that a string of pearls around the neck holds the number one spot as an accessory in a woman's wardrobe today. Dedicating its efforts for the last forty years to perfecting the "cocoona pearl," the famous Marvella company may rightly accept the credit for the complete acceptance of the pearl necklace by women in all walks of life. Marvella's designs for this Fall not only include the regular necklaces, earrings and bracelets but unusual pieces combining pearls with rhinestones in gleaming settings of synthetic gold and rhodium. This last named metal has won an important place in the manufacture of costume jewelry because of its ability to give pearls and rhinestones that "real" look which only real pearls and real jewels set in platinum give. The "dowager" dog collar, looking precisely as beautiful as many of the fabulous "real" stone necklaces worn at the coronation, is typically a Marvella design. An exquisite 3-D (there goes that new fashion description again!) A rhinestone leaf spray ornament with free swirling pearl-shaped center stone, is strung on a seven-strand collar of pearls.

IT'S THE LITTLE THINGS—The sole fur note of a daytime coat or dress might be elbow length Norwegian fur gloves. . . . Vogue insists that this year's costume will be a little shorter and closer than the now-popular Italian one. . . . out which each put in top the hair but cut-in. . . . As the days grow shorter during the months of October and November it will pay dividends to start using lights in your laying house to maintain a high rate of egg production. Your hens should have a minimum of 12 to 14 hours of light provided during the day. Many of our flock owners are having excellent results using 16 to 20 hours of light. Regardless of the system that you decide on, you should follow this without change once it is started. Your hens are also creatures of habit, and regularity in the use of lights is much important.

In signaling the number of lights that you will need in your laying house you can figure on a 40 watt lamp for each 200 square feet of floor space. These light bulbs should be located so that they shine on the nests as well as on the mash hoppers and waterers. The real benefit seems to come from the light shining directly on the birds rather than just on the feeding area.

For those of you who like to sleep through the early hours of the morning, there is a small automatic time switch on the market that will turn the lights off regularly at the given time. If you have not already planned to use lights this winter for your laying flock you should investigate the possibilities soon. The increase in egg production will more than pay for the extra cost of the electricity. Additional information on this is available both from your Feed Dealer and from this office.

are having excellent results using 16 to 20 hours of light. Regardless of the system that you decide on, you should follow this without change once it is started. Your hens are also creatures of habit, and regularity in the use of lights is much important.

In signaling the number of lights that you will need in your laying house you can figure on a 40 watt lamp for each 200 square feet of floor space. These light bulbs should be located so that they shine on the nests as well as on the mash hoppers and waterers. Modern 'Johnny Appleseed' Sows Pine to Replenish State Forests

Who is the Johnny Pineseed of '53? Before telling his story let's look back a moment in history. In the year of 1896 a young man left his warm cabin and a budding orchard near Pittsburgh and started down the Ohio River. The two canoes he lashed together carried a curious cargo into the then wilderness. This cargo was apples. For 50 years this man tramped all over Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, starting orchards beside cabins and on river banks. The Indians named him "The Great White Medicine Man" because he scattered seeds of healing herbs. To the pioneers and to us he is known as "Johnny Appleseed."

Even today the farmers in West Virginia point proudly to the thriving old trees sprung from Johnny's seed brought west by the pioneers whom he met on their westward journey.

Now in 1953, more than 140 years later, we find other outdoormen rallying to the same idea old Johnny started in 1896, the major difference being that instead of one lone figure, there are about 250,000 Virginia hunters, fishermen and sportsmen sowing pine seed.

This was brought about by the 1953 General Assembly, which passed a resolution asking the Virginia Forest Service to prepare small envelopes of pine seed for distribution with each purchase of a hunting and fishing license. The envelopes measure 2 1/2 x 1 1/2 and have a gummed flap. They are glassine, thus permitting the seed to be seen. The Johnny Pineseed of the Piedmont and Tidewater Virginia will receive loblobly pine seed in their envelopes, while the Johnny Pineseed of the Mountain section will receive white pine.

The sportsmen plant these seed in an effort to keep good timber growing in their hunting and fishing areas. The Johnny of 1896, could he look back, would marvel at the expansion Virginia sportsmen have made of his idea. But, to these sportsmen, who will enact the part of Johnny Pineseed this year, it's a chance to help reseed a large number of areas while enjoying a day with the rod or gun.

Many of these seed will be planted while these careful sportsmen are "healing in" their pine-sabes or crushing their cigarettes and matches into damp mineral soil. Others will be planted around campfires where campfires have been safely extinguished.

Possibly in the not too distant future landowners and sportsmen alike will point proudly to the thriving pine trees which were planted and protected from fire by the modern day "Johnny Appleseed"—The Johnny Pineseed of '53.

KELLAM INDICTMENT NOT CAMPAIGN ISSUE DECLARE MOST OBSERVERS OF CASE

The income tax evasion indictments against Sidney S. Kellam and four other stockholders of the Beach Taxi Company that was handed down in a federal grand jury in Richmond a week ago should not become an issue in the current political campaign for governor, according to many veteran political observers.

The indictment resulted in the resignation of Kellam as State director of the Democratic Party's campaign for the offices of governor, lieutenant-governor and attorney general.

Kellam immediately issued a statement in which he said the action "was inspired by a desire to embarrass the Democratic campaign for which I was named manager." He said the action was "timed."

At least one other high political figure shared Kellam's view. He was United States Senator Harry F. Byrd, head of the State organization, who said that the indictment was a "political move" by the Republicans in this election year.

Governor John S. Battle, who was attending a Governor's conference in Kansas City at the time of the release of the indictment, said that "he was distressed and shocked at the news, but that he felt Mr. Kellam had not intentionally violated the law."

C. Leonard Fisher, a Virginia Beach resident, was listed as the only witness to appear voluntarily before the grand jury. Fisher issued a formal statement as the Democrats charged the indictment was motivated by politics, and the Republicans issued a statement to the contrary.

Fisher said along with Kellam was Herbert A. Holt, Jr., Frank Gresham, W. Russell Hatcher, and William F. Hudgins. The indictment covered tax returns for the years 1944-1947.

In answering a charge by Kellam that the action was "timed," Fisher said: "No statement is further from the truth. I am perfectly willing to accept the responsibility of having forced the issue."

Fisher said he took it upon himself to bring the issue to the front because of his interest in "fair enforcement of the law without regard to particular protection being afforded any individual."

Text of Kellam Resignation

The following is the complete statement of Sidney S. Kellam made on Thursday, October 15, the day after a grand jury returned an indictment against him and four other stockholders of the Beach Taxi Company on tax evasion charges. The statement was made at the time of Kellam's resignation as state campaign manager for the Democratic nominees for governor, lieutenant-governor and attorney general.

"The unprecedented indictment on yesterday came as a complete surprise and shock to me. I had no notice of the proceedings nor was I given an opportunity to appear and state my side of the case to anyone."

"I had only a small financial interest in the taxi corporation. I earnestly urge all of the people to wait until the facts have been presented before passing judgment and at that time, I have every confidence that my name will be cleared."

"It is significant that the indictment was returned less than three weeks before a hotly contested election in which the Virginia Republican leaders are seeking to gain control."

"It is obvious that the time of this unusual presentation to the grand jury, made by a District Attorney who was appointed on the recommendation of the Virginia Republican Party, is a deliberate attempt to embarrass the Democratic campaign for which I was named manager by the Democratic State Committee."

"The charges of unfair and unjustified action are these charges made against me by the Democratic Party in this election. The indictment has been timed so that a trial will be held prior to the election. However, in view of my position as manager of the Democratic campaign, I do not want in any way to embarrass either the party or its nominees for Governor, Lieutenant Governor and Attorney General, and in order not to divert (Continued on Page 4)

Community Chest Workers Anticipating Encouraging Report on Monday Night

A Kick-Off Meeting of the Princess Anne County-Virginia Beach Community Chest was held Monday night at the Virginia Beach High School. More than 150 Volunteers, workers attended the meeting to receive Solicitation Kits and instructions for conducting the drive. For the first time in the history of the Community Chest, more workers from the County were in attendance, than from the City of Virginia Beach. Much interest and enthusiasm was displayed by all in attendance.

General Chairman for the Drive, is B. M. Stanton, State Senator V. Alfred Eldridge heads the County Division, and Lewis E. Smith heads the City Division. Mrs. Paul B.

Maestas is chairman for the City Residential section, while Howard S. Myers is Chairman for the Business division. Mrs. P. B. White is chairman for North Virginia Beach. Neighborhood Chairmen have been appointed for every area in both the County and City, with volunteer workers under each chairman. The Drive is well organized for a successful campaign, and the Monday Night meeting set the wheels in motion.

General Chairman Stanton made an appeal for all to give out of the fullness of their hearts. He explained that the Goal this year is a total of $22,000, an increase of $5,000 over last year. He made a special appeal to those residents of the County and City who live in the City of Norfolk. He urged them to recognize that the City-County Drive is separate and apart from the Drive in the City of Norfolk, that "our agencies must be supported by our people living within the County, and that it is only fair that those who live in the County, but work in Norfolk, should at least split their contributions so that the County Drive will at least receive a portion."

The First Report Meeting of the Drive will be held Monday night, October 26th at 8 p.m. at the Virginia Beach High School. Report Forms have been furnished the Drive Workers, and the first reports should be turned in at the 26th meeting.

Unpaved Mileage Guide to Road Funds -- Stanley

Counties with the most unpaved roads will receive greater benefits under a system of highway fund equalization, Thomas B. Stanley, Democratic candidate for Governor, plans to put into effect under his program.

By this method, a substantial part of any additional money made available for secondary roads would be divided between counties on a basis of unpaved mileage. All other funds set aside for highway purposes would continue to be equalized under the four factors now in use, area, population, mileage, and traffic.

"I traveled over Virginia and the sight of so many unsurfaced roads have convinced me that something should be done for the more unfortunate counties," he said. "We must get our neighbor out of the mud or off the rough road. We have at present 26,000 miles of unpaved roads in the State out of a total mileage of 48,532 administered by the State Highway Department."

"The plan I favor will not work to the detriment of the more progressive areas. Funds appropriated for highway use would continue to be apportioned on the old basis, thus assuring each county as much money as it has had in the past. But a part of any additional money we get for this purpose would be divided among the counties on a basis of their unpaved mileage. This will bring them considerable additional financial help, which they can use (Continued on Page 3)

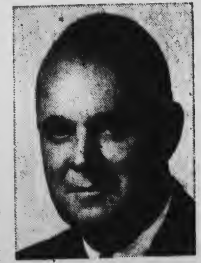

Questionnaires Now in Mail

Robinson whose headquarters are located in Franklin, Virginia.

According to Census Bureau definition, large farms are any which meet the following specifications: 1,000 acres of land in farm, 750 acres of all cropland, 200 cattle on hand, 500 sheep on hand, 10,000 turkeys raised, 70,000 chickens sold, 14,000 lay chickens, 400 cattle sold, 5,000 sheep sold, 200 hogs sold, 250 acres of orchard, 300 acres of vegetables, 200 acres of potatoes, 70,000 square feet of greenhouse area, and 300 acres of nursery.

Sewer Extension Bids to be Read Next Tuesday

Bids for the extension of sewer lines in South Virginia Beach will be opened on October 27, according to a report made by Acting City Manager A. Worth Petty to the Virginia Beach City Council at its meeting last Monday night.

A bond issue for the sewerage work was approved last spring when the electorate voted a $300,000 bond issue for the work.

Council also agreed to petition the Princess Anne County Circuit to name a board of tax qualifiers for the city.

It was pointed out by Mayor P. F. Murray that since the city had moved from the status of a town it had never had an equalization board and there are now some unequal assessments that need attention. Previously a county board handled such matters.

An ordinance was approved prohibiting stoppage of natural drainage or waterways in the city as a mosquito-control measure.

A fine of $5 to $100 would be imposed for first violation under the ordinance; on second offense, a 60-day jail term might be imposed.

The council approved bills for engineering service in connection with the recent annexation suit of $17,000 by Milton Sturgeon, Engineers, and $3,400 to the law firm of Wilcox, Cooke and Wilcox for legal services in the annexation.

Mayor Murray informed council members that he would meet with them soon to discuss additional fees to the council's attorney, Roy Smith, in connection with these same suits.

Held over for discussion were bills from auditor M. Lu Goodman, for $1,970 for the annual city audit for the year ending June 30, 1953, and $2,301 for a special tax audit.

A Princess Anne grand jury investigating a recent jail break at the Princess Anne County Jail reported Wednesday to the court in which it listed 11 points in the form of recommendations to insure better security in the jail.

The grand jury found many instances of neglect and noted these in its report. It reported that the Sheriff and his deputies had disregarded accepted jail practices in the operation of the county jailhouse.

Another point brought forward by the jury's findings was the fact that the chief of police of the county had not been notified of the jailbreak in question. It was also disclosed that the police chief had not been notified when one of the escaped prisoners had been returned to jail.

The jury reported stated that it had learned through hearing of witnesses that 15 prisoners had escaped during the term that Sheriff C. Roger Malbon has served as the county's sheriff.

The report contained the judgment of Sheriff Malbon in allowing prisoners to use the jail's corridors and it suggested better supervision of the jail.

The report was respectfully submitted and was signed by all of the jurors, of which Charles S. Dean served as foreman. The recommendations follow:

1. During any and all visits hours, sufficient deputies should be on duty to receive and discharge all visitors and also to properly guard the prisoners.
2. That all dispatchers, radio and telephone operators, shall not be allowed or permitted to receive or discharge either visitors or prisoners.

Berkeley Chosen Clericus Head

The Rev. Edmund Berkeley, rector of the Galilee Episcopal Church, has been elected president of the Episcopal Clericus of the Norfolk area at a meeting Monday night in the Church of the Epiphany.

Other officers elected are the Rev. Chancey Minnick, Trinity, Portsmouth, president; the Rev. Charles E. Taylor, St. James, Portsmouth, secretary; and the Rev. Frank Rose, Church of the Ascension, Norfolk, treasurer.

The meeting was addressed by Lawrence M. Cox, of the Norfolk Redevelopment Authority, who gave an illustrated lecture on "Slum Clearance."

Kempville Lions Provide New Eye-Testing Device to School

One of the most modern instruments for detecting defective vision, a Keystone Yelebocular Eye Screening machine, was recently installed in the Kempville School. The machine, which is being used by teachers of the school who have been trained in its use, is a present to the community by the Kempville Lions Club, which was organized some months ago.

D. Hitt who with John Fentress and Dean Polk, make up the club's sight conservation committee, said this week. "Sight conservation is the most important phase of practicing Lionsism, and our club, too as yet small, is determined to do all we can to preserve and correct, when such correction is necessary, the precious eyesight of our children."

Don Meadows, club president, in discussing the project, declared

3. That the key to the jail should at all times be kept in the possession of the Sheriff or the Deputy then on duty.

4. That a daily inspection be made of the jail by the Sheriff or his deputies for instruments which might be capable of being used for escape.

5. That a complete check be made daily of the number of knives, spoons, forks and other utensils used in the jail in order that these articles could not be kept by any of the prisoners.

6. That no person shall be allowed in the jail or corridors except in the presence of the Sheriff or one of his Deputies.

7. That a daily record be kept of any person visiting or entering the jail listing the persons name and address and the persons that he desires to see, the time of admittance and departure.

8. That all packages be examined before being permitted in the jail for delivery to any prisoner.

9. That the Sheriff should instruct all Deputies as to the necessary security measures to be used by them to prevent escapes and for the proper supervision of the jail and prisoners.

10. That the Sheriff or his Deputies should be certain that all doors are securely fastened upon entering or leaving the jail.

Firemen Again Turn Out 100% At Latest Visit of Bloodmobile

Virginia Beach's Fire Department again was credited with 100 percent turnout for Friday's visit of the Civilian Club sponsored Red Cross Bloodmobile when late in the day two firemen arrived from a successful hunting trip to contribute their blood. The two hunters, Wilson Hunter and Vernon Stevens, were members of a hunting party that bagged a 190 lb. deer earlier in the day in Deep Swamp and then they returned to join the 80 donors who gave blood.

Under the leadership of Chief E. B. "Bubbe" Bayne not only the regular firemen, but the volunteer fireman as well turned out for the drive. The last visit of the Bloodmobile found Robert H. Mangas, a volunteer fireman, listed as the last to give. On Friday, a volunteer fireman, was the last to give.

With the GIRL SCOUTS

More than 2,000,000 Girl Scouts throughout the country will participate in the observance of national Girl Scout Week Oct. 25-31 in memory of the founder of Girl Scouting in the United States, the late Juliette Gordon Low, who was born in Savannah, Georgia, October 31, 1860.

One of the highlights of this year's national observance of Girl Scout Week will be the publication of the tenth edition of the Girl Scout Handbook containing up-to-date information on Girl Scout activities and describing new badges. "Although this edition of the Handbook contains much new material, it outlines the same basic program that Juliette Low introduced to American girls nearly 42 years ago," Miss Jean Baldwin said. (Miss Baldwin is the local Girl Scout Director of Princess Anne County.)

The first Girl Scout Handbook was produced under the supervision of Mrs. Low herself, and was called "How Girls Can Serve Their Country." Subsequent editions, including one in Braille and another in large sight-saving type, placed the book high on the best-seller lists. A total of more than 3,000,000 copies have been sold. In addition to being the basic book on the Girl Scout program, the Handbook is considered a standard text for young people of citizenship, and outdoor activities, homemaking, and similar subjects.

Girl Scout Week opens with Girl Scout Sunday (Oct. 25) when Girl Scouts attend their churches in uniform. The preceding Saturday is observed by Jewish girls as Sabbath.

Monday of Girl Scout Week is "Homemaking Day" and also the Publication Date of the new Girl Scout Handbook.

Tuesday — Citizenship Day (Participation in local Red Feather Drive).

Wednesday—Health and Safety Day (Participation in local civil defense activities).

Your GARDEN GUIDE

October is a lovely month, the light is golden, and peace seems to rest among the misted gardens. The weather is ideal for gardening. There is so much can be done in this pleasant month that will avoid trouble in the Spring. While the Autumn weeding is being done it is a very good idea to remove or correct plants that have behaved like weeds. It is also time to put in those tulip bulbs.

Tulip bulbs are beautiful planted very thick in a border or flower bed, but if your bulb budget is limited. Point individual pictures with them. Ten or a dozen bulbs carefully placed with regard to the pictorial value in their surroundings, may give you more in visual enjoyment than five times that number in a solid block. Tulips and Daffodils used this way, as "pointings," will give you the choicest effects. In planning such plantings around your gardens there are three things to keep in mind. The first is the background the second, companion plants and the third harmonizing colors.

Lake Secretary, Mrs. Glenn Dill, Virginia Beach; Chairman Day Camp, Mrs. E. C. Mansfield, Great Neck Point; Camp Matoka, Mrs. N. Bagley Walker, Lake Smith; Public Relations, Mrs. J. C. Adlington, Great Neck Road; Office and Staff, Mrs. Hubert Gray, Little Neck Road; Training, Mrs. Henry Hedley, Chesapeake Beach; and Program, Mrs. A. H. Hood, Virginia Beach.

The Neighborhood Chairmen include: Mrs. C. J. Owens and Mrs. J. D. Norris, of Lynnhaven; Mrs. Lynn Kenneth, Virginia Beach; Mrs. H. W. Newcome, Bayside; Mrs. Dorothy Powles, Kempsville; and Mrs. F. S. McCoy, Oceana. The Members-At-Large are Mrs. W. E. Kyle, Alanton; Mrs. G. W. Boush, Alanton Road; Mrs. J. C. Brady, Bayside; Mrs. H. M. Macco, Oceana; Mrs. J. D. Gregory, Lake Terrace; Mr. Maurice McKenny, Oceana; Mr. E. H. Church, Virginia Beach; and Rev. Robert H. Davis, Virginia Beach.

Princess Anne County has over five hundred (500) white Girl Scouts and one hundred and fifty (150) colored Scouts. The District Area boasts a registration of 4,477 girls; 1,115 adults and 228 Troops. Norfolk, Portsmouth, Essex End (colored), and Princess Anne make up this District.

Tulips can be effectively bordered with early crocuses, which flower just ahead of them, leaving their decorative, graceful foliage as an edging. A substantial background also has the practical advantage of furnishing the protection needed for early Spring flowers.

One of the important things to remember about tulips is that they will continue to bloom for at least five years if they are planted properly and given a little consideration each Spring. The foliage must remain uncut until it has turned dry and yellow, which takes about four weeks. The bulb needs to draw all possible food value from the foliage to build itself up for another year of bloom. However, the flower head and the stem may be removed, if desired.

Tulips like good soil and a good depth of soil. Be sure to add fertilizer compost and put moss when deep digging the soil in preparation for planting. In the Spring of the year, when there are just a few inches of growth, it helps to spread fertilizer around the bulbs and cultivate it in. When Spring weather is unusually dry, they should be thoroughly watered.

Before the weather turns bitter cold and there is any danger of freezing be sure to mulch upon borders well for protection. There are lots of mulches available use what is easiest for you to secure. Pine needles and leaves on our own property.

In the Autumn you can walk in the woods and gather armloads of dazzling color leaves and wild flowers that will just add so much warmth.

Real Estate Men Will Meet For 46th Convention

What's ahead for the home seeker? What's the outlook for the whole economy?

Indications will come daily from the 46th convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards as thousands of the brokers, managers, appraisers, and developers of real estate, which comprises 90 percent of the nation's wealth, meet in Los Angeles, Nov. 8-13.

"Financing the Home in 1954" and "The Future of Our Cities" are two of the subjects to be considered by informed panels which will forecast the future.

"Federal Policies That Effect Housing," by Albert M. Cole, Housing and Home Finance Administrator, and "Looking Ahead," by Walter Williams, Under Secretary of Commerce, are included among the speeches by experts which will give still a further look into what's ahead.

A panel discussion of NAREB's Build America Better program, headed by Fritz B. Burns, Los Angeles, is expected to stimulate the greatest concentrated effort to clear slums ever attempted, giving a view of what is possible by an aroused nation.

Additional forecasts of the future will come from such speeches as "Aviation's Growing Effect on Our Cities," by William A. Patterson, president of United Airlines; and "Livestock and Farm Commodity Outlook," by Nelson R. Crow, publisher of the "Western Livestock Journal" and "Farm Management Journal."

A panel discussion on "New Ideas in Building and Modernizing Obsolete Plants" and a speech on "Let's Give Our Government Back to the States," by J. Bracken Lee, governor of Utah, will ture, Hite said. "To help finance our sight conservation work," he stated, "Kempville Lions are preparing for a gigantic sale of Christmas trees, a method successful adopted by other clubs of the state and nation. We are selling Christmas trees tickets all through the area, and promise a good, reasonably-priced tree to all who buy. In this way, the purchaser gets his money's worth, and helps this most essential program as well."

Speaking of children whose parents cannot afford to purchase treatment or glasses, President Meadows said such cases were turned over to the club by teachers or parents without embarrassment to parent or child. "Parents may call any member of our sight conservation committee, or contact me, either at my office, phone Norfolk 51019, or at my home, phone Norfolk 665101."

Prominent eye specialists cooperate with the club and Lions Clubs. Meadows said, in supplying treatment and glasses, but only through the sale of Christmas trees, and related projects, can this valuable work of Lionsism be carried forward effectively.

Records of every student tested are kept, and new tests made yearly, so that a continuous record of each student's eyesight is permanently available.

at their discretion, but I am confident virtually all of it will go for paving roads."

In putting his plan into effect, Mr. Stanley proposes to use $1,000,000 from the federal aid fund for secondary roads, plus $1,000,000 from indicated increase in gas tax revenue, thus making a $2,000,000 fund for paving secondary roads.

The candidate explained, the counties with the most unpaved roads will receive a large share proportionately. Using as an example a county with 670 miles of unpaved highways, decided that its share of the $2,000,000 would be approximately $30,000. This county's allocation under the present system total $284,712, which it will receive in addition to whatever sum it would get under the proposed new method of equalization.

Mr. Stanley recalled that one county in Virginia has nearly 1,800 miles of unpaved roads. Three have between 700 and 800 miles, two between 600 and 700, five between 500 and 600, ten between 400 and 500, thirteen between 300 and 400, and eighteen between 200 and 300. Among the more fortunate counties, twenty have between 100 and 200 miles, eleven between 50 and 100, and six less than 50 miles. Heading the list is a county with only a quarter of a mile of non-paved road.

"Yet, in the division of secondary road funds under our present method of equalization," Mr. Stanley explained, "all counties share on a basis of area, population, mileage and traffic, without considerable of how many miles of unpaved roads some of them may have. That is why I think we should add the fifth factor."

Ashtrays made from tuna fish cans painted white and trimmed with red crosses were given to the Bloodmobile unit by Dan & Cub Scouts, Troop 361. The boys who made a score of ashtrays included Bob Solenberger, Denner; Bob Wilson, assistant Denner; Skip Burwell, Kelly Wood, John Pugh, Larry Brinn, Bob Frederick and John Parry.

THE KELLAM INDICTMENT

(During the past week there has been much comment concerning the grand jury indictments returned in Richmond against six Tidewater Virginia individuals, including Sidney S. Kellam, who immediately resigned as Democratic State Headquarters campaign director. The man in the street has expressed his views and most of the State's leading newspapers have commented editorially. One of the most factual editorials on the subjects, we believe, appeared a few days ago in the Washington, D. C. Star, one of the Nation's most respected newspapers. We believe the editorial is of such interest that we herewith reprint it below with permission of the Washington Star.)

VIRGINIA TAX BOMBSHELL

If ever there was a case in which judgment should be suspended, it is the case of the indictment on tax evasion charges of Sidney S. Kellam, campaign manager for the Democratic candidate for Governor of Virginia. For there may be more in this matter than meets the eye.

The indictment, coming along on the eve of the election, is a blow to Democratic Candidate Thomas B. Stanley. He already had a stiff fight on his hands because, for the first time in many years, a Republican gubernatorial candidate, State Senator Ted Dalton, is making a serious bid. And the indictment of his own campaign manager might well make things even more difficult for Mr. Stanley.

There are certain aspects of this matter, however, which should be kept in mind. One is that it is Mr. Kellam and not Mr. Stanley who has been indicted. Another is that Mr. Kellam and those indicted with him have no possible chance to clear themselves before the election. They may be innocent or they may be guilty. But that is something which cannot be established prior to the election, and this being so, the fact that an indictment has been returned should not influence the voting.

Then there are some other rather curious circumstances which should be remembered. This is an old case, in which a decision against criminal prosecution was made some three years ago. In that connection the grand jury, in addition to returning the indictment, also returned a report. And this report said in part: "Criminal prosecution seemingly had been evaded by the payment of a large sum of money. If true, the ramifications, potentialities and possible repercussions could be far-reaching throughout the State."

This is an amazing statement for a grand jury to make a court. What does it mean? Was criminal prosecution evaded three years ago by bribing some one? If so, who was bribed and who was the briber? If the grand jury had evidence of bribery, why did it not return a bribery indictment? If the reference is not to bribery, why did the grand jury offer, and the court receive, such a cryptic and suggestive statement just a few days in advance of an election?

There is still another circumstance worth noting. The indictment and report were returned in the jurisdiction of L. Shields Parsons, Jr., a newly appointed Republican United States attorney. But Mr. Parsons says the grand jury action was not initiated by him. He said that a group of citizens approached him and asked if they could present a matter to the grand jury. This message, Mr. Parsons said, was given to the grand jury, which indicated an interest and agreed to hear the group. This may be the usual practice in Richmond. But it certainly would be unusual in Washington, where the United States attorney normally exercises his discretion, based on the evidence, in presenting or refusing to present a case to a grand jury.

These circumstances, of course, do not bear on the guilt or innocence of Mr. Kellam, nor do they establish whether there was any political motivation behind the return of the indictment and the report. They are sufficient, however, to support a contention that the Virginia voters should rest their decision next month squarely on their appraisal of the merits of the candidates, and not upon the rather startling and novel diversion presented by the action of this grand jury.

STRANGE MANEUVERING

An appraisal of certain facts surrounding the unusual proceedings that took place in Richmond last week when a Federal grand jury returned income tax evasion indictments against Sidney S. Kellam and others points directly to the game of politics of a low order. As the Portsmouth Star labeled its editorial dealing with the subject on October 15th, "Conceived in Spite, Born in Politics." That apt heading pretty well sums up the matter in which the unusual course was pursued in effecting such grand jury investigation at this particular time.

The strange facts surrounding the court action at this particular time are many. It is naturally wondered why the "quietly guarded" presentation at Richmond of accusations in the midst of a hotly-contested gubernatorial campaign within three weeks of the election of November 3, when another Federal court grand jury is to sit in Norfolk, close by the homes of the indicted parties with this Norfolk grand jury to be in session during the week of November 2nd and immediately after the aforesaid election.

If the indictments found are based on income tax returns that had been under investigation for several years back, why the rush of those who appeared before the grand jury at Richmond to bring charges in the midst of a political campaign in which certain principals were active when the same evidence could have been more conveniently brought before another grand jury of equal jurisdiction to sit so soon following the November 3rd election.

Usually in such cases the matter is presented to the Department of Justice and from that higher branch of the governmental service the matter is passed down to the district attorney. In this case this was not done.

Then, one of the most curious aspects of the case was the statement made by the grand jury when it said in part: "Criminal prosecution seemingly had been evaded by the payment of a large sum of money. If true, the ramifications, potentialities and possible repercussions could be far-reaching throughout the State." What does this mean?

Yes, there are many strange points to be cleared up in the case and one that should be remembered is that a grand jury indictment presents only one side of a case and the accused have not had an opportunity to answer the charges leveled against them. Their turn, in this case, will not come until after November 3rd.

And then there is the case of C. L. Fisher, of Virginia Beach, who was the only witness to appear before the grand jury voluntarily. We wonder why he felt it necessary to hurry to Richmond at this particular time. Of course, it has been denied repeatedly that politics played a part in the unusual procedure. It does seem that if Mr. Fisher was so interested

DO YOU BUY WISELY? HERE ARE TIPS TO AID HOME-MAKERS IN PURCHASING FOOD

When you come home from the grocery store, are you proud of your purchases? Or do you unpack, do you realize how much foolish buys you made that you have bought the wrong foods, spent too much money and didn't take advantage of special?

The smart home-maker is a careful shopper. And the best way to be a careful shopper is to sit down with a pad and pen in hand and really plan your meals. Follow the food advertisements and take advantage of special offers of combination offers.

In addition, here are some shopping tips to help you save pennies—and eventually dollars.

Milk is one food you shouldn't skimp on, but there are ways to trim the milk bill. One is by using economical nonfat dry milk. Three tablespoons of dry milk when dissolved in water equals one cup of fluid milk. Although it doesn't have the fat that whole milk does, dry milk is just as rich in calcium and protein. And more and more people are being advised to eat less fat, anyway.

Now that egg prices are so high, they are shopping for eggs are especially valuable. Poultry specialists of the U. S. Department report that right now the smaller eggs are the best buy—that is, those called medium, small and peewee. To bake with the less expensive small eggs, ordinarily you needn't add more eggs except in angel food and sponge cakes and custards. A general rule to follow is that 7 small eggs give about the same weight as 6 medium eggs or 5 large eggs. Sometimes you can save additional pennies by selecting brown eggs

TIPS FOR THRIFTY BUYS

When you go shopping for groceries, a list is always a good idea. But it doesn't mean you have to stick right to it. If, for example, you can save a few pennies by buying three packages of yeast, or three cans of fruit and vegetables instead of one, then by all means buy three. Canned goods and carefully packaged items, like active dry yeast, keep perfectly well on the pantry shelf.

the shell makes no difference in instead of white. The color of the nutmeats, but in many areas brown shelled eggs cost less.

Everyman likes meat, but that doesn't mean he has to eat meat every day of the week.

A thrifty tradition to establish is the famous New England Saturday night supper—baked beans and brown bread. Nutritionists recognizing dried beans as a very good meat substitute encourage budget-watching homemakers to occasionally substitute beans for meat. Another good inexpensive protein food that deserves notice is shredded codfish.

As for meat, right now and for the next couple of months lamb is predicted to be the best buy. After that, prices will again go up. So take advantage of this slump in lamb prices. If you have a freezer, you'd be wise to buy two or three legs of lamb.

Even the pennies you save by buying three cans of vegetables or fruit, or three packages of yeast, instead of one should be considered. No reason to buy one at a time when foods like canned goods and active dry yeast keep perfectly well on the pantry shelf.

EAST OCEAN VIEW

The marriage of Mrs. Laura Aydtell of East Ocean View to Hans Henry Greve was solemnized on Saturday evening, October third, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest K. Kemp on Sixth Street. The wedding ceremony was performed by the Reverend Jack Martin, who used the double ring ceremony. The bride was dressed in a gown of grey silk tulle trimmed with white lace and carried a bouquet of white flowers. Her attendant was Mrs. Ernest K. Kemp, matron of honor, and the groom had Mr. Ernest D. Kemp as best man.

The out of town guests were: Mrs. Nan Anderson of Richmond, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Aydtell of Rochester, New York; Mr. and Mrs. Hans Greve and son, Jackie of Richmond and Mr. and Mrs. H. Hartley of Washington, D. C.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest D. Kemp. Later in the evening the bride and groom left for a morning motor trip, and since their return they are residing at 501 First Meadow Road, Bayview.

grand jury brought comparisons into the general election campaign of charges against Vice President Nixon in the 1952 presidential campaign. Those charges "back-fired" and some Democratic leaders believe that the charges brought against Kellam will "ignite their forces with determination to really win this election."

It was disclosed in Washington that Kellam and Herbert A. Holt, Jr., both indicted by the Richmond grand jury have cases pending before the United States tax court in which they dispute the government's claim they owe income taxes.

The records in Washington show that the Internal Revenue Service charges Kellam owes $13,681 for 1942 through 1947, plus $6,830 in penalties. It claims also that Holt owes $41,457 for 1940-1947 plus $20,565 in penalties.

The agency claim is that Kellam failed during some of the years to report dividends received from the Beach Taxi Service, Inc., and that money attributed to William P. Kellam (a brother) should have been reported by in seeing that justice was done he could have accomplished that aim by appearing before a similar Federal jury in Norfolk next month. However, that would have been after November 3rd.

A strange procedure that demands further explanation and a reservation of judgment by the public.

Herzer and Isaac Give Recitals

Clifford Herzer, Virginia Beach pianist and teacher from the staff of the Bristow Hardin School of Music in Norfolk, certainly keeps musically busy seven days a week. For instance last week his very talented artist who coaches with him, Erich Isaac, gave six recitals in the Tidewater Area, one of which was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bristow Hardin at the Beach and one at the Norfolk Museum of Arts and Sciences. Next Friday Mr. Isaac will again play an all-Chopin recital at the Norfolk Museum at 8:15. The concert if open to the public and free.

Another talented pupil from Virginia Beach High School, Rudolph Green, appeared at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earle C. Van Buskirk in Bay Colony Wednesday the 20th and played an interesting group of Bach, Debussy and Moszkowski.

As for himself, Mr. Herzer is preparing for his appearance with the Norfolk Symphony on the 14th of December at the Center Theater with Edgar Schenkman conducting. He will play the brilliant Concerto in G Minor by Camille Saint-Saens. Then there are solo recitals forthcoming out of State as well as in Norfolk and Virginia Beach which take much time in preparation so that with his large class of students in Norfolk at the Bristow Hardin School of Music he literally keeps busy seven days a week.

Legion Auxiliary To Hold Party

OCEANA PTA TO MEET TUESDAY

The Oceana Parent-Teachers Association will hold its regular monthly meeting in the school auditorium Tuesday night, October 27th, at eight o'clock.

Mrs. Jack Etheridge, program chairman, has announced that this meeting will consist of a short business session followed by room visitation. Each parent is invited to visit their child's classroom and thus have an opportunity to see the conditions under which each child does its work. A nursery will be provided so that parents may confer with the teachers without the children standing by.

This is a wonderful opportunity to get acquainted with the teachers so please try to attend and make this truly a Parent-Teacher meeting.

RIBBON WINNERS ARE ANNOUNCED

the recommendation of the Virginia Republican Policy Committee, of which Ted Dalton (the Republican candidate for Governor) and his law partner were two of the six members, was inspired by desire to embarrass the Democratic State Central Committee.

"Regardless of how unfair and unfounded are these charges made against me, my foremost concern is the success of the Democratic Party in this election." Kellam charged the indictment was timed so that a trial could not be held prior to the election in November.

"SEAHAWKS" CONTINUE WINNING WAYS; ISAACS' BOYS TAKE KEMPSPVILLE - 26 - 0

By BONNIE KEY

Coach Fred Isaac's Virginia Beach Seahawks continued their winning ways last Friday night defeating John Zink's Kempsville Blue Devils by a convincing 26-0 margin. Playing before a full house of approximately 3000 fans, the Seahawks permitted very little for the visitors to cheer for. The Seahawks scored their first touchdown after 5 minutes of play and remained in command throughout the entire game. The Kempsville victory marks their second conference win against as many defeats, plus two non-conference wins to give them a season record of 4 wins against 2 losses.

Summary

Bonny Halstead received the opening kickoff for the Seahawks on his own 12 yard line and returned it all the way to Kempsville 30 only to have it called back on an offside penalty against Virginia Beach for five yards.

Seahawks on the first play snapped an 8 yard pass. A try on the line for no gain. John Zink's first play was a 27 yard pass and a first down before being stopped by Jim Meads. The next two plays result in a 15 yard loss. Caddy again snapped the ball and makes 10 yards. An attempted pass fell incomplete and the Seahawks take over on their own 30 yard line.

Halstead carries for 5 yards. Leudke on a keep picks up 10 and the first down. Leudke off to Sanderlin for 15 yards and an after first down. Leudke hands off to Bonny Halstead who goes 44 yards for the first touchdown of the night. Leudke adds the extra point on a sweep of his left end to put the Seahawks out in front 14-0.

Seabouroughs kick was taken by Caddy who returned 30 yards before being stopped by Zitrain and Meads. The next two plays result in a one yard gain. Bobby Charles then passed complete to Jesse Diboys good for 40 yards stopped by McCall. Due to Bonny tackle Brian Zitrain the next two plays resulted in a two yard loss for Kempsville. Jim Meads on the next play intercepts Charles pass on his own five yard line to end the threat.

Sanderlin for the Beach picks up 11 yards and a first down. McCall for 8 yards. Meads for 17 that is nullified due to a roughness penalty against the Seahawks. End of first quarter. McCall on a reverse passes up 2 yards forcing the Beach to punt. The kick goes out of bounds on the fifty yard line. Caddy for a first stop by Sanderlin. Again Caddy for 10 yards and a first down stopped by Sanderlin. A fifteen yard penalty on the next play after a 2 yard loss. Pass from Charles fell incomplete. Caddy after 15 yards stopped by Meads. Charles to Diboys fell incomplete forcing the Devils to punt.

Meads takes the kick and is dropped on his 10 yard line. McCall for 39 yards and a first down. Leudke for 4 yards stopped by Long. Halstead for 8 yards and a first down. Beach draws a 15 yard penalty for clipping. Halstead carries for 8 yards. Sanderlin for 11 and a first. Leudke loses a yard and on the next play 6 more. McCall makes 7 yards. Scarborough kicks. It is returned to the 27 yard line of Kempsville.

Halstead, Leudke and Standing team up to throw the Blue Devils for 12 yards on their first two attempts. Charles pitches to Caddy for 10 yards. Campbell kicks to Halstead who returns 3 yards to his own 48. Leudke keeps and goes 31 yards for a first down. 18 yard penalty against Beach for holding. Meads picks up 10 yards around left end. Leudke passes incomplete to Gardner. Leudke loses 5 yards. Leudke passes incomplete and the ball goes over to Kempsville on their own 28. Caddy picks up 28 yards and a first down. The next play is good for a minus two yards to end the first half. The score Virginia Beach 7, Kempsville 0.

Seabouroughs recover their own kickoff, made by Junior end Horst Fiora, after it struck on opposing player, becoming a free ball on Kempsville's 22 yard line. Halstead for 3 yards. Leudke makes 8. Again Halstead for the score on a 28 yard sprint. A 15 yard roughness penalty on the try for extra point brought about a second attempt which was no good. A third point attempt was gained on 28. A 28 yard pass from Kempsville put the clock at end of the game 14-0.

through the center for 8 yards. Leudke fumbles. Kempsville recovers to end the threat. 3 attempts at the Seahawk line net only 3 yards forcing the Devils to punt. Roughing the kicker penalty against the Beach for 15 yards gives Kempsville a first down. The very next play the Beach collects a roughness penalty for 15 yards giving another first down. Caddy picked up 20 yards and another first, before Jim Standing got mied and put on end to it all by throwing the Devils for 2 consecutive losses of 8 yards each and on the last tackle caused a fumble that was recovered by the Seahawks.

Halstead goes for no gain. McCall fumbles and recovers. Leudke to Halstead who is off again for 32 yards and a first. Leudke incomplete pass. Sanderlin picks up 15 yards. McCall loses 2 yards. Halstead makes 8, and Jim Meads carries over for a T.D. from 3 yards out. The conversion was no good. 20-0.

The Seahawks recover their own kickoff, made by Junior end Horst Fiora, after it struck on opposing player, becoming a free ball on Kempsville's 22 yard line. Halstead for 3 yards. Leudke makes 8. Again Halstead for the score on a 28 yard sprint. A 15 yard roughness penalty on the try for extra point brought about a second attempt which was no good. A third point attempt was gained on 28. A 28 yard pass from Kempsville put the clock at end of the game 14-0.

Standout of the game and of the Tidewater area was, Bonny Halstead who was chosen as the high school football player of the week for his brilliant performance against Kempsville last Friday night. Halstead scored two touchdowns and set up another to lead the Seahawk offense in the scoring column. To clear up an erroneous report that appeared in a local daily paper, Halstead did not average 35 yards from scrimmage but averaged a little better than 12 yards in 11 attempts which is pretty good running in any league. Next in line to Halstead was Jim Meads who carried 3 times for an average gain of 9 yards. Sanderlin carried 8 times for 7.5 per try. McCall 11 attempts for 6.3 yards per try. Leudke who until last Friday night carried the ball very little, made 12 attempts at the line and averaged a commendable 6.5 yards per try.

On defense for the Seahawks it was Jim Standing, Brian Zitrain and Bobby Derring who plugged up the holes in the Kempsville offense all evening. Derring returned to the Seahawk lineup after being out for 2 games and was doubtful of returning to the active list for the rest of the year. Either Derring had an exaggerated knee injury or he possesses amazing recuperative powers, but it is good to have him back in the Seahawk line.

Courtland Cancels
The Virginia Beach-Courtland game scheduled for tomorrow night will not be played due to a cancellation on the part of Courtland who prefers not to subject themselves to the powerful Seahawk aggression but will play Franklin High School instead. Coach Isaac gave his boys Monday and Tuesday off, as a

Junior Varsity Comes Cropper in Fourth Game

Virginia Beach Junior varsity lost their fourth straight game. Creeds H. St. was the victor this time scoring three times in the last quarter for a 25-0 count. Standing out in this game were Leroy Carroll and Charles Meachum on defense and Harold James on offense. The whole squad of thirty played in the game.

Bonus for their win Friday night. Drills were started again Wednesday in preparation for their next game with St. Pauls to be played here Nov. 30.

Isaac expressed hopes of filling in the vacancy of the Courtland game by playing a post season game after the Beach Bowl, Nov. 12.

ANNA FALSON QUEEN PROSPECT

Miss Anna Falson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Falson of Chesapeake Beach, has been selected by the Lake Joyce Garden Club as candidate for Queen Who, who if successful, will reign over the Christmas Show "Frolic of Christmas" which will be presented in the Norfolk City Arena on November 21st and 22nd, 1953 by the Federation of Garden Clubs of Norfolk.

This Thursday the Junior varsity play host to Suffolk Jr. V. to whom they lost 50-0 in a previous encounter. Next Thursday afterwards they wind up the season against Kempsville Jr. Varsity on Virginia Beach's field.

Although the scores do not indicate it the team has shown tremendous improvement and still have a lot to salvage in the two games remaining.

Local Lions Club Sponsors Boxing

The Virginia Beach Lions Club is sponsoring boxing bouts on the first and third Monday nights of each month and the first of these are scheduled for next Monday at the Virginia Beach High School.

This week's card will feature Joey Daphilips, of the U. S. Navy. Daphilips is a 150 pounder.

Tickets are $1.50 for inside and $1.00 general admission. They folk and vicinity.

Miss Falson is active in the Haygood Memorial Methodist Church, and at Kempsville High School where she is a Junior.

The candidate receiving the greatest number of votes will be selected Queen Noel, and the three runner-ups will be her Princesses. Each adult ticket sold counts one vote. Tickets may be secured from any member of the Lake Joyce Garden Club. Contest for Queen closes November 14th. Many girls will be given the candidate that is winner. Queen will be crowned Saturday, 8:00 p.m., Nov. 21st.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES

By JOHN O. HART, County Farm Agent

Pasture top dressing time is here again. With lower farm prices it is more important now than ever before that we keep our pastures in their state of highest production. Since prices are lower our farmers must produce more efficiently, and pasture is the cheapest source of feed for grazing animals.

Your pastures will need to be in excellent condition to enable your animals to gain rapidly, or to produce milk when using the minimum amount of grain. One of the most important factors to be considered in managing your pastures is to maintain the proper P H or lime content on your fields. A soil test should be made of all of your pastures and lime used if your P H reading is below 6. Other important points that you should consider in good pasture management are the use of productive seed mixtures, rotational grazing, and top dressing with fertilizer.

It has been so dry in many sections of the County during the summer that your Clovers have most likely failed to store adequate nitrogen in the soil for normal Grass growth next spring. If any of your Ladino Clover pastures have been over grazed, it will pay you to use an application up to 800 pounds of a 5-10-10 fertilizer as a top dress.

Another important factor in your pasture program on your farm this winter is the seeding of winter cover crops. Here in Princess Anne we can get by seeding small grains as late as November 1st. Barley, oats, and rye seeded now with heavy fertilizer applications should give you that necessary extra grass this winter and next spring. One of the main reasons why you should try to plant cover crops on every acre of your land this year is to save that fertilizer that your row crop never got a chance to use. Due to the dry weather many tons of valuable fertilizer are remaining in our soil unused. If allowed to remain without cover cropping, this fertilizer will be leached out by the winter rains. Your Pasture Program should include Top Dressing of permanent pastures and the planting of Cover Crops where possible. If you have not already had the opportunity to do these important jobs you should try to find time within the next two weeks.

Attention! County Dairymen

We are pleased to welcome H. Milton Turner here in Princess Anne as our new Dairy Herd Improvement Association Supervisor. Milton is a native of Southampton County and should be familiar with our local farm conditions. We were sorry to see Pete Miller leave, but I am sure that we have a capable replacement. Good Luck to you, Milton in this very important Dairy Program.

What Will Become of Your Farm?

This question does not worry the large number of our Virginia farmers who are operating with their sons under "A Father-Son Farming Agreement."

If you have not considered the future of your farm with respect to your son it might be well to investigate such Father-Son Agreements. This type of arrangement can offer your boy many opportunities on the farm that some day will be his. If your son is planning to stay on the farm and help you, it might be to the best interest of both to work out some type of agreement so that both parties can know what to expect. So many job openings in non-agricultural fields, it should be important to offer as much incentive as possible to keep your boy on the farm with you. The high capital investment (Continued on Page Five)

"Wheelchair" Grants Total $29,000,000

Federal grants for "wheelchair" homes totalling more than $29,000,000 have been made to 2,123 serious disabled veterans, including those of the Korean conflict, the Veterans Administration announced.

Another 1,735 veterans have received preliminary approval for such grants.

All veterans of war or peace-time service since 1898 who cannot get about without the aid of wheelchairs, braces, crutches, canes or the like may be entitled to these special grants. These veterans must be entitled to compensation for permanent and total service-connected disability for the loss, or loss of use, of both legs due to certain specified conditions.

VA defrays 50 percent of the cost of "wheelchair" homes for eligible veterans up to a maximum of $10,000 under grants which were first authorized by Congress in 1948.

Such special features as ramps (instead of steps), doorways wide enough to accommodate a wheelchair, special bathroom fixtures, and exercise rooms equipped to meet the needs of the individuals are incorporated into these homes.

Model plans, specifications and blueprints of such specially-designed homes, which the veteran may use if he wishes, are supplied by VA. The grants may be used in several ways. The veteran may buy a lot and build on it, remodel his present home to suit his needs, or apply the grant against his mortgage if he already has a suitable home.

Of the total number of grants paid, 2,662 were for new homes, 267 were for remodeling, and 194 went to pay off the mortgages on homes already equipped.

"Large or small, madam?" asked the grocery man. Faced with an unexpected decision, she thought for a moment. "Well," she reasoned, "they're for a man with a size 15 collar."

GAME RECEIVES FIRST HUNTING CASUALTY REPORT

The first hunting casualty of the 1953-54 hunting season turned in to the Game Commission was reported by E. W. Wilson, game warden of Taswell County recently. The victim was Charles Ford, 21, of Salville, who was walking on rough rocky ground when he slipped and fell. The gun went off and he was shot through the leg just above the knee. Ford was hunting squirrels on the Thompson Farm in Thompson Valley at the time of the accident.

Balanced Livestock Production Seen Answer to Price Changes

A balanced livestock farm—with sheep, cattle and hogs—will insure producers against the saw of price changes in the various classes of livestock.

For instance, points out George Litton, head of the animal husbandry department at VPI, cattle-men are caught in a squeeze right now, but those who have sheep or hogs to balance will come out all right.

On the other hand, it hasn't been long since cattle-men were the fair-haired boys of the livestock world, and hog farmers were teetering on the edge of going broke. Sheep have stayed pretty steady. "No good sheep dies in debt," Litton says.

The answer, as Litton sees it, is an all-around livestock program. This philosophy is paying off in a practical way on Litton's own farm this year.

Instead of the general formula, seven ewes equal one cow, he found that this year on his farm 2½ ewes equalled one cow. His 100 ewes brought in as much money as 45 beef cows. On the Culpeper farm owned by Don Klie, associate agricultural engineer at VPI, there is a similar story. He figures the $41 return from each of his ewes made two of them equal to one cow, which returned $80. "However, you figure it, a flock of sheep is good insurance for paying labor and taxes for years to come," Litton says.

The dismal picture now facing cattle-men, with high beef cattle population, high retail beef prices, higher and scarcer credit, and props under feed grains, will change in a few years, Litton believes. In the meantime, some may go broke. "And I'm against that. It may be perfectly good economic law that you have to squeeze out the inefficient and the new and inexperienced; but on the other hand you can't break a meat-raising farmer without wasting a lot of the nation's resources." Maybe they don't have to go broke if they insure with sheep, in Litton's belief. "Not everybody can have sheep, nor should they, but many of them could who don't," he says.

"Woman is Man's Doormat," Speaker Tells Woman's Club

Women have been doormats on whom men have always trod. They keep their men from going in with muddy feet to God." Thus were the words that Mrs. W. D. Egan, a member of the National Women's League, concluded her talk at the luncheon meeting of the Woman's Club of Chesapeake Beach, Tuesday the 13th at the Nansemond Hotel. Mrs. Keene talked on women down through the ages, from biblical times. Parts of her talk were serious and parts humorous. She was introduced by Mrs. Thomas R. Allen, American Home Chairman.

The invocation was asked by the club chaplain, Mrs. E. E. Egan. Mrs. P. L. Farley, accompanied by Mrs. H. B. Grant, sang several selections.

This occasion was the 13th birthday luncheon of the Club. The Woman's Club of Chesapeake Beach was organized by Mrs. E. L. King, Mrs. E. A. Hudson and Mrs. T. J. Austin.

Tuesday's meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. T. J. Austin. Mrs. E. L. King, Membership Chairman, introduced five new members: Mrs. C. A. Cummings, Mrs. T. E. Alfred, Mrs. W. D. Brooks, Mrs. O. T. Edmundson and Mrs. O. A. Freund.

Mrs. W. B. Meekins, Ways & Means Chairman announced that the club will have a card party and luncheon, Tuesday, October 27th at the home of Mrs. I. J. Dillon. Lunch will be served at 12:30 p.m. There will be high score prizes and a door prize. Mrs. Meekins also announced that the club will have a supper and bazaar on December 5th if the new building is completed by then.

Mrs. E. A. Hudson, program chairman arranged an informal chat show staged by the Center Shop. Mrs. Egan was the commentator. The following club members served as models: Mrs. W. H. Artist Prefers Beauties Seen in Natural World Bertha Panning Taylor, instructor of two of the Museum Workshop Classes in Oil Painting and Drawing and President of Tide-water Artists, is showing oils and watercolors done on her recent trip to Colorado, this summer, at 628 Botetourt St. with opening reception on Sunday, Oct. 18th, from 2 to 6. Mrs. Taylor claims that, although she appreciates modern art and enjoys most of it, she finds the natural world so beautiful that she prefers to eternally try to capture some of its obvious beauty; thus she is essentially a landscape painter, having done some two hundred views in watercolors while living in Europe, and many oils and watercolors since coming back to America. The exhibition will include not only views of Norfolk scenes, and the Rocky Mountain country near Rand Lake, but several watercolors done in France and Italy, as well as in New York City, Mrs. Taylor's birthplace and early home, and which she came back to after her long residence of fifteen years in France. Mrs. Taylor's training was gotten first in New York, as pupil of Brydon Burroughs, in the Life Class of the Woman's Art School of Cooper Union, and then in Paris, principally at the School of Modern Religious Art of Maurice Denis. She was a regular exhibitor in the large Paris Salons, for seven years, preceding 1939, when she came back to America, and had been invited to show in the Salon des Tuleries one of the erected by The Federation.

A Rummage Sale was planned for November 7th to replenish the club's Treasury.

Mrs. J. G. Chamberlain, Librarian, of The Federation of Garden Clubs of Norfolk and vicinity gave an interesting program, telling of the hundreds of books in The Cornelia Fernstrom Library, on all phases of Gardening, in the Museum of Arts and Sciences. Judges from the Virginia Estates Garden Club, Mrs. C. S. Southall, Mrs. J. E. Etherington and Mrs. S. K. Deason awarded ribbons to: Mrs. Robert L. Beale, Jr., Mrs. M. R. Frasier, Mrs. M. K. Crockett, Mrs. W. C. Griffin, Mrs. C. J. Fox, Mrs. J. J. Bradley, Mrs. E. P. Seay, Mrs. Cecil Reed and Mrs. T. J. Taylor.

Mrs. Taylor is also fond of painting portraits, and has done a number in New York and in Norfolk, she works very rapidly, so can do a large portrait with only one or two sittings, as was demonstrated recently on a TV show. The exhibition will be open until Oct. 26th, every afternoon from 2 to 6.

Tuesday attending the annual Fashion Festival presented by the Times-Herald for the National Symphony Orchestra Sustaining Fund, which was presented in the Presidential ballroom of the Hotel Statler on Tuesday evening. Mrs. White was a guest at the cocktail party and reception which preceded the fashion showing and was hosted by Col. and Mrs. Robert F. McCormick.

Monday noon, Mrs. White was an invited guest to the Washington Fashion Group Luncheon which honored Charles James, the most highly-publicized of America's designers.

She was the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. Hudson Carper of Arlington. While in Washington, she made several tape-recorded interviews with fashion celebrities and interesting Washington personalities which will be used next week on her WAVY morning radio program at 9 a.m. Thumb-nail interviews with celebrities at this important American fashion event will appear in next week's Sun-News.

MERRY MATRONS

By ALISBEE

Jink Malkenburgh is one of the most loved and best known of the women in the field of radio and television today. She's a career girl, a devoted wife and wonderful mother to two fine boys, Paddy and Kevin McCroney. With her husband, Tex McCroney, she puts in a sixteen-hour day and still has time to be gracious to all who meet her, happy and interested in her boys' affairs and level-headed, helpful and understanding in her daily relationship with her newspaper-editor and columnist husband with whom she does a fine Sunday magazine-of-the-air television feature over the NBC network each Sunday afternoon. It took a girl who was born in Barcelona and raised in Chile and Brazil to realize the American Dream. Jink has the kind of look Americans marry, looks that not only made her America's most famous cover-girl but that go well with her record as a tournament tennis star. Then, she has gotten ahead on her own in four tough competitive fields: movies, modeling, radio and television. And she has been ever practicing the merry matron theory, it's Jink. And, just for the records, she played a fast game of tennis the day before her oldest boy, Paddy, entered this world and did her daily radio programs by remote control from her hospital room. Quite a gal, is Jink?

And quite a lady is Mrs. A. E. Ewell who was saluted last week by the Princess Anne Woman's Club members at their first fall meeting at Pine Tree Inn when she was presented with a flower arrangement and cited as the organizer. A first, president, twenty-eight years ago, in 1925, when twenty-nine women helped her organize the first club. Mrs. Ewell's intellectual ability, gracious manner and kindly understanding has been drawn upon again and again to strengthen community projects since that time, too. Alisbee's hat is off to this Fine Lady!

Judging from the chapeaux the guests at the Woman's Club luncheon were wearing, it's evident that the gals in Princess Anne County are going along with fashion-conscious gals throughout the nation who declare this to be the year for the little hat. Mrs. David Malkenburgh looks lovely in her becoming royal blue wool dressmaker suit and her "little hat" of royal blue velvet. . . . Mrs. Audrey Holmes, Mrs. James Darden and Mrs. Earle C. Van Buskirk wore the season's top color, black, with "little hats" of black. . . . The President, Mrs. R. H. Owen, wore a stunning Carmel-designed blue and white check wool dressy suit with a Florence Wilson original blue velvet hat to match, which she lovely with Mabel's beautiful white hair, so your Alisbee's spy told her. Spanish-American War, the Stayman appeared in Virginia where it has been popular with growers and housewives ever since. Because of its versatility in being a health treat, whether cooked or a fresh fruit item in Juniors lunch, the Stayman has maintained its popularity. Roughly 65 per cent of all the Stayman apple grown in the United States come out of the four state Appalachian Area of Virginia, Pennsylvania, Maryland and West Virginia. It tends to grow rather large and the homemakers have found that this late variety keeps easily until Christmas without the necessity of cold storage. Here's a recipe for Old-Fashioned Apple Pie. Line a 9-inch pie pan with pastry. Pan, core and slice thin apples, pile them in center. Sprinkle over the apples 1/2 cup white (granulated) sugar, 1/4 cup light brown sugar (pack in cup) 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg, grated peel of 1 lemon, dash salt, that has been thoroughly mixed with 2 tablespoons flour. Dot with (1/2 stick) Butter or margarine, cover with top crust. Seal and crimp edges. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees) for 10 minutes, reduce heat to 325 degrees and bake 35 minutes longer. Don't forget now, eat and serve apples often. The apple is Virginia's favorite fruit. It packs a lot of health value and Virginia produces enough different apples to meet every need and taste, so now. See you next week.

Mrs. Dot Miller is making fancy plans for her Colonial Ready-To-Wear shop's fashion showing which will precede the benefit dance the Ladies Auxiliary of the Moose Lodge will give on the evening of Nov. 13, at the Moose Lodge, with your Alisbee doing the commentary for the benefit. After hearing how this group, with their men folks, turned in around six hundred dollars in the recent Princess Anne contest, it's pleasant to return a compliment.

Lucile Clark was beamy and happy over the fine sum realized from this contest which she was chairwoman; happy about the 100 key figures in Washington's social, diplomatic, governmental, and military circles serving as sponsors, last Tuesday's event was a brilliant spectacle. It was now-famous American Fashion Competition which formed the basis for the Washington Times-Herald Fashion Festival which was held in Washington last Tuesday evening. This idea throughout the years has provided recognition for American fashion designers who, although numerous, have been overshadowed, at times, by the better publicized Paris couturiers. In 1940, the first year, professional and amateur designer entrants numbered 5,000 submitting some 12,941 original fashion designs. Many of these designers have risen to leadership in the field of fashion. During these past fourteen years of competition, more than $65,000 has been awarded in prizes by the Times-Herald, with the annual first prize $2,000, the second, $1,000, and the third, $500. The audience attending these annual events votes for the winners.

STAR-STUDDED BENEFIT With Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower as honorary chairman of the Fashion Festival and more than 100 key figures in Washington's social, diplomatic, governmental, and military circles serving as sponsors, last Tuesday's event was a brilliant spectacle. It was held in the Presidential ballroom of the Statler hotel and was preceded by a cocktail party hosted by Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of the Chicago and Washington papers sponsoring the Festival, and Mrs. McCormick. (Next week, in this column, a description of the fashions worn by the famous guests and the fashion designers attending will be given by your fashion-woman's editor who attended the event.) Seymour Fox, best known for his coat and suit designers; Esther Dorothy, the beaming, brunette, top woman for designer; George Nordio, designer for Anthony Blotta; Charles James, one of the top name fashion designers; Pauline Trigere; Oldric Royce and many others were there. The tickets for the showing were ten dollars with the money realized being turned over to the National Symphony Orchestra Association for its Sustaining Fund.

CHRISTIAN DIOR'S OWN LETTER—In a letter received from Christian Dior in Paris, France, and dated October 8, Mr. Dior writes: "I am still surprised at the furor my new skirt proclamation continues to cause. . . . I made the dresses I felt like making and in the proportions that seemed normal to me, expressing a silhouette which imposed itself on me almost without any will on my part. It is not just a matter of skirt length but a rather general transformation of the silhouette, which is freer, more alive and much more at ease. I call it the 'living line'. Skirts will definitely be shorter, depending upon the length of the leg and the height of the wearer. For example, some of my mannequins, the smallest ones, have skirts 15 inches from the floor yet look as if they were wearing shorter dresses than some of the tall ones whose skirts are 16 inches from the floor. This new emphasis on legs makes hosiery take on special significance. Women will be more conscious than ever before of their need for flattering hose. For this reason, I have designed my new fall hosiery to go with this new skirt length, to carry out the particular mood I have had in mind." Christian Dior arrived in New York last week for a month of eye-viewing the American ladies and their fashion preferences. He is showing his new collection, especially designed for his American clients, in his Fifth Avenue salon. "WAX-POLISHED WOOLLEN SECRET"—There's shine on my face" couldn't be truer this season for an entire group of excitement-making silk-plus fabrics that plainly whisper "silk is added" to worsted and tweeds made newly supple. The much-talked-about "wax polished" woollens also have silk as their secret. SOMETHING NEW HAS BEEN ADDED—Nylon and orlon take on glamour and silky feel, new to synthetics, to make them a delight to touch, yet still easily creasing and spot resistant, new synthetics women shop for in blouses and rainwear. This happy addition to man-made fibers gives firmness and body so that they're easy to cut and drape which is a boon to designers. Motivated by new, velvety durability, satins on surface - sculptured broadcloths are high polished with a smooth gloss that's making fashion history in coats, suits, dresses and ensembles. It's lovely, hair-like touch that has been added!

Yeast Doughnuts

Pass a tray of doughnuts. They're a puffy delight when made from circles of yeast dough.

October is an ideal time to break up on your doughnut-making technique. Crisp fall days sharpen appetites for snacks between meals. Hungry junior athletes especially will make short work of a batch of doughnuts, so you may find yourself with many requests for more.

Hope you haven't forgotten what fun it is to use the circles of dough swirl in the hot bubbly fat, turning brown as they grow larger. But whether you make them yourself or buy them at the bakery, there's real goodness in doughnuts.

Warm doughnuts and cold milk are tops in snacks for the young crowd. For grownups, serve them with coffee. Occasionally, you may like to serve the spicy sweet rings with mugs of cider for a traditional after-the-game snack.

Use enriched flour when you make doughnuts. Then, while your family is eating something sweet, you'll know that they're also getting some important food values. Enrichment has added three essential B-vitamins, and food iron to flour.

You can work some variety into one batch of doughnuts, too. Roll some in granulated sugar, some in cinnamon sugar, and spread some lightly with confectioners' sugar icing.

YEAST DOUGHNUTS

2 packages yeast, compressed or dry
1/2 cup water (allowing for compressed yeast, warm for dry)
1 egg
1/2 cup sugar
2 teaspoons salt

But for frying

Softened yeast in water. Scald milk. Add sugar, salt and shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Add flour to make a thick batter. Mix well. Add softened yeast, eggs, lemon rind and nutmeg. Beat well. Add enough more flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead until smooth and satiny. Place in greased bowl, cover and let rise in warm place until doubled (about 1 1/2 hours). When light, punch down. Let rest

1/2 cup shortening
1 cup sifted enriched flour (about)
2 eggs
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind (if desired)
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg

10 minutes. Roll out 1/4 inch thick. Cut with doughnut cutter. Place on lightly floured baking sheets and let rise until doubled (about 1/2 hour). When light, fry in deep hot fat (365°F.) turning frequently, until golden brown. Drain on absorbent paper. When cool, roll in granulated sugar, or spread lightly with confectioners' sugar icing. Makes about 3 dozen 3-inch doughnuts.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a wedding gown of white lace and nylon net over satin, made with a sheer yoke of illusion, sung bodice and bouffant skirt of net. The bride, given in marriage by her brother-in-law, George A. Garvin, wore a ballerina length gown of lace and tulle over satin, made with a shoulder wide sheer yoke, long sleeves and a full bodice. The very bouffant skirt was centered with tulle pleats. Her veil of illusion fell from a tiara of seed pearls and she carried a cascade bouquet of white chrysanthemums and pink orchids. Virginia 4-H Club Members Discover That Quality Plays Big Part in Beef Production

DICK COCKRELL
Assistant County Agent

A total of 468 head of baby beefs were sold by Virginia 4-H club members at 15 shows and sales this spring brought $135,970, an average of $294.19 per head, or $30.16 per cwt.

This price compared very favorably to the average Chicago price during the same period of $22.50 per cwt. In fact, this is the greatest spread in the last 10 years between the average market price and what was received in Virginia at the 4-H events.

The relative high prices at the 4-H events were the results of widespread support by buyers, who knew the club members were in for a tremendous kicking after the bottom of the cattle market fell out.

Twenty-four percent of the beefs were bought by business concerns; 21 percent by individuals; 20 percent by food chain stores; 18 percent by independent groceries; 14 percent by meat packers; and 7 percent by hotels and restaurants.

Quality played an important part. Twenty-four percent graded prime; 57 percent choice; 16 percent graded good; and only 3 percent, commercial.

The 1953 4-H Baby Beef Show and Sale was held in Portsmouth, May 7, 1953, for boys and girls in this county carrying the Baby Beef Project. Sixteen boys and girls from Princess Anne County entered Steers there. One steer that was carried as a project was not entered at the Portsmouth Show. Billy Oliver bought a steer from the Petersburg Feeder Calf for the purpose of taking him to the 4-H Show and Sale at the Atlantic Rural Exposition. There, again quality of finish paid off. With the average market price for Prime fat cattle being $17.00 to $18.00, little profit was expected by the 4-H members. But, the buyers still wanted top quality beef and were willing to pay for it. The average price per cwt at the Atlantic Rural Fat Cattle Sale was about $27.75. Billy Oliver, from Princess Anne, received for his 975 pound prime steer $31.25 cwt, $2.50 per cwt above the average for the Sale. This steer was bought by Colonial Stores.

Here, again, we see the relative price for 4-H fat cattle ranging much higher than the average Chicago price for prime fat steers. At the Spring sale, 4-H prices were above average market by 9 to 10 cents per pound. The same range was opponent at the fall sale at Richmond.

The question is: Why has 4-H Baby Beef prices been averaging more than the Livestock Market? The answer is two fold. First, desirable type and conformation of the individual steer must be had, and second, that steer must have the desired quality of finish that the market demands. The 4-H steers have just that. Only top quality steers are bought and then the 4-H members do a very fine job of finishing out his steer.

The members of the 4-H Baby Beef Project have already received their steers for the 1954 project. These animals will be in a fed lot on full feed until the first week in May. These steers were selected by John Hart, County Agent, and Dick Cockrell, Assistant County Agent of Princess Anne County.

The prices paid for these steers were based on the Feeder Calf Sale that the producer sells his calves.

The price that the boys will pay will be based on the average price of calves for the grade and weight at the sale at which the producer sells the remainder of his calves.

Following is an outline of the boys carrying the project, the breed of calf, the weight of the calf, and the boy's sponsor.

necessary for your boy to consider entering the farming business on his own is definitely a factor which should encourage "Father-Son Farming."

If you do not encourage your boy to stay on the farm through this type of arrangement he will have to look elsewhere for a job. However, it is very important that you make a thorough investigation before entering the actual agreement to prevent any future misunderstandings. We have an excellent bulletin here in this office from the V. F. I. Extension Service which may answer many of your questions. If you are interested in this bulletin come in and ask for "Father-Son Farming Agreements." Both you and your boy will be happier with some type of written agreement. FAVORABLE SEWER LINE BIDS RECEIVED; WORK TO BE COMPLETE BY SPRING

Extremely favorable bids were received by the City of Virginia Beach Tuesday for the construction of South Virginia Beach's new sewerage system. It was announced when 12 firms offered bids on the work.

Bids were opened Tuesday morning in the council chamber and the low bidders were Sam B. Archbell, of Norfolk, for installation of pipe lines, and the Van de Riet Construction Company for the building of two pumping stations.

Installation of the sewerage system was authorized last Spring with a referendum approving the sale of $300,000 in bonds for the work.

With the adjusted low bids reduced to approximately $192,500 for the pumping stations, pressure mains and mains and approximately $20,000 in fees to be paid for governmental and engineering services, a balance of approximately $80,000 remains of the original issue.

In view of the favorable bids it is understood that the unanimous opinion among city officials is to lay laterals to all built up areas in the section and to effect extensions where they should be made.

The fact that 12 firms offered bids on the work was gratifying to city officials. One bidder observed that Virginia Beach could be the section and to effect extensions where they should be made.

African Violet Society Makes Contribution to Rescue Squad

The regular monthly meeting of the Princess Anne African Violet Society was held Thursday, Oct. 15, 1953, at the home of Mrs. H. E. Haddell in London Bridge. Mrs. Lawrence Lockwood, the President, presided.

After a discussion on the outstanding service rendered by the Virginia Beach Rescue Squad, the Society voted unanimously to present them with a check for $25.00.

Plans were also discussed for a card party, proceeds of which will benefit the Virginia Beach Memorial Stadium. Date to be announced later.

Girl type foliage violets were displayed. The blue ribbon was awarded to Mrs. Harry F. Ames for her Marietta and Show Girl. A red ribbon was awarded to Mrs. H. E. Haddell for her Blue Helix and Reddish Girl. Mrs. L. C. Mallory and Mrs. Waverly Jones were the judges.

A very enjoyable social hour followed at which time delicious refreshments were served. Mrs. Haddell had so many beautiful plants and different varieties that it was almost equal to attending a violet show.

Coming of Cold Weather Halts Work on State Highway System

Winter restrictions on some 230 highway projects in the State will become effective after November 1 and will slow down the normal pace of road building until spring, the State Highway Department announced today.

As a general rule, The Department's Winter plans call for surfacing or stabilizing sections of road already graded and for not disturbing any more of the surface until April 1 when the likelihood of winter weather is past. New work started will be placed under the same restrictions. Grading near existing highways, bridge constructions, installation of drainage structures and preparations for Spring will continue whenever weather permits, engineers said.

Some 40 other projects nearing completion are being rushed in an effort to finish the jobs before winter weather intervenes. On some of the projects, the top asphalt surfacing will be carried over until Spring, in line with the Department's requirement that all bituminous work on construction be discontinued after the first of November to prevent loss of the material in cold wet weather.

The long dry summer was both a help and a handicap to road work. A number of projects were finished well ahead of schedule, but new banks and roadways were being especially busy on dusty roads, and large quantities of calcium chloride were required to keep down dust where water was scarce or traffic heavy.

Major projects under construction include:

- Suffolk District: Widening to four lanes on US 301 north of Emporia; extending the four-lane construction on US 60 north of Hilton Village; building a four-lane road on Route 143 between Newport News and the old Hampton City limits; dividing Route 337 in Portsmouth; a major railroad underpass on Brambleton Avenue in Norfolk; and an intersection for traffic channelization at Laskin Road and Virginia Beach Boulevard on US 58.
- An important project recently completed in the district was the dividing of the last two-lane gap of US 13 on the Eastern Shore.

Junior Women to Sponsor Dance; Benefit R. Squad

The Jr. Women's Club of P. A. County will sponsor a benefit dance on Friday evening, Nov. 20, 8:30 p.m. until 1:00 a.m. for the Va. Beach-R. A. County Rescue Squad, Inc. at the American Legion on Laskin Road.

Sound Government Declared Biggest Issue Before Voters

PUBLIC MEETING CALLED TO HEAR COUNTY CITIZENS; TAX BOOSTS UP FOR DISCUSSION

Princess Anne County taxpayers, after receiving higher tax bills than ever before called on the County Board of Supervisors at their regular meeting Monday and as a result a public meeting has been set for November 10 at 7 p.m. in the county courthouse.

The increased bills are a result of the work of the County Board of Tax Assessments and certain additional taxes resulting from bond issues approved by the electorate. Many of the delegation at the meeting Monday were residents of East Ocean View.

New tax rates which were set by the County Board of Supervisors last May provided an increase in the basic rates of all five of the county's magisterial districts with the exception of the Kempville District.

The increases imposed by the Board of Supervisors were as follows: Blackwater District, 85 cents from $4.20 to $5.05; Pungo, 30 cents from $6.30 to $6.60; Lynnhaven, $1.50 from $5.25 to $6.75; and Seaboard, 90 cents from $4.80 to $5.70.

In addition to the increase in the basic rate, the taxpayers of the Lynnhaven District, which includes North Virginia Beach, have an additional 30 cents added to the base rate for mosquito control and an additional 90 cents in the sanitation district.

On the basis of the basic rate increase, the reassessment board endeavored to equalize all assessments on a basis of 10 percent of true value and then added 50 percent to that amount for taxation purposes.

Mr. Holland III, a Virginia Beach attorney representing some of the taxpayers in the affected areas, instigated the move for a meeting with the Board of Supervisors and the Reassessment Board. C. A. Mowry and Edridge White, Jr., of the Virginia Beach and Birdneck Point and Bay Colony.

In other action by the Board of Supervisors, an appropriation of $600 for the Virginia Potato and Vegetable Growers Association was approved. The Board also approved a recommendation of the planning commission to impose a $25 tax on trailers in locations not classified as trailer camps.

The Board appointed Macklin Simmons to replace J. Peter Holland, III, as a member of the Planning Commission, and agreed to send V. Alfred Edridge to a State Corporation Commission hearing to represent interests of Princess Anne County in the drive for proposed rate increases for the Virginia Electric and Power Company.

Encouraging First Chest Report Heard

The first report meeting of the Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach Community Chest was held Monday night at the Virginia Beach High School. The meeting was attended by enthusiastic chairmen and captains for the various sections and areas of the County and City.

The Community Chest President, Mr. Fred A. Haycox opened the meeting with expressions of thanks and appreciation for the marvelous contribution of time and effort by the Chest Workers, in striving to put the Drive across the top.

B. M. Stanton, General Chairman for the Drive, then called upon the key chairman in the Drive, to make reports for their divisions. State Senator V. Alfred "Jack" Edridge, Chairman for the County called for reports from the many chairmen heading the various areas and sections of the county. The total report for the County was a total collected to-date of $3,492.16. Of this amount, Mrs. P. B. White, chairman for North Virginia Beach, reported the largest amount collected from any one section, of $1,765.00.

The City of Virginia Beach reported a total collected to-date of $2,936.92. Of this amount, the residential division headed by Mrs. Paul B. Maestas accounted for $1,481.00.

Mr. E. W. Smith, Secretary-Treasurer of the Community Chest reported that Special Gifts under the leadership of Mr. G. K. Willis had collected a total of $1,080.00. Also, he reported military establishment heard from to-date, with a total so far of $3,000.

The Grand Total reported at the First Report Meeting amounted to $7,853.08, which represents 35.6 percent of the goal of $22,000.00. The officers of the Chest are encouraged with this showing for the opening days of the Drive, and are convinced that the goal of $22,000.00 will be met by the (Continued on Page 6)

Surf Club Goes Under Hammer Next Week

The lush Surf Beach and Cabana Club at 58th street and the Oceanfront will be sold at public auction on November 7 at 3 p.m. according to Whitt G. Seasons, Virginia Beach realtor and auctioneer, who has been engaged as selling agent by owners of the popular amusement center.

In the announcement it was indicated that the owners desire to withdraw from operation of the facility and that the property and building will be offered for sale. This includes a standard swimming pool, 75 cabanas, a dining room, locker rooms, a dance floor and other club facilities.

James Fox, secretary of the operation since the present management acquired the club properties in 1950 for a reported $300,000, said approximately $80,000, including the new swimming pool, has been spent in improvements in the interim.

Erected in 1926, the club was operated during that and the succeeding seasons through 1941 by the owners, but closed in 1942 because of wartime restrictions. It was reopened and operated under lease by Jack Valentine during the seasons of 1943, 1944 and 1945.

CANDIDATES DIFFER ON ROADS, VOTE AGE; ELECTION TUESDAY

The "solid issue" of the campaign to end with the election on Tuesday, November 3 is a "controversial" issue of safe and sound government in Virginia through able and experienced leadership. Watkins M. Abbott, Manager of the State Democratic Campaign, declared here today in a statement summarizing the campaign issues. Abbott charged that the Republican candidates have made "many wild promises," designed to gain votes. Abbott declared that such promises, if fulfilled, "will bring tremendous increases in taxes." He reiterated the Democratic Party's pledge of no increase in taxes, and characterized the Republican Party's proposed $100,000 bond issue for highways as a tax increasing measure.

"For 75 years, the Democratic Party of Virginia has provided your State government with a high caliber of public services," Abbott stated. "Thomas B. Stanley, Candidate for Governor; A. E. Stephens, Candidate for reelection as Lieutenant Governor, and J. Lindsay Almond, Jr., Candidate for re-election as Attorney General, have reiterated their faith in and their adherence to those basic concepts of public service which have won for the Democratic Party the admiration and acceptance of the large majority of the people over these 75 years.

"Our candidates promise a continuation of this good government. They are strong advocates of the fiscal policies of your Commonwealth, which have brought safe and sound government to Virginia and which have won for Virginia the applause of many from all States. Those policies include a balanced budget; freedom from State indebtedness; economical, efficient and conscientious administration; and the fullest consideration of those who pay the bill—you and all other taxpayers in Virginia.

"Our program to advance the Virginia economy, developed within the framework of these sound policies, have been presented to the people in printed pamphlets, speeches, in the press and on radio and television. That program, which can be accomplished without any increase in taxes, include advances in public education, agriculture, health and welfare, highways, industrial development, tourism, travel, and poor relief and food and clothing that in the matter of appliances, the qualifications of women will receive equal consideration with men.

"The voters of Virginia have been exposed during this campaign to many wild promises by candidates of the Republican Party. In telling you of their purpose has been to capture votes in certain quarters. What the Republican candidates have failed to tell you is that such promises, if fulfilled, are certain to bring forth tremendous increases in taxes. They present their wild promises out of one corner of their mouths and then say out of the other corner that all these things can be achieved without any increase in taxes. We are confident that such balderdash will not fool the people of Virginia.

"To cite just one illustration of late: The Republican Candidate for Governor advocates a $100,000,000 Bond Issue for highways.

Such a program will reverse Virginia's traditional pay-as-you-go policy of financing its entire system of highway construction and maintenance—a policy which has brought Virginia magnificent highways without any State indebtedness. The Republican Party would, in one bold stroke, thus saddle the State with a tremendous debt, which would be difficult to finance in favorable times and which would present serious problems in unfavorable economic times. Such a highway plan is the road to increased taxes.

"The Democratic Candidates offer long and successful experience in many phases of government. Mr. Stanley's experience on his county school board, 19 years in the General Assembly, and 7 years in Congress—exceeds by far the total, governmental, experience of the three Republican candidates all rolled together. Mr. Stanley has also been a successful farmer and businessman for many years.

"Lieutenant Governor Stephens is an able lawyer with rich experiences in both the House of Delegates and the Senate. General Almond brings to his office outstanding experience as a lawyer, judge of the court of (Continued on Page 3)

Medical Society Backs Greater TB Facilities

The Medical Society of Virginia at its annual meeting in Roanoke last week gave strong endorsement to recommendations of the State Department of Health and the Virginia Tuberculosis Association that the State's tuberculosis control efforts be intensified. Members of the society's house of delegates approved a resolution introduced by Dr. James L. Hays of Manassas, outgoing president of the organization, which called for providing additional sanatorium beds and other facilities.

The resolution put the group on record as favoring the construction of new hospital facilities, including 200 beds for negro patients. Also recommended was the establishment of a series of eighteen regional chest clinics throughout the State.

Dr. Mack I. Shanholts, State Health Commissioner, and Dr. W. F. Wagner, State director of tuberculosis control, explained the need for the new facilities. They stated that the proposed plan for which the State Department of Health is asking $270,000 in its 1954-55 budget will provide diagnostic and treatment facilities for Virginia localities which now have few or no facilities. The clinics could be conducted weekly or bi-weekly by local physicians with supervision of chest specialists. It was stated that the clinics could become local clearing houses for routing applications for admission to the sanatoria and could also be used to supervise patients after they are discharged from TB hospitals.

Copies of the resolution adopted by the society were ordered sent to Governor Battle, the candidates for Governor, and candidates for seats in the General Assembly.

TIPPING THE CHAPEAU

The Council of Garden Clubs this week makes its bow to the lovely waterfront home, located on a peninsula, so to speak, in Birdneck Point, known and designated as the STELLINGMAERSEN residence. The STELLINGMAERSENs do their own watering. Driving into their long slow circling driveway, back a glance will tell what hours the Stellingmaersens spend in caring for the acres so beautifully watched with pine straw. The evergreen shrubs, towering pine trees, together with a broad view of the bay, frame the park-type estate which is so well known as a beautiful spot of the week. Congratulations to the STELLINGMAERSENs, and what an asset their home is to BIRDNECK.

State CofC Urges Makers and Growers Use "Virginia" Label

More Virginia agricultural products should carry the "Virginia" trademark so that consumers can identify the State's superior products by looking at the label.

That's the opinion of Verbon
E. Kemp, executive director of the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce, who feels that products of the state can become identified with the state of their origin more than any other line of commodities. By the same token, he feels that Virginia should let more people know that its products are superior to many others and that the items are from Virginia.

His idea springs from the fact that many products are known familiarly by their origin. "For instance," he says, "there are Idaho and Maine potatoes, Florida grapefruit, Georgia peaches, California oranges and Virginia tobacco."

These trademarks, he believes, are indelibly impressed on the minds of the American consumer.

their estimate of the acceptance of things Virginia in other states and throughout the world," he feels. "Virginia origin is accepted —sometimes subconsciously—as a mark of quality. It connotes aristocracy, and with it, soundness and substance."

"Of course we know that Virginia broilers, Virginia eggs and Virginia turkeys are superior—but we must let others know it . . .
and we must convince the consuming public to purchase 'Virginia' instead of others."

Kemp, who is attempting to interest growers in the idea, would not ask that the producers change labels, they would keep the brand name, but further identify the items as a "product of Virginia."

He feels that with a properly organized advertising campaign consumers would turn to buying such things as Virginia turkeys, Virginia kale, Virginia apples and other products identified as Virginian in greater quantities. There is a good domestic market for the products, too, he said, with Virginians preferring home grown products.

There are some basic requirements that would have to be filled in such a case, however, he pointed out. Products marketed under the "Virginia" trademark would have to be uniform top quality, efficiently packed, attractively packaged and distinctly labeled and in uniform supply.

"It is likely," he says, "that tighter grading and more strict inspection would be required."

Many different producers could participate in the campaign, Kemp says, including the commercial fruit growers, canners, meat packers and possibly seafood packers and some dairy product processors.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh
It's the Principal of the Thing!

Every autumn our High School has a contest to see who can get the most ads for The Recorder—the school magazine. The winner becomes honorary Principal for a day.

Skip Roberts won last week, and his first (and only) official act as "Principal" of the school was to announce in a loud, clear voice: "I hereby declare today a school holiday!"

Knowing Miss Gilbert, the real principal, it was no surprise to me that she laughed as hard as anybody else... and said to go right ahead.

From where I sit, it's no wonder our youngsters think Miss Gilbert's such a wonderful person (even though they know they'll have to make up that day). Her tolerance, her friendly way with people of all ages reflect all everything she does. For instance, at my house Miss Gilbert prefers tea but always respects my preference for a glass of beer. As a real person... in any community, Miss Gilbert belongs at "the head of the class."

Primarily a membership club through the years, the properties are strategically located and have been considered for a number of operations. Late in 1952, a movement was under way to turn the facilities into a club for enlisted men in the Fifth Naval District, but this plan was abandoned later.

A listing of the musical organizations that have played at the club, particularly since the end of World War II, would include practically every well known band in the country.

Prevention Week

Activities set up by The National Exchange Club for local clubs include installation of Freedom Shrines in schools; the Book of Golden Deeds for recognition of noble deeds which ordinarily go unmentioned; Boy-of-the-Month recognition; Sunshine Specials for less fortunate youngsters; provision of university scholarships; observance of Constitution Week; Traffic Safety programs; and Fire Prevention Week observances.

The first Exchange club was formed in 1911 at Detroit, Michigan. It had as a nucleus an organization of business and professional men which had been functioning in the field of service, as far back as 1896. Other Exchange clubs soon followed and in the last four decades, Exchange clubs have been formed in all principal cities and towns of the United States.

Jane and Marilyn Vie For Honors In Drive-In Film

Jane Russell, who co-stars with Marilyn Monroe in Twentieth Century-Fox's Technicolor musical "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," coming to the Virginia Beach Drive-In Theatre on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 1-3, reached what she terms a "turning point" in her career in a modernized version of Anita Loos' perennial story. She sings, dances and wisecracks her way through the picture, making a perfect foil for Miss Monroe, the dim-witted Lorelei who likes men for their money and makes them like it.

Just 13 years and ten pictures after she made her film debut in "The Outlaw," as a sultry siren more decorative than polished, the voluptuous Miss Russell has blossomed out as a musical comedy star. For all those years other people planned her future for her, Miss Russell explained, and now she wants only to work for top-notch directors like Howard Hawks in spectacular films like "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes."

Under personal contract to the Hughes Tool Co., owned by Howard Hughes, Miss Russell has come a long way since that fateful day in 1939 when Director Hawks tested her for her first picture. "I was just a green, 19-year-old kid of the camera from another," she recalled on the set during the filming of "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes." "I just did what people told me to do—something not to my best advantage. No matter what pose the photographers asked for I did as I was told. When I saw some of the shots they got I ran to Mr. Hawks crying, 'No one,' he said, 'is going to look out for you but yourself.' I have been following that advice ever since."

Her name, like Miss Monroe's, long has been one to evoke laughter and whistles when spoken by comedians seeking a popular simile for sex appeal. During the notation, she is a busy animal and often conducts prayer meetings, presidential campaigns or President Truman laughed at a Jane Russell joke while Monroe sat there giving her name to a rose-petalled modicum.

In real life Miss Russell is just the antithesis of this con-ings in her San Fernando home. Fame and fortune have not touched her pretty head. Simple, simple and modest she is far removed from the sultry rolls and first married, she is completely without affection, admits she is last.

MARY is a very lonely little seven-year-old. She is shy and doesn't make friends easily. But in a Girl Scout troop, she'll have fun and adventure, and learn to make friends through mutual interests.

Her neighbor, Susie, has many friends. But her mother works and wishes there was some constructive activity for Susie at least one afternoon a week.

There are many little girls 7 through 10 years old who need a sense of "belonging", and older girls, 10 through 15, who need outlets for their talents and imaginations. The Girl Scout organization, with its purpose to "help girls realize the ideals of womanhood as a preparation for their responsibilities in the home, and as active citizens in the community and the world", could fill these needs. But many girls are on waiting lists to become Girl Scouts, because...

Muscular Dystrophy Newest Challenge To Rapidly Advancing Medical Science

The 20th-Century will go down in history as an age of scientific achievement. The atom has been explored, scientific forces have each day been harnessed and controlled to make life easier for the 20th-Century man. And, among the scientific achievements of this remarkable age are the outstanding strides made by medical science in conquering crippling and death-dealing diseases which for centuries had baffled scientists and doctors.

One of medical science's newest challenges is that presented by the mysterious disease muscular dystrophy. The disease itself has been plaguing mankind for centuries, but only recently has the public and science made a concerted effort to strike back. Their weapon is research.

This disease presents a peculiar challenge to science. Its combined characteristics add up to a general picture completely different from that of any other disease. First of all, it is a progressive disease. Once started in its attack on the muscular system, it continues until the entire muscular system is helpless. In general, the victim, the faster the progress of the disease. Children afflicted by muscular dystrophy very rarely live beyond adolescence.

The disease is not contagious. However, it can strike anyone of any age at any time. It seems to run in some families, but in most cases, there is no evidence of previous appearance of the disease in the family history.

There is no pain to warn the patient that he has been stricken by muscular dystrophy, and he may have had the disease for months before his first signs are noticed. The disease shows up in youngsters with frequent falling, difficulty in climbing stairs, awkward walk, and difficulty in rising from a sitting or lying position. In adults, it is frequently shown by weakness of muscles in shoulders, upper thighs and back; an inability to pucker the lips or whistle. In all cases, the disease can only get worse. Doctors know of no effective treatment or cure to stop its muscle-wasting effects. That muscular dystrophy has finally been presented as a challenge by medical science is an accomplishment that can be traced to a handful of parents of afflicted children who refused to accept as final the verdict that their children were going to die.

Out of meetings held by these parents, thousands of letters sent to other parents all over the country, letters to doctors and hospitals, has grown a national organization — the Muscular Dystrophy Association of America. It is offering fellowships to encourage young doctors to advanced studies in the field of muscle disease. Whenever possible, it offers direct assistance to those afflicted and their families by providing physical therapy facilities, underwriting expenses for wheel chairs, hospital beds, and other special equipment, and providing transportation to clinics and hospitals. Funds donated by the public are the sole support for this work.

Whether the conquest of muscular dystrophy will be included in the medical achievements of the 20th-Century depends largely on the American people.

It seems probable that the American people, who have fought valiantly in war and peace for the betterment of mankind will not overlook this important battle for health.

The health and welfare of the community is a responsibility which should be shared by each one of us.

It is particularly fitting that we should be reminded of this during the Thanksgiving season when we all pause to be thankful for our blessings.

There can be no better way of expressing our thankfulness than by helping those less fortunate than ourselves.

By helping in the first against muscular dystrophy, we also help medical science write another important chapter in the annals of human progress. Contributions may be sent to: Local Muscular Dystrophy Association Chapter, or to: MDA, New York 5, N. Y.

"The Actress" Stars S. Tracy at Drive-In Theatre

Spencer Tracy plays a "character" of America's celluloid era, circa 1912, in his newest screen role as Clinton Jones in "The Actress." M-G-M picture showing Wednesday and Thursday at the Virginia Beach Drive-In Theatre.

Speaking of his new role, Tracy declared, "Nostalgia appeals to the sentiment in all of us. But the 'good old days' are greatest when they remain in the past. Every time I turned up the gas light in this picture I remembered the cold mornings back in Milwaukee when, as a kid, I earned my first money helping the lamp lighter on Prospect Avenue. I got up before dawn to put the lamps out and reported back to him before dusk to turn them on. My pay? Three cents a lamp."

Turning back the clock in "The Actress" had Tracy stoking a furnace, struggling with a wood-burning stove and balancing a family (Teresa Wright plays his wife, Jean Simmons his daughter) budget on a salary of $37.50 a week.

"I'll take today's push-button efficiency," says Tracy. "I must admit, however, that playing Clinton Jones is something I've wanted to do ever since Ruth Gordon wrote her Broadway success, 'Years Ago,' on which this picture is based. Clint is a prototype of Ruth's own father, a cantanker-

Secret to making chocolate-covered raisins is to melt the chocolate slowly over hot water. Use 8 ounces semi-sweet chocolate for 2 cups raisins. Stir raisins in chocolate, then drop by spoonfuls onto waxed paper.

On completion of his role in the comedy-drama, Tracy boarded the Queen Mary for a return trip to Europe. He planned to renew friendships he had made in England on a previous visit, especially with the steward who had arranged to have the star picnic in Winston Churchill's own pasture. So delighted was Mr. Churchill that he sent Tracy one of his oil paintings as a gift!

Oceans HS Band Invited to Play At N-S College

On October 25th the Oceans High School band will fulfill the invitation extended to visit them by Hampden-Sydney College, asking them to play for their "home coming guests."

The band will travel on chartered buses. It will leave at approximately 5 a.m. on Saturday, October 24th and start on their way home after dinner, at the college.

They feel very honored having their band invited for a return engagement at the institution. They also want last year and had a wonderful time in spite of the extremely muddy football field at which they performed.

The principal, Mr. M. P. Strickler and Mr. Charles Hitching Band Club President are both graduates of Hampden-Sydney. Both plan to attend and reminisce with old acquaintances.

Oceans is very proud that it has two graduates now attending Hampden-Sydney. They are Jimmy Barden and Harry Bryant.

The week end will be filled with parties, dances, and dinners for the students and their families and friends.

If the Tigers beat the Western Maryland team in this game, it will end the "rat period" which all of the freshmen must go through the first part of their freshman year in college. But if they lose, the "Rat" will continue all year. The Tigers hold a four even, and only one loss.

The members of the band consider it a great pleasure to take the trip. They have an excellent band and the instruction led by Coach Lingo.

The band will give a concert on the campus after lunch, before the game. Last year the band received many wonderful letters from the fans who came to see their music.

CASE CLEARING

The now celebrated Kellam case that saw Sidney S. Kellam and five other men from this area indicted on federal income tax evasion charges earlier this month is beginning to clear and the cry of "politics" is beginning to ring true.

By action of a federal court this week the unusual statement made by the grand jury at the time the indictments were returned has been legally destroyed and no longer is a part of the court record.

To even the unthinking the lengthy statement made by the jury at the conclusion of its hearing seemed strange, indeed. It may be recalled that the jury stated in substance that "apparently large sums of money had been paid to prevent criminal prosecution of the case, and if that be true it might have serious repercussions in high places throughout the state." What an unusual statement from a jury charged with hearing evidence and to recommend whether to indict or not to indict.

The court action of this week clears the air somewhat backs up to a high degree the content charges that the move was politically motivated. The entire report of the jury was burned when Judge Hutcheson signed an order to strike it from the official records.

The action completely cleared Theodore C. Uhler, the former internal revenue official, who had been accused by inference of having accepted a bribe to prevent prosecution several years ago. The matter of the presentment of the case in Richmond three weeks before the gubernatorial election when it could have been presented next month to a federal jury with similar jurisdiction in Norfolk needs no further comment.

United States District Attorney L. Shields Parsons, Jr., has stated that a "group of citizens called on him and asked if they could testify before the grand jury." Among this group was C. Leonard Fisher, who was the only witness to appear without having been subpoenaed. It may be that Mr. Fisher's cries of the "People's Ticket" crowd got cold feet and left it up to him to appear before the jury. At least one other of that gang went to Richmond at the time of the hearing, but he did not appear. That was Robert Lee Simpson, the attorney, and a leader in the "People's Ticket" ranks.

It seems the boys, in their revengeful mood a few weeks ago and gloating over the outcome of the hearings, must be blushing a bit with the recent action of the court in destroying the statement made by the jury. At least it clearly backs up the charge that he entire matter was politically motivated.

ISSUE IS CLEARED

The foremost issue in the present campaign for Governor is whether the state shall abandon its traditional pay-as-you-go policy of road building and substitute in its place a $100 million bond issue. The Republican nominee, State Senator Ted Dalton, would junk the pay-as-you-go policy and adopt the North Carolina system of heavy bonded indebtedness.

When the pay-as-you-go program was adopted nearly 30 years ago, Virginia had no highways and no farm-to-market roads. Route U. S. 1 from Richmond to Washington was untravelable in wet weather. Yet, within 20 years, without one cent of general taxation, Virginia, developed under the pay-as-you-go program 50,000 miles of hard surfaced roads and today maintains more road mileage than any other state in Union, except one. All of this was done, mind you, without issuing $1 in bonds and without paying $1 in interest.

In Virginia, the gasoline auto license tax is the sole source of revenue for the building of roads. Those who travel the highways pay the tax. In many states the land of the farmers, the houses of the property owners and the business establishments of the merchants are taxed for road building purposes.

It would be tragic in our judgment, were Virginia to follow Senator Dalton's advice and scrap its pay-as-you-go program which has proved itself. Yet Mr. Dalton ridicules the pay-as-you-go plan, continually telling audiences which he addresses "You don't pay and you don't go."

Mr. Dalton would substitute the North Carolina plan for the Virginia system. Now, let's look at North Carolina. Today Virginia levies a six cent gasoline tax North Carolina's tax is seven cents per gallon. Today Virginia is out of debt; North Carolina still has a bonded indebtedness of more than $214 million. Since North Carolina adopted the bond plan she has paid more than $100 million in interest. This interest payment alone would build 5,000 miles of farm-to-market roads.

A clear-cut choice faces the Virginia voters on Tuesday, November 3. Senator Dalton has stated sincerely and forthrightly that if he is elected he will use the great powers of the Governorship to discard the pay-as-you-go program and have the state issue bonds in the amount of $100 million, which would be, in effect, a mortgage on the property of every citizen.

Thomas B. Stanley, the Democratic nominee, has stated equally sincerely and equally forthrightly that if he is elected Governor he will stand foursquare on the pay-as-you-go program and will use the powers of the Governorship to prevent any group from placing a heavy bonded indebtedness on the Commonwealth.

The decision rests with the voters.

THE TAX BILL

The Sun-News is happy to learn that the Princess Anne County Board of Supervisors, the County Board of Reassessment and citizens will hold a joint meeting to discuss growing pains and tax problems on November 10 at the Princess Anne Courthouse.

It should be pointed out that real estate assessments in the county for the year 1952 amounted to $8,539,335 and under the reassessment program and assessment of new building the assessed value for 1953 on which the current tax is based is $15,456,170.

The school operating budget for 1952-1953 was $834,140 and the same budget for 1953-1954 is $1,083,778. It is true that approximately 80 cents out of every dollar collected locally goes to schools. The school board should explain to the taxpayers that during 1952 the budget was $834,140 and the year 1953 it was over one million dollars. If the assessments were doubled it seems to the Sun-News they would be collecting more than is required by the budget. We do not know this to be the case but if it should prove correct to the supervisors and the school board would have to do all to freeze the school budget at the amount appropriated for the next year and the taxpayers give credit accordingly.

There is also an item of 65 cents per $100 assessed valuation which was made this year as a temporary measure to

HALLOWEEN SPOOK

The Editor's Mail Box

Dear Editor:

Will you be so kind as to allow me to discuss with my fellow citizens a few vital issues in regard to our next Governor?

It is important that you understand my position in regard to politics in order to better evaluate my point of view. I am an Independent Democrat. I believe in the original principles of the Democratic Party and will vote for them whether they are offered to me by the Democratic Party or the Republican Party. I voted for Eisenhower because he upholds States Rights and had a better knowledge of foreign affairs. I want to part of a Moody-Truman Socialistic Democrat.

Now let us get down to the business of electing the next Governor of Virginia. From the standpoint of honesty, integrity and experience in government, both men are well qualified and we must not allow ourselves to think about Tax, Income Tax Returns and other side issues that actually have no bearing on the fine men running for office.

Basically the difference in Mr. Dalton's platform and Mr. Stanley's platform revolves around our State Constitution. Mr. Dalton wants a convention to form a new constitution, whereas Mr. Stanley wants better administration of the present constitution.

In the past I guess I have griped about actions taken by our administration as much as anyone, but on a whole I am very proud of it. Do you know why? Virginia is one of the few states in the Union who has had a surplus on hand since 1928. See Editorial Page of Ledger-Dispatch of August 4, 1953, "From Richmond it was reported that the State of Virginia was not borrowing money for current expenses for the first time in modern history. It had on hand a surplus of $5,695,000. It was commented that the policies of Governor Harry F. Byrd were bearing fruit." Mr. Stanley has promised to carry on this administration of the PAY-AS-YOU-GO System. Are you old enough to remember the depression years? Do you remember how most of the states had to run to Washington for a hand-out because they were broke? By 1928 Mr. Byrd had Virginia on her feet and we did not have to worry about paying on bond issues. I've differed with Mr. Byrd on issues in the past, and being human, I probably will in the future, but I am everlastingly grateful to him for having put Virginia on such a sound basis.

If Mr. Dalton should be elected, and we do issue $100,000,000 in road bonds, what are we going to do if we have that promised depression? No it is not a foolish question. Look at what is happening to our farmers and livestock men now. As for me, I would rather play it safe and use the huge interest we would have to pay on the loan to build additional roads.

Mr. Dalton is a Republican, and he knows President Eisenhower promised to increase the value of our present 50 cent dollar. Why should we borrow at this time and only receive $50,000,000 worth of roads and then have to pay it back in 100 cent dollars? Not only that, we will have to pay the interest in 100 cent dollars.

I've talked a great deal about our economy, and it may sound as if we have been penny wise and pound foolish, but the only way we can judge our progress is by comparison. Honestly, haven't you found that our roads in Virginia compare favorably with the roads in other states, and better than in most states? Now don't take my word for it, don't take the politicians word for it, but go to the library and look at a copy of the statistics on the States of the Union in The 1953 World Almanac. Or better still, buy a copy for a dollar at the news stand. You will be proud as punch of your State, and if it keeps you from making the terrible mistake of government, you will have made a good investment. Here are some of the things you will find:

1. We have the highest per capita income of the Southeastern States.

2. We rate among the lowest in state income taxes. We allow $1,000 for personal exemption. Nine states allow less and two only allow $500. Not only that, but we are the only state noting a reduction depending upon state revenue.

3. General Manufacturers Statistics for 1950 show we are the second highest of the Southeastern States, and since that time, I am not so sure but that we better in first place now, with even more new companies locating in Virginia.

Why are new industries locating in Virginia? It is because of our fine transportation, low taxes and good labor relations.

This is just a sample of what you will find. The more you check the prouder you will become. Space does not permit me to list more because while we are not tops in everything, we do rate pretty high in most everything listed.

After reading the above, I am sure you will join me in making every effort to preserve the government that has served us so well by electing Thomas B. Stanley, for Governor of Virginia.

Your GARDEN GUIDE

AUTUMN
 A hate on the far horizon.
 The infinite, tender sky.

 And the wild geese sailing high:
 And all overland and lowland
 The chime of the goldenrod.
 Some of us call it Autumn.
 And others call it God.

Someone has said that October is "twilight of summer and the spring of winter." This is the time to take stock and make notes as a guide in future gardening. Late October and November are the best times to plant or transplant evergreens. The evergreens have completed their years growth and are going into a dormant stage. Their demands for moisture are much less than during the growing season. At this time of the year, in contrast to spring, the soil is not too wet to dig, and it simplifies both the task of digging and of working the soil around the roots after planting. Planting at this time of the year, the roots of the evergreens can become established before the period of heavy summer work begins.

Whether you are transplanting shrubs, or purchasing them already balled and burlapped, make sure that the roots are protected from the cold wind and the sun. When digging your own use and use burlap sacks which have been opened up at the seams.

Dig a trench completely around the evergreen and don't skip on the depth. Remember the more roots you take with you, the better the chance of survival. The trench should be wide enough so that you can undercut easily. Then put the burlap beneath the ball in the hole and tie it firmly around the base of the tree.

next Report Meeting, next Monday night, Nov. 2nd at the Virginia Beach High School.

Much discussion at the First Report Meeting, concerned the experiences of workers in calling on families living in the County, of which the head of the family works at a military establishment in the Hampton Roads Area.

Workers reported complaints of being told "My husband works at the base, he has to give there" or "My husband is in the service, he has to give with his military outfit." General Chairman Stanton explained that Administrative officials had been contacted at the Military Establishments in the area, and that if these workers or military personnel will enter on their Pledge Cards that they want this contribution to go toward the Princess Anne Chest or the Virginia Beach Chest, that their contributions will be turned over to the proper Chest. Stanton requested the Chairman and Captains in attendance to explain to their workers, that in encountering civilian workers or military personnel attached to the various military establishments, that they should be urged to be sure and write on their Pledge Cards turned in to the military officials, their real contributions be applied to the Chest where they live. All civilian employees and military personnel are assured, that if they will so designate on their Pledge Cards, that their wishes will be complied with.

A Victory Dinner is being planned for the Final Report Meeting next Monday night. All workers are invited to be the guests of a small group of citizens who will host for the dinner. Chairman Stanton was quick to point out that the dinner will be paid for from Community Chest Funds. Those workers who plan attend this dinner at the Virginia Beach High School at 7 p.m., Monday, Nov. 2nd, should promptly contact their Captain or Chairman, so that proper reservations might be made.

SEAHAWKS TANGLE WITH ST. PAUL TOMORROW

By ROBERT REY

Seahawks' high scoring offense will return to the active scene Friday night after a campaign on the part of Coastal High School saw them idle in Friday.

They have had plenty of time to get back at full strength and are eager to play after their midweek lull. Coach Burke's reports they have shown up well in this week's practice sessions and should be ready for St. Paul tomorrow night.

St. Paul, coached by Ray McCall, of Notre Dame, are in only an average season, but they will be fighting for an upset win over the favored Seahawks tomorrow.

The beach takes a 4-2 won-lost record into tomorrow night's fray and from all indications will not easily give up another loss for the remainder of the season. Kick-off time is slated for eight o'clock at Virginia Beach Memorial Stadium.

Probable starting lineup:

St. Paul	Va. Beach
Caidos	LE	Davis
Coady	LT	Barro
Rhoads	LG	Scarborough
Fredericks	RG	Tarrall
Croste	RT	Standing
Castwell	RE	Zittran

Jayvees Stay Put In Losing Groove

Coach Jack Burke, Virginia Beach Jayvee team added another loss to their already one sided record of 4 losses and one win, their latest being at the hands of Oceana by a 13-0 score.

Playing the opposition to a dead lock for nearly the entire ball game, it wasn't until only 6 minutes remained in the game that Oceana acquired their first touch-down. The score was set up by a fumble by Virginia Beach on a pass interception by a Junior Seahawk who lost the ball inside his own 5 yard line on the run-back. A few minutes later Oceana again scored on a 20 yard complete pass.

The Junior Seahawks have scheduled a return match with Oceana at Memorial Stadium Thursday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock.

New 18-Hole Golf Course Set For PA County

A new 18-hole golf course for the Tidewater Area to be located in Princess Anne County was revealed this week when it was announced that plans are going ahead for such a venture at Kempsville, just eight miles from downtown Norfolk.

Plans call for the immediate construction of the golf project on the N.W. Yoder farm at Kempsville by Albert L. Bonney, lifelong resident of Kempsville, and Jesse Woodworth, Norfolk realtor and owner of the Tidewater Realty Company.

The developers also announced that the veteran Johnny Kelly had been engaged as professional for the new golf course. Kelly formerly served as professional at the Oceana View course and is considered dean of Tidewater professionals.

The tract of land consists of 161 acres of wooded and cleared ground, easily reached from downtown Norfolk and Portsmouth, as well as Virginia Beach. The Yoder farm is located three miles from Thomas Corner on the Virginia Beach boulevard.

One of the nation's top golf course designers viewed the tract of land when negotiations first began and pronounced it "one of the finest sites for a golf course I've ever seen."

Maples will personally supervise construction of the course. He was in charge of construction for the Raleigh, North Carolina, golf and country club, and he assisted with building of the courses at Finchurst, N.C.

Plans call for the use of the present Yoder home as a clubhouse at the beginning of operations. It will be renovated to accommodate a proposed membership of 300.

"We are going to do everything in our power to make the club a 'golfers' home away from home," Kelly said. "Bad weather will be our hindrance in the construction of the course," Kelly added.

It is planned to have bridge paths for horseback riding, a swimming pool and a daytime driving range.

The Bayside Lions Club presented a testimonial to the Bay-side school and its Principal, Mrs. Grace Harrell, in celebration of the Bay-side parent-teacher meeting last Monday night.

The new device is a highly modern gadget that enables the school to detect faulty vision among its pupils. The presentation was made by J. B. Lofin, president of the Bay-side Lions club.

It is the aim of the club to eventually furnish all schools in the Bay-side area with the eye-binoocular.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES

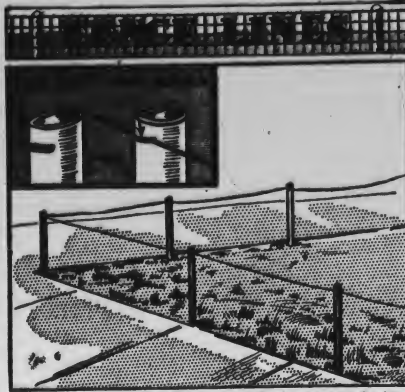

By JOHN O. HART, County Farm Agent

Last Wednesday night at the meeting of our Soybean Committee which is planning the activities of our 1953 Soybean Growers Club, Mr. J. O. Petree, chairman of the Committee, announced the prize list for the winners in the contest. The committee made up of Mr. Petree, J. B. Dudley, Earl M. Tebault, and John H. Miller also made some tentative plans for their "Windy Banquet" to be held if possible during the second week of December. The name of Mr. Houston Ganser, Director of the Eastern Field Station at Warsaw, Virginia was mentioned for the principal speaker at this meeting. The Warsaw Station under the direction of Mr. Ganser is conducting the majority of the experimental work being done here in Virginia on Soybeans.

The Soybean Committee wishes to urge the 53 members of the Soybean Club that they complete their expense sheets as soon as their contest field is harvested, and send this along with the marketing slip to the County Agent's Office at Princess Anne. Mr. Petree's Committee hopes that all farmers enrolled in the Growers Club will complete their records as soon as possible so that the final results can be worked out in preparation for the Banquet called for the 9th of December. Included below you will find the prize list that is being offered to the Soybean Contestants.

"Garden Suggestions for November"

November shouldn't be a time of idleness in our home gardens here in Princess Anne. There are several things that you should do before winter comes. For instance, it is not too late to plant some onions. Strawberries and raspberries can also be planted during November for harvest in the Spring.

Be sure to fertilize your strawberries during November, broadcast 4 to 7 pounds of fertilizer per hundred feet of row. This should be applied directly over the row and brushed off the plants with a broom. After our first light freeze, mulch your strawberries with straw, pine tags or sawdust. Do not use manure as a mulch as it tends to mat down and rot the crown of the plant.

Clean up and destroy all trash and refuse around your garden. This will help to destroy the hiding places of many of your harmful garden insects.

In many of our County gardens there are sweet potatoes still in the ground. If we should have a frost, you should either remove

VOLUME XXVIII. NO. 44. VIRGINIA BEACH, VIRGINIA, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1953 SECTION TWO

Upholstery Plant Supports on 1954 Wheat Crop Expected To be at Least $2.36, PMA Officials Say

A Princess Anne County firm, the Moore Upholstery Company on Virginia Beach Boulevard, was the victim of a fire of undetermined origin last Saturday resulting in the complete loss of its main two-story building.

Despite efforts of firemen from practically every section of the county the flame could not be put under control until the entire building had burned to the ground. The exact value of the loss has not been determined.

The fire broke out about 10 o'clock Saturday morning. The only thing left of the rambling building in the afternoon was one brick wall which was torn down by firemen after the fire had subsided.

Owner L. G. Moore placed the loss in the building and equipment at $40,000 but it is believed that it will run much higher than this. This figure does not take into account furniture in the building and articles left for repair.

As many as 15 trucks answered the fire alarm. The trucks were from Tanners Creek, Washington, East Ocean View, Davis' Corner, Kempville, Oceana, Chesapeake Beach, Princess Anne Courthouse, Thales, Collins and London Bridge. And, the Navy also participated.

The fire was believed to have started in a store room where paint is kept in the long one-story building, just in back of the main two-story building. Chief J. E. May, of the Davis Corner Fire Department said current was on when the fire broke out.

Howard C. Collins, of the Collins Waste Oil Company and a passerby, proved somewhat of a hero, firemen said. Collins was on his way to Richmond with a load of oil when he passed the scene. He hurried back to his Indian River Road terminal, unloaded his oil and rushed back to the fire scene with his truck loaded with water. He made two trips bringing 10,000 gallons of water to the fire.

The combined efforts of the firemen helped prevent the fire spreading to nearby houses which were burned "hot." No damage to these buildings was reported.

Two employees of the firm were in the building when the fire started but both reached safety with no harm done. Traffic was snarled temporarily at the height of the fire but it was quickly straightened out.

Base Support Rate On Corn $1.76

Price support on Virginia's short 1953 corn crop will be at a base rate of $1.76 per bushel, the Production and Marketing Administration has announced.

W. T. Powers, State Administrative Officer for PMA, said that for No. 2 corn and a premium of 1 cent per bushel for No. 1 corn.

Powers said that price supports on corn will be effected through farm-storage and warehouse-storage loans and purchase agreements available through PMA county offices through February 1954. Loans will mature July 31, 1954, but it is customary in Virginia for PMA to continue to effect deliveries of loan corn at an earlier date since the hazard of infestation are enhanced in warm weather.

According to the BAE October 1 report, Virginia farmers will harvest only 25,083,000 bushels of corn this fall, the smallest since 1930, and nearly 14,000,000 bushels below normal.

The rate reflects 90 per cent of the October 1, 1953 parity price for corn on additional level, adjusted to various areas. The rate of $1.76 in Virginia compares with a national average rate of $1.60 per bushel.

To be eligible for support corn must grade No. 3 or better, except for the moisture, or No. 4 solely on test weight. There will be a premium of one-half cent per bushel

Price support on Virginia's 1954 wheat crop, the one to be seeded this fall under acreage allotments, will very likely be at least $2.36 per bushel base rate, the Production and Marketing Administration has just announced.

F. A. Lewis, State PMA Chairman, based his prediction on the fact that the national average support rate has been established at $2.20 per bushel as the minimum level based on 90 per cent of the wheat parity price of August 15. The rate in Virginia is usually higher than the national average. The 1953 support, varied by counties from $2.37 to $2.40 per bushel with a national average of $2.21 per bushel.

The 1954 wheat support rate is announced at this time in accordance with "forward pricing" provision of the Agriculture Act of 1949 to give growers this information in advance of planting time.

Wheat price supports will be in the form of loans and purchase agreements which will be available to farmers who comply with the 1954 wheat acreage allotments determined for their farms. Lewis also pointed out that no producer will be entitled to wheat price supports unless he complies with 1954 acreage allotments for all other commodities in which he has an interest.

On the 1953 wheat crop, the producer's application for wheat price support must be accompanied by a certification that no 1954 acreage allotment for any commodity in which he has an interest will be exceeded.

In 1954, unlike this year, the production and Marketing Administration stated that Virginia growers have to date taken out 2,938 loans on 2,233,000 bushels valued at $2,720,000. These loans are available through January 31, 1954 and mature April 30, 1954.

The enforcement staff of the Game Commission obtained 360 more convictions for game and fish law violations during July, August and September this year than during the same period last year. The total number of game law convictions during the first quarter of the present fiscal year was 516 and fish law convictions amounted to 841, a combined total of 1357 convictions.

Don't you just love Autumn? The great outdoors with all the autumn colors is gorgeous and the crispness in the air makes one enjoy the outdoors along briskly and enjoy living in this wonderful world of days.

Autumn Foods make a really colorful meal and you'll enjoy selecting vegetables and preparing a variety of Harvest Vegetables for that family of yours. And you'll enjoy a center piece of vegetables instead of flowers—if you're planning to have guests for dinner.

Eggplant, yellow squash, Zucchini tomatoes, green peppers, onions and acorn squash all will lend color to your centerpiece.

Now for a stuffing for your vegetables—Cheese Rice and you can stuff Zucchini Squash with it. Just cut Zucchini in half long ways—scop out and cook long shells until tender. Then fill with cheese rice, sprinkle with crumble bacon and bake in 400 degree oven for 15-18 minutes. You can stuff tomatoes, green peppers and onions by the same method. Here's the cheese rice recipe.

Cheese Rice

- 1 1/2 cups packaged pre-cooked rice
- 1 1/2 cups water
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- 3/4 cup grated Cheddar cheese or 1 cup processed American cheese
- 8 strips of bacon, cooked until crisp

Combine rice, water, salt, and pepper in saucepan. Mix just until all rice is moistened. Bring quickly to a boil over high heat, uncovered, fluffing rice gently once or twice with a fork. (Do not stir).

Cover and remove from heat. Let stand 10 minutes. Then add 1/2 cup of the cheese to the rice, mixing lightly with a fork. Serve remainder of cheese on top of rice.

Stuff in vegetables and sprinkle with crumbled cooked bacon. Makes 4 servings.

One way to boost your culinary reputation is to add delicious hot breads to your fall meals. Hot breads just make any meal extra special.

The neighborhood gang of children soon will be knocking and what will you hear? "Tricks or Treats!" Serve them airy-light Cranberry Doughnut Puffs and you'll be the favorite neighbor.

Both cranberries and raisins are spotlighted in October and as a tribute to National Raisin Week, I suggest you treat your family to a Jack O' Lantern Pie. Turkey raisins and slices of sweet oranges—will be just the climax for the Month of October made into a Jack O' Lantern Pie in honor of the spooks and goblins. Here's the recipe for both the pie and the Cranberry Doughnut Puffs.

MERRY MATRONS

By ALICE BREWER WHITE

Agnes E. Meyer, one of the most fascinating matrons in Washington, has just experienced the thrill of having another book published, "Out Of These Roots," which is really the autobiography of an American woman. Agnes herself, tales of a middle class family's life in a suburban area, of adolescence in a New York high school, her penetrating criticisms of a period at Barnard college, exciting life in Paris on the Left Bank, wonderful friendships with great artists and poets and her happy married life with the publisher of the Washington Post, Edward Meyer, and the full some years of bringing up her three lovely daughters. It's a thrilling book, a noble book about a noble woman and a woman of our time who could well be patterned after as a completely merry matron while she has dedicated her busy life to the great American, democratic and religious tradition out of which roots she came. She has a deep humanity as a woman and as a person and it is this that should inspire other matrons to read her book. It is especially recommended to young women in their twenties who will get a wealth of comfort, inspiration and aspiration to a more useful life.

Madame Wellington Koo, attending the cocktail party and reception before the recent Washington Fashion Festival, which was hosted by Colonel Robert McCormick and his Gracious Lady, wore an Oriental motif dress of black and silver brocade and was outstanding in her elegance. Her hostess, Mrs. McCormick, looked extremely smart in a dark gray (Continued on Page 4) turned after as a completely merry matron while she has dedicated her busy life to the great American, democratic and religious tradition out of which roots she came. Fashion Festival which was held in the famous Presidential ballroom, Hotel Statler in Washington last week on Oct. 28. The first prize of $2,000 went to William F. Ayers, Boston-born New York designer for the last of the thirty-six fashions modeled and was an elegant ball gown of heavy black velvet. It had a jeweled and embroidered panel of sequin satin shining down the front of the dress from the strapless bodice to the floor. Betty wore it with a wide black velvet stole and aqua elbow length gloves to match the sequin panel.

Miguel Dorian, born in Caracas, Venezuela, and now a New York designer, won the second $1,000 award with a short evening costume of great beauty and with a dramatic cape made of mauve taffeta in sunburst pleats that sprang from a deep yoke. Beneath the cape was a mauve lace, short dinner gown with round-necked fitted bodice and pleated bouffant skirt all elaborately embroidered with turquoise beads and iridescent sequin embroidery. The headwork was done in Madrid. Miguel Dorian told us in an interview after the show. He said that he got his inspiration for the prize-winning costume from the clothes in the eighteenth century Venice with their capes and their rich colors.

Paul Schwartz, a designer with Milgrim Brothers in New York, received his prize for a stunning and very chic town suit of brick red wool and leopard collar, with leopard pillow and muff to match.

GAYLORD, VIRGINIA, DESIGNER—Among the thirty-six fashions designs chosen out of the $500 entries in this famous Herald-Tribune American designers events, open to amateurs and professionals alike, one Virginia designer lady had an entry. She was Frances Crawford of Gaylord, mother of three young daughters, who entered a stunning black wool "after five" dress with a wide standing neck line, puffed sleeves, and a slim and beautiful skirt which was caused in the back by a tie insertion of deep gold dots at the hemline. The contour belt had a floral design done in pale blue stones. It was a really elegant design.

Austin, Hearst columnist, wore an unusual headpiece at the Washington Fashion Group's luncheon. It was a wide band of deep wine red faille ribbon and with a large jaunty French rosette—the kind you see on ribbons presented to horses after a winning race—and the rosette worn exactly over Austin's left ear. This could become a fad for the gals who dislike wearing hats. On beautiful Austin, it looked good!

OTHER HIGHLIGHTS—Elgee Bore's theater suit made of brown herringbone tweed with a slim skirt and high waisted had its own belt of tweed. It combined a short elliptical jacket entirely banded with fox worn with a white chiffon blouse shining with crystal pendants. Charles James' ball gown was a lovely excitement when viewed by over one thousand socialites, diplomatic and fashion world folks in the audience at the Festival. It was designed with a strapless bodice of flesh-colored satin, partially covered with black lace, with the lace spreading out onto the huge stiffened skirt, giving way near the hemline to a wide band of cinnamon-colored shantung taffeta.

PRINTS LEAD FASHIONS FROM PARIS—In the Paris winter fashion collection, fabrics take more than their usual share of the limelight with "prints for winter" the leading motif of all of Paris' major fashion houses. Fur prints reproducing all the wild animal markings such as alaskan serbs stripes, tiger, leopard, and even in suede cloth of Dalmanian spots! One print trend was of minerals and the blurred effects and colors of malachite, marble and shells. Jacques Path uses the marble print in his dresses which have the same as matching linings of the coats covering the frocks. Clivency is using "imprinted coatings," really raised paisley designs which achieve the effects of a print, although it actually consists of the mounted surface of the fabric itself.

DESIGNER CUTIES — Cell Chapman, whose aim in life is to make every woman look like a hot house orchid, can't sleep until she has sprayed her room with essence of mountain pine... and Adrian, celebrated designer, and a gourmet, too, puts cream on water-melon while Darcy Morton, the British couturier, has his correct English tuxedo lined with red taffeta! And, with that Christmas note, we'll leave you for this week with a gay reminder that just eight weeks from this evening, we'll all be hanging up those great big stockings!

Proper Home Insulating Cuts Fuel Costs; Engineers Point Way to Big Savings

Did you shiver in your living room last winter while the furnace ate up fuel at a merry clip? That seems like a long time ago. You may have forgotten how miserable it was. Pushing up the thermostats didn't help. You saw the family just sit and suffered.

Another winter isn't far away. If you want to enjoy greater comfort with lighter fuel bills, now is the time to outfit your home with an adequate insulating job.

Heating and ventilation engineers tell us some interesting facts about the way heat and comfort literally fly out the windows and through the walls of many homes. They point out that many people and many contractors make the mistake of assuming that ceiling or attic insulation is all that's required. It's important but only 25 per cent of the heat loss occurs through the ceiling. A complete job also requires sidewall insulation, storm windows and doors, and caulking around window and door frames and other openings to make them weather tight.

A window outfitted with new storm sash can have an almost imperceptible crack around the frame. That little crack may have as much total area as a three- or four-inch square. It's almost as bad as if you punched your fist right through the window and let the cold air pour in. So caulking of cracks is important.

Approximately 25 per cent of the heat loss is through the walls. How do you stop that in an old house? One way is with insulating siding which not only insulates but provides a durable outside finish for the home at the same time.

Insulating siding consists of insulating board, the same material used for sheathing in many new homes, and it is covered inside and outside with asphalt and then embossed on the outside with a coating of mineral granules. The granules provide design and color.

If you're insulating the walls of a new home, you have a wide choice of materials. For economy's sake, or to use materials that both insulate and add to the structural strength of the wall, insulating board has become extremely popular for sheathing. It can be used under wood, brick, stone or single siding. Exterior type of board also has considerable insulating value. Or you can use a combination of insulating materials.

Insulating siding can be used over either insulating board or exterior gypsum board sheathing. A practice that has the acceptance of F.H.A. You thus have the advantage of two insulating materials in the same wall.

The insulating value of all these materials is measured exactly so you can calculate the exact savings in fuel for the amount of money spent on insulation. That the cost is savings.

Important savings to most people is the increase in comfort. During cold weather, uninsulated walls are much colder than room temperature. Since the human body is warmer, heat radiates from the body to the wall. You feel cold although the thermostat may show a supposedly comfortable 70 degrees. Adequate sidewall insulation eliminates this common complaint.

"FROM HERE TO ETERNITY"

1954 FISHER BODY AWARDS LIPPED TO $90,000 VALUE

Awards offered in the 1954 Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild model car competition have been increased from $65,000 to $90,000. James P. Wines, secretary of the Guild has announced. This includes cash awards for the best model cars in each state and the District of Columbia and university scholarships worth $20,000 to the individual winners. In addition to the individual awards, the Guild this year will award permanent trophies to the schools attended by regional and national winners. Since 1930, the Fisher Body competition has awarded 125 university scholarships valued at $400,000 to national winners. More than $900,000 in cash and other awards have been made to thousands of boys winning state and regional honors. The 1954 competition, for the first time, offers the young car designers the opportunity to build sports cars, hardtops, convertibles or station wagons as well as two or four-door sedans. Past competitions have limited entries to 6-passenger sedans.

Enrollments are being taken now for the competition by Guild field representatives who are visiting thousands of public and parochial schools throughout the country.

Any boy in the United States between the ages of 12 through 19 is eligible to enter the competition and may obtain an enrollment card by writing to the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild, General Motors Building, Detroit 2, Michigan.

A booklet on model car design and construction, the only textbook of its kind for youths wishing to learn about automobile design, is given to each boy enrolling in the Guild. It was prepared by professional designers from the General Motors Styling Section, Fisher Body Division engineers and the Technical Staff of the Craftsman's Guild. It illustrates, step by step, how to build the model.

The awards for the best models entered in the Guild competition again include eight university scholarships for the national winners of the Junior (12 through 15 years old) and Senior (16 through 19) Divisions of the competition. In each age group the awards will be: 1st—$4,000 scholarships; 2nd—$3,000; 3rd—$2,000.

No merrier or prettier matron from foreign lands has visited America than the royal guest now in our midst, lovely Queen Frederika of Greece. She has everything good looks, youth, brains, wit charm, much enthusiasm and plenty of energy. Frederika makes her trips to see, and visit with, her people in the plainest of clothes, usually sports togs with low-heeled brogans. However, when she went to Queen Elizabeth's wedding to Phillip she had such a beautiful wardrobe, fashioned especially for her by the Greek-born designer Jean Desses, that she was the enquire of all royal eyes. The King and Queen carry sixty-seven pieces of luggage with them on this trip. A good part of it is the Queen's who is wearing a specially designed wardrobe of the latest fashions—all designed since the 29th of July by Desses. He told your Alisbee in Paris last June how excited he was, and honored, that he was again sent for to design his Queen's fashions for her American visit and her events in official Washington. Long live the sweet Queen from Greece!

Federal tax collections for the fiscal year ended last June 30 averaged $1,723 for each of the 49,406,000 American families.

1954 CHRYSLER NEW YORKER DELUXE HAS 235 HORSEPOWER

Smart, new lines mark the 1954 Chrysler New Yorker Deluxe series, powered by the new 335-horsepower FirePower V-8 engine, the most powerful and efficient passenger car engine produced. New Yorker Deluxe models are offered in a choice of six-passenger sedan, club coupe, special Newport club coupe and convertible coupe.

sedan; and New Yorker LeDuxe models in six-passenger sedan, special Newport club coupe and convertible coupe.

The Custom Imperial is available in six-passenger sedan, Newport and six-passenger Town limousine models. The Crown Imperial is available in either the 8-passenger sedan or limousine model.

New Chrysler exterior styling features a fresh lightness of line beginning with the functionally designed grille tastefully formed of heavy chromed horizontal bars which impart a road-hugging appearance. Grille treatments vary for all models but retain a family resemblance.

New grille medallions, hood crests, massive new bumpers and attractive new chrome trim "eyebrows" above the headlights add to the smart appearance of the cars. The directional lamps are in the chrome frame below the headlamps. The lamp lenses feature a different idea in design with arrows set into the plastic lenses for clearer turn signalling.

All lines feature new wheel covers a distinctive, light-reflecting design. Side name plates of gold or chrome provide swank identification of all models. Eighteen standard and 28 two-tone color combinations are available.

Chrysler's rear bump and tail lamps are new, as is the one-piece, wrap-around rear window which adds width and lowness to the car. The separate tail, backup, and stop lights are combined into one large, vertical unit emphasizing maximum visibility. All models have new deck lid crests and deck lid lifts.

Fine fabrics and careful color coordination high-light the new interiors and reflect the importance of close color harmony between interiors and exteriors. Each body color has color-related interior trim.

The new instrument panel is the ultimate in style, convenience, and safety. The large double-dial instrument cluster with new instrument lighting is a great aid to visibility. Continued use of foam rubber padding is an aid to safety. The conventional type gauges for oil pressure and amperage have been replaced by indicator lights. If either oil pressure or battery current should reach a low point, a red light flashes on the instrument panel attracting the driver's attention.

The new 335-horsepower FirePower V-8 engine with hemispherical combustion chamber is the most advanced, most powerful automobile engine in the industry, its engineers say. Taking advantage of just a portion of the power potential of the FirePower engine, new, higher horsepower engines are used on the Chrysler New Yorker, New Yorker LeDuxe and Imperial models providing a power bonus for swift, safe maneuvering and acceleration over the entire cruising speed range. To get more air into the engine and use it more efficiently for more power, the redesigned FirePower uses an enlarged, wide-open intake system and a free-flowing exhaust system. In the New Yorker FirePower V-8 engine, the brake horsepower has been increased from 180 to 195 by enlarging the valve and port diameters.

A new standard of transmission operation, featuring an unmatched combination of performance and smoothness, is provided by PowerFlite, Chrysler's new, fully-automatic transmission, which is standard equipment on all 1954 V-8 models, and optional on the Windsor LeDuxe.

In addition to superior performance, PowerFlite's design is the simplest of all automatic transmissions. It is the lightest, weighing as much as 100 lbs. less than competitive designs, and uses the fewest number of major parts by a considerable margin.

mended that our County Sweet Potato Growers concentrate on the improvement on their own Sweet Potato stock rather than try to import foundation slips from other sections of the country. The introduction of Corg into our Princess Anne potatoes is a good example of what we can do when we depend on other Sweet Potato Growers to supply

The first step in hill selecting is to place all of the potatoes from the different hills on top of the row together with the vine from which they were grown. After these potatoes have been placed on top of the row it is a relatively easy job for you to walk down and pick out the high producing and disease free hills to have for bedding stock. Any hills showing signs of either Black Rot or Scurf should be thrown out at this time. During our demonstration at Alvah Malbon, we found a surprising difference between the hills of Sweet Potato. Some hills had as many as 8 No. ones when others had none at all. This is the important factor that you should consider in making your selection.

Hill Selection should be undertaken on a small scale every year so that it will not be such a monumental job. If you can pick out as many as 15 bushels, you should have enough plants for an acre and a half. By doing this much each year you will have a different increase in your production of quality and disease-free Sweet potatoes within two years. Dr. McClain at the Virginia Truck Experiment Station has stepped his yields up as high as a 1,900 bushels of U. S. number 1's per acre by Hill Selecting.

Another important phase of our demonstration was the attention paid to Vine Cuttings in the control of both Scurf and Black Rot. Mr. Levy Whitehurst, one of our farmers attending this meeting, brought out the good control of these two major diseases which he is getting through the use of Vine Cuttings. The organisms producing both of these diseases can be carried on the plant or be in the soil. Therefore, you must be sure that you are putting your Vine Cuttings on clean soil.

After our meeting Vernon Watts, Dr. Muller, Alvah Malbon, Levy Whitehurst and Russell Lane all helped in making the first in a series of tape recordings for our County Radio Show. This program can be heard every Friday from 12:00 to 12:30 on WAVY, 1350 on your dial. I hope you will tune in on our future Programs and hear what is happening throughout the County.

What Price HOME?

How much do you plan to pay for your new home? A certain amount down and a fixed monthly installment—that's all some folks consider. But there may be far more to a home investment than its initial price. Unless your home is built of quality materials, you may be burying yourself in later repair bills. Green lumber can cause all sorts of defects in your home . . . defects that cost both time and money. You can avoid these repairs by insisting on dry, well-manufactured lumber. DRY lumber guards against damaging shrinkage—protects your home investment!
